BANKING HOUSE FACES PROBLEM IN CAR MERGER

Halsey, Stuart & Co. Holds Fate.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

There appears to be little progress publicly toward the merger of the surface and elevated lines into a new transportation company for Chicago, but under the surface, it is claimed, there is much activity. From an aldermanic viewpoint it is well that there should be aggressive efforts to consolidate.

The merger is a prerequisite to an acceptance of the indeterminate franchise approved in a referendum July 1. The new company has 120 days from that date in which to file its formal acceptance, or such additional time as the city council may allow. The pertinent point is that several aldermen who voted for the franchise have recently in private said they will not vote for an extension of time to the new company in which to accept the ordinance.

Period Expires on Nov. 1.

The 120 days will expire Nov. 1, and a few days thereafter is a county election at which a number of aldermen are candidates. Some of the aldermen and others look upon it as bad politics to vote for a time extension immediately before the election. No statement has been issued on the progress of the consolidation, and some of the councilmen are becoming anxious for this particular "news."

A large part of the responsibility for the success and speed of consolidation has been placed upon Halsey, Stuart & Co., investment bankers, selected as the consolidation managers by Samuel Insull. The diverse interests and the conflicting views among some of the 27 kinds of security holders, representing $260,000,000, add to the difficulty of the task.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. is one of the leading investment banking houses of the country. It deals exclusively in bonds. It is credited on La Salle street with selling three times as many bonds as any other Chicago firm, and in Wall street is recognized as a worthy competitor of the leading firms of the nation.

Career of Stuart Told.

The president of Halsey, Stuart & Co. is Harry L. Stuart. He is ranked as a brilliant financier. He was born in Providence, R. I., 49 years ago, but his parents moved to Chicago when he was seven. At 13 he started out to work. In 1901 N. W. Halsey, who formerly lived in Chicago, formed the firm of N. W. Halsey & Co. and on Sept. 1, 1903, it opened an office in Chicago, with Harry Stuart and a stenographer as the entire local working force. Halsey died in 1911, Stuart became manager of the firm, and in 1918 the name was changed to Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Today the company has 11 main offices with private wires and 30 offices with resident representatives. The employés total 958, of whom 441 are working in the Chicago office. The company now spends about $1,000,000 a year in advertising, including radio, and is the largest local advertiser among the Chicago investment bankers. It is upon this organization that hope has been pinned by Samuel Insull and other transportation chiefs to effect the transit consolidation.

Gave Aid to Insull.

Mr. Insull is said to have much faith in Harry Stuart and a good reason for his opinion. In the financial depression following the world war, it is said in La Salle street, Harry Stuart gave unusual service to the Insull interests when conditions were not promising. It was then, so La Salle street gossips say, that Halsey, Stuart & Co. quickened its stride as a leading investment banking house of the country.

Stuart was able to offer Insull a higher price for his bonds than others, and then sell them. Eastern financial publications show Halsey, Stuart & Co. as the syndicate manager of more issues of utility bonds than any other house in the country, although J. P. Morgan & Co. usually gets a larger volume. These easterners, in lists of actual transaction figures, of the bond issues, handled by investment bankers, both as syndicate manager and as syndicate participant, in negotiating the business done by investment bankers.

Record of Four Years.

In the last four years and the first seven months of this year Halsey, Stuart & Co. has been the syndicate leader in the issuance of $1,339,151,000 worth of bonds. J. P. Morgan &

HAWKS BREAKS EAST TO WEST FLYING RECORD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Roaring out of the blue with the westbound transcontinental speed record, Capt. Frank Hawks set down his little Travelair monoplane at 4:50:43 o'clock (7:50:43 p. m. Chicago daylight saving time) this afternoon, and completed a five-stop flight from New York in the unequalled time of 14 hours 50 minutes 43 seconds.

Hawks averaged about 179 miles an hour for his jump from Curtiss field to Los Angeles municipal airport, a distance roughly set at about 2,700 miles.

Hawks hopped off from Curtiss field, New York, at 5 a. m. eastern standard time. His record of 14:50:43 supercedes the former New York to Los Angeles westward flight mark of 18:42:54 set by Lieut. Col. Roscoe Turner on May 27, 1930, and establishes another record in that it is the only all-daylight transcontinental flight ever made. It also was within a few minutes of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh's record flight eastward.

Meets Much Bad Weather.

Hawks flew in a medium size, stanch looking, low winged and streamlined red and white Wichita built monoplane, powered with a supercharged Wright J-6 7 cylinder, 300 horse power motor.

Ready for Golf Game.

"I wanted to fly out here and keep a date to play a game of golf with my father," Capt. Hawks said, "and now I think I'll play around here a couple of days. I won't fly right back."

He was as good as his word, playing with Harry Kelliher.

Hawks' actual time in the air, counting out his minutes on the ground, refueling at Columbus, O., St. Louis, Mo.; Wichita, Kas.; Albuquerque, N.M., and Kingman, Ariz., was 13 hours 35 minutes and 43 seconds. The five stops were made for gasoline, his craft holding only 100 gallons. The stops consumed one hour and fifteen minutes.

Hawks said that success of his dash proved the feasibility of a pony express air service between the two American coasts.

"There is no reason why ships cannot connect California and New York in future with all daylight air service for transportation of securities and valuable matter," he said.

Hopes for Faster Trip East.

"I would like to complete the return trip to New York in twelve hours. The winds should be in my favor. I'll probably need to refuel only at Albuquerque, Wichita and Indianapolis.

"On the way out I hit rainy weather from Pittsburgh to Terre Haute. Then the weather cleared up a bit to New Mexico, but I had tough going again into Needles. I held the ship to an altitude of 8,000 feet, but went up to 14,000 one time and dropped to 5,000 at other times when looking for helping winds. I came over the Arizona mountains at 10,000 feet. My motor was not wide open any of the way."

The flying captain will make the return flight to New York in a few days after his Travelair plane's motor is retuned. He will attempt to beat Lindbergh's record of 14 hours 45 minutes and 32 seconds on this flight. He was but five minutes over that record today.

Mrs. Marshall Field III. and Party Reach Denver

Denver, Colo., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A party of five women, believed to include Mrs. Marshall Field III., arrived here tonight from Reno, Nev., and registered at the Cosmopolitan hotel, taking a suite of rooms. On the hotel register they are listed as Mrs. E. M. Field and party. None would talk with newspaper men. RINELLA, ONCE TRIED FOR BANK ROBBERY, SHOT

Joseph Rinella, 36 years old, 2917 South Wells street, who was acquitted of a charge of participation with four men and two women in the $20,000 robbery of the Industrial State bank in January, 1928, was wounded last night when gunmen fired on his automobile from another car at 29th street and Union avenue. Rinella was taken to the Mercy hospital with a bullet wound in his left shoulder and removed to the bridewell hospital when he refused to discuss the attack.

The shooting was witnessed by Joseph Seminara, 18 years old, 2710 Lowe avenue, who was standing at the corner with several companions. He told the Deering police that a five passenger automobile fired three shots at the rear of Rinella's car, pulled up beside him to fire another shot, and fired a fifth time as they sped away. Rinella stopped his machine as the first shots were fired and crouched to the floor of the car, the youth said. A passing taxicab took Rinella to the hospital.

Rinella told the police that he owned a grocery store at 2917 South Wells street. Investigation disclosed that there is no store at the address. Neighbors said that Rinella owns a store in the 2600 block of the same street. That also could not be found. Police are seeking racketeering connections to explain the shooting.

SWISS AIRMAN PLANS HOP OVER MOUNT EVEREST

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—An airplane fight over Mount Everest, the highest peak in the world, is the latest plan of Walter Mittelholzer, Swiss pilot, who was first to fly across Africa and the Alps and who, last year, accompanied Lord Rothschild on a big game hunting expedition in Africa.

Mount Everest, in the Himalayas, reaches 29,141 feet above sea level, and the airplane altitude record is more than 12,000 feet higher than that. However, the plane would have to start in tropical heat some distance away from the mountain, near which there are no level spaces for landing, and climb into the intense cold and rarified atmosphere with a load of gasoline heavy enough to carry the machine on to safety.

A woman was fatally injured and seven others, including three men prominent in Lake county political circles, were hurt yesterday in a collission between two automobiles on the Higgins road near Lee street, south of Des Plaines. The woman killed was Mrs. Marie Przyborski, 37 years old, 1415 Lincoln street, North Chicago, wife of Max Przyborski, chairman of the Lake county Republican central committee.

Those injured beside Mr. Przyborski, who was driving with his wife and four friends as passengers, are:

Harold J. Hansen, 41 years old, 458 North avenue, Waukegan, an assistant state's attorney in Lake county.

Mrs. Blanche Hansen, his wife.

Mrs. Irma Tallett, his wife.

On Way to Races.

Przyborski was taking his party to the Hawthorne race track. According to witnesses he apparently lost control of his machine when a front tire blew out. The car, which was going east at a high rate of speed, skidded 500 feet and sideswiped the west bound MacLeod car. Both machines were demolished and the occupants were taken to the Des Plaines emergency hospital where Mrs. Przyborski died last night of a fractured skull.

All of the injured, with the exception of Przyborski, were removed to other hospitals last night. Sergt. Clarence Haskins of the state highway police, who investigated the accident with several of his men, ordered Przyborski held for the inquest in Des Plaines today.

One Other Death in County.

This death and one other raised the Cook county motor toll for the year to 573.

Edward Thanarus, 38 years old, 5023 North Kostner avenue, was crushed beneath his milk truck in a triple collision with a street car and an automobile at Lincoln and Sunnyside avenues. Joseph Laboy, 3121 North Harding avenue, driver of the automobile, was held.

Jack De La Batie, 27 years old, chief chemist for the Stauffer Chemical company of Hammond, was killed and two others injured when their automobile was struck by a fast freight in Hammond.

'Heirs' Must Pay State Tax, Although They Get Nothing

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Five brothers and a sister of the late Aaron de Cordova, in Wall street for forty years, must pay $746 each in taxes to the state, although they do not receive a penny of the $564,000 estate he left. They were named as heirs to the "residue" of the estate, but there was no "residue" because of the Wall street crash last fall. The law provides that taxes be collected on the amount left in the will, regardless of what the heirs actually get.

Women Seek Parity, Even in Seduction Law

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

That embodies the conviction of four of Chicago's most active proponents of women's rights, all women lawyers, who yesterday pondered a hypothetical question on one of the knotty problems in the proposed revision of the criminal code of Illinois. All stood squarely by their guns—and the ancient, homely adage about the goose and gander. The question was:

When a woman is discovered to have been the aggressive party in a case of seduction, should she be accountable to the law and liable to prosecution exactly the same as a man when he is the guilty one?

Four Voices Are Raised.

Four feminine voices—each a note or so off key as the result of open air oratory the previous evening, when they campaigned on loop corners on behalf of jury service for women in Illinois—clamored to be heard on various angles of the myriad ramifications of the principle involved.

BEATRICE PODELL.

They, as women lawyers, recalled criminal cases they have prosecuted, and decisions they have received. They touched on the world of women as it used to be and as it is. They pointed out the varying influences surrounding the little daughter of the rich, the girl who grows up in a tenement, the eager young campus "radical," the professional woman of no morals. They weighed the matter of difficulty in presenting evidence, and the abuses that might evolve in such trials.

They're All for Equality.

Then they came back to the theory involved, and demonstrated that Portia is determined to achieve the single standard of equality even though to acquire its legal privileges she must accept its legal consequences. Unanimously, honestly and frankly, they said:

"Yes. Fundamentally, we believe that the law should work both ways."

This concession is regarded as unique in that it represents an unanimous opinion of four successful women, each of whom has been conspicuously allied with the battle to advance the cause of women. All of the four are members of the committee for women on juries of the Women's Bar association of Illinois.

Most emphatic of the four women lawyers was Mrs. Beatrice Hayes Podell, chairman of the committee and one of the most prominent of the preceding evening's speakers on that topic.

"Certainly it is right and just that women should be prosecuted for seduction," she affirmed. "Hardly any one would deny that there are women who make the overtures, and in my experience I have

This Is a Good Time to Buy Shoes

The tariff law—what housewife pays any attention to a tariff law? But for once she should. For the new tariff, just put into effect, places taxes of twenty per cent on imported shoes made of leather and thirty-five per cent on shoes made principally of cloth. A fifteen per cent duty on leather is also provided for.

The effect of the tariff will be to put up the costs of both American and foreign made shoes. The higher costs will, of course, have to be passed along to the retailer by the manufacturer, and by the retailer to the consumer.

Higher prices on shoes seem likely. Some kinds of shoe leather have, in fact, already gone up. Meanwhile, Chicago stores have actually reduced their prices for their current sales. Shoes are offered as much as one-fourth below the lowest sale prices last year. This is a good time to buy shoes.

WILD BUYING BOOSTS CORN ABOVE $1 MARK

Wheat Also Soars on Board of Trade.

Worst Illinois Drought

While heavy rains fell in part of the middle west yesterday, extreme heat and drought still prevailed in other areas; and the United States weather bureau at Washington announced that drought conditions in Illinois were the worst in the state's weather history, the July rainfall having been only 36 per cent of normal. The lake saved Chicago from the extreme temperatures which continued to bake other Illinois points yesterday. Details on page 2.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Dollar corn was restored to the blackboards on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday after an absence of a year as wave upon wave of public buying flowed into the trading pit.

Values were swept up from 7⅞ cents to 8¼ cents a bushel for future delivery to a new high level for the season. At the peak September deliveries corn sold at $1.01⅜, nearly 5 cents a bushel more than wheat. May corn was $1.02¼.

Estimates were that the rapid upturn in the price of the five leading grains has added approximately $650,000,000 to the theoretical value of the farmers' products within the last month.

Drought Causes Wild Trading.

Drought damage to the new corn crop, shown both by government and private crop reports, was the basis for the wildest market in many months. With an estimated reduction in the prospective yield of 500,000,000 bushels to around 2,300,000,000 bushels or less, the heavy toll taken by the protracted drought over the greater part of the corn belt has centered the speculative interest of the nation in grains. The stock market, for the moment at least, is apparently occupying an inconspicuous back seat.

Wheat and other grains advanced, the former spurting upward 6 cents a bushel. As things now stand the wheat market is up from 12½ cents to 13¼ cents from the low of the season, made only four days previously, and is now at the best level since June 20. March and May futures sold at a new high for the crop year, as did March and May oats and March and May rye.

The corn market, however, has witnessed the most sensational advance. Prices at the top were from 29¾ cents to 31¼ cents over the low figures of the season established on July 8.

Shouting Fills Corridors.

The collars of grain brokers were wilting and the noise was terrific as the roar of the grain trading swelled out into the corridors on the exchange floor. A cooling system seemed of little benefit to the perspiring traders, who stood grouped around the grain pits, shouting and signaling to each other.

Faster and faster were the futures sales chalked up as orders mounted. At the peak of the day a single transaction was put through covering 500,000 bushels of wheat, and involving nearly half a million dollars at prevailing quotations.

"This is the first time since the bull markets of 1925 that it has seemed as if the public was really in the market on a large scale," one veteran trader was heard to say.

"In past periods of depression we have often found that the first sign of a genuine upturn came in the commodity markets. Frequently this was first felt and registered on the board of trade. History may be repeating itself."

Profit Taking Causes Decreases.

Profit taking induced by the heavy advance caused minor recessions from the best figures of the day. When the bell pealed out at the close of trading corn was 7⅛@7⅜c a bushel higher, with September $1.01@1.01⅛, December 97⅛@97½c, and March 99⅛c@$1.00⅛.

A final gain of 5¼@5⅝c was made by wheat. September was 96⅝@96¾c and December $1.02⅛@1.02¾. Oats were up 3@3½c, final sales of September being at 43½c and December 46⅝c. Rye developed independent strength as compared with wheat and was 5⅜@6½c higher, September being 67@67½c and December 73½c.

Weather bureau officials at Washington, in a long summary of the agricultural situation, expressed the opinion that it is now too late for rains to have much influence on part of the corn crop. Private reports to B. W. Snow, crop expert for Bartlett-Frazier company and dean of the local statisticians, indicated that a large part of the crop, for all practical purposes, is beyond any material recovery.

Much of the corn and late garden truck are now beyond recovery, even if generous rains should come soon, the government's weekly crop summary said. In Ohio the corn is deteriorating at an alarming rate. Southern Indiana corn is badly damaged. The damage in Illinois is progressively worse from the northern to southern portion, with heavy losses reported in the latter area.

The crop in northern and western Kentucky is entirely gone, the summary stated, while in Missouri only late corn can improve with rains and the main crop has been lost. The Iowa summary said that most of corn was in tassel, with half the tassels killed and many stalks not shooting ears.

The country took advantage of the fact that the price of corn is now higher than last year to sell 238,000 bu of old grain to arrive, but bearish news of all kinds was ignored throughout the day. Fears were expressed in some quarters, however, that Argentine grain might be brought into the United States unless there was a decided change in the relative price levels between the two countries.

Argentine corn was offered at 92 cents, c. i. f. New York, duty paid, on Tuesday, and it was said that a few sales had been made of late, and that were it not for fear of an increased duty under the flexible tariff there would be a larger business.

Buenos Aires September corn closed yesterday at 61¾c, a net gain of 3¾c, but was nearly 40c under the same delivery at Chicago.

Causes Buying of Wheat.

A belief that there would be heavy substitution of wheat, oats, rye, and barley for corn were the main factors in bringing the public in on the buying side of the former grains. Commission house interest in wheat was estimated yesterday by some pit brokers as being virtually double that of the previous day.

Longs who sold out their lines early saw their offerings absorbed by a new set of bulls and had to bid prices up in order to get their wheat back. Despite the advance which has taken place of late wheat at the close yesterday was 38@42½c under the figures of a year ago.

A downward revision in estimates on the Canadian wheat crop is expected as the result of losses caused by drought, heat, and black rust. One leading Winnipeg house which has been looking for close to 400,000,000 bushels in the prairie provinces heretofore cut its figure to 365,000,000 bushels, and first threshing returns from Saskatchewan showed yields of 12 to 14 bushels an acre. Some fields are said to have been abandoned as the result of rust damage.

European Estimates Cut.

Estimates on the European wheat crop are also being reduced, but foreigners failed to follow the upturn in American prices while buying orders and export sales for the day were limited. Winnipeg closed 5¼ to 5¼ cents higher, with Liverpool up 3¼d to 3¾d, and Buenos Aires was 5⅞ cents higher. Russia was reported to have sold two cargoes of wheat to the United Kingdom and in the last few days about 1,750,000 bushels have been sold on the continent.

While there promises to be no scarcity of oats during the present crop year, the available supply being around 1,350,000,000 bushels, or 15,000,000 bushels in excess of last year, the grain has been selling at such a low price as to encourage investment buying on the belief that oats are worth much more money in comparison with corn. In addition the price dropped far below the cost of production, which is officially estimated at 50 to 54 cents per bushel for the country, based on average yields. The Prussian crop has been seriously damaged by unfavorable weather and is now placed at 255,000,000 bushels, against 360,000,000 bushels harvested in 1929.

A shortage in the European rye crop, exclusive of Russia, is regarded as certain, and Broomhall, a leading English authority, expects a yield of 525,000,000 bushels this season, or 69,000,000 bushels less than last year.

DROUGHT AREAS GET HEAVY RAIN; CHICAGO IS COOL

Midwest May Have More Showers Today.

Ship Water to City

Shelbyville, Ky., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The reservoir ran dry this evening and this city was without water tonight. A special train of 12 tank cars filled with water is to arrive here at 7 a. m. tomorrow from Louisville.

Chicago maintained its reputation as a summer resort yesterday. Cool lake breezes kept the thermometer below 80 degrees while the rest of the state sweltered. Widespread rains in northwestern Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, the Dakotas, and Iowa broke the drought in those areas and gave the farmers hope that part of their parched crops might still be saved.

Forecaster W. P. Day forecast a slight rise in temperature over the great lakes region today and the continuation of high temperatures throughout the central states. The forecaster said there was some prospect of rain in the Chicago region, and a thunderstorm wet Chicago during the early morning hours.

Following a cool night with the thermometer hovering between 68 and 69 degrees, the mercury in Chicago reached a maximum of 78 at 3 p. m. yesterday.

108 Degrees Downstate.

At Carbondale and Marion temperatures of 108 degrees were reported. Salem had 102 degrees and Benton 106. St. Louis, Mo.; Keokuk, Ia., and Evansville, Ind., reported 102 degrees.

A five weeks' drought at Galesburg, Ill., was broken when a quarter of an inch of rain fell yesterday morning, cooling the city. Peoria received a half inch of rain in a slow drizzle, which continued through the day. Wyoming received a like amount.

Rain fell for the second time in two days in the areas around Davenport and Des Moines in Iowa. Both cities had slight showers. A five inch rainfall was reported at Rydal, Kas., and at Jamestown, Norway, and Belleville in the same state. A hailstorm stripped fields around Scandia, Kas.

Heavy Rain in Nebraska.

Rain was general over southeastern and central Nebraska, extending west to Grand Island and Hastings with Omaha on the northern fringe of the area. Seward reported 1.5 inches, Lincoln .65 of an inch, and Omaha had .28 of an inch up to 7 p. m., with the rain continuing. The rain dropped the temperature in Omaha from 96 at 4 p. m. to 70 at 6 p. m. The path of this rain included Red Oak, Ia., 50 miles east of Omaha.

More than two inches of rain fell in a half hour at Aberdeen, S. D., ending a drought which had reduced the city's water supply. Streets were flooded when the sewers were unable to carry off the water, which stood two feet deep in some sections. The rain was general in northeastern South Dakota and southern North Dakota.

HOOVER PLANS FARM AID

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—President Hoover will confer with Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde tomorrow upon plans for a government program to furnish aid to farmers confronted with ruin by the widespread drought.

Together with this announcement it was stated at the White House today that the President has received prompt and favorable response from his appeal to railroad executives for coöperation in reducing rail rates for the emergency movement of live stock and feed in the stricken areas.

Secretary Hyde will return tomorrow from a speaking trip in the west and will see the President immediately. Both Mr. Hyde and Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board have been asked to make recommendations to the President Monday.

Although government experts are closely guarding the estimates of crop damage now being prepared for the President, officials in close touch with the situation believe the drought has already cost the nation more than one billion dollars. In Illinois alone the weather bureau states one-half the corn crop is ruined. If similar conditions existed throughout the corn belt the damage to the corn crop alone would run above a billion dollars as the annual corn crop is valued at two and one-half billion dollars.

The department of agriculture will announce its monthly crop estimates next Monday. These figures plus estimates under preparation for the President will make it possible to obtain accurate statistics on the crop losses caused by the extreme heat and the lack of rain.

Worst Illinois Drought.

Drought conditions in Illinois are the worst in the climatological history of the state, the United States weather bureau declared today in its official weekly and crop bulletin.

Having benefited by only 36 per cent of the normal rainfall during July the situation of farmers in Illinois has steadily gone from bad to worse, according to the weather bureau report. Its statement for Illinois for the week ending yesterday follows:

"Light or no rain, combined with heat, extended drought, and increased damage. Worst drought in climatological history of Illinois. Serious deterioration of corn. Farm bureau in Sangamon county estimates crops now half lost; deterioration still worse in southern counties.

PLYMOUTH MUSTERS 1,000 MEN TO FIGHT CAPE COD WOOD FIRES

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The shoulder of Cape Cod was ablaze tonight, 35 miles of it, with the old canal threading its way between the two worst forest fires the cape has known in years. Plymouth mustered 1,000 men to fight the flames which were sweeping back toward the village itself after burning uncontrolled for 36 hours. Houses, cottages and camps had been in its destructive reach. The homes of wealthy summer residents, many of them from New York, were threatened by the shift of wind to the south later in the day.

Down on the other side of the canal the firemen battled wood fires which raced through parts of Cohasset, Forestdale, Bourne, and Falmouth. At one time the Barnstable county hospital was endangered. All through both areas hundreds of summer residents were prepared to leave at a moment's notice.

Western Maryland Stricken.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A forest fire in Allegany county, western Maryland, raging over a twenty mile front, has caused great damage to timber and is fought by 900 men today, with no let up in the heat wave and drought.

Another fire has destroyed Wills Mountain inn, overlooking Cumberland, and still other blazes were unchecked.

ALL LAKES BUT ERIE, ONTARIO RISE IN JULY

The great lakes, with the exception of Erie and Ontario, were higher during July than during June, according to the United States lake survey, released yesterday. Lakes Erie and Ontario have recorded a slight fall each July since 1860.

OVER 2,000,000 WITHOUT WORK IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 6.—For the first time since January, 1922, the number of Britain's registered unemployed exceeds the 2,000,000 mark, and is the highest recorded since July, 1921. The figures reported today follow: 1,257,982 wholly unemployed, 659,685 temporarily, and 93,800 normally in casual employment, making the total 2,011,467.

From Jan. 20, when the total was 1,413,402, the rise in the figures has only twice checked, and in the case of the fall in June this was followed by an increase of 110,000 in a fortnight. The peak of unemployment since the war was 2,580,429 recorded in June, 1921, when the number was affected by the coal-mining dispute. When the miners returned to work there was rapid improvement and by July 29 the total dropped to 1,905,196.

Less than Million in 1926.

Fluctuations followed and not until June, 1922, did the number fall below 1,500,000. Improvement in following years was fairly maintained until April, 1926, when the total was below 1,000,000.

Then came the general strike and the prolonged stoppage of the mining industry. By May 10 the figures were up to 1,878,899, which did not take into account unemployed coal miners. More than a year passed before the disastrous effects of the industrial strife were overcome. But in May, 1927, the total was again down to 998,291. At the time the MacDonald government took office, at the beginning of June, 1929, the total stood at 1,100,125.

As a contrast to the uninterrupted increase in unemployment in Britain may be set the statement of the Empire Industries' association that in May unemployment decreased slightly in Germany, was practically negligible in France, decreased one-sixth in Denmark, and decreased also in Holland, Sweden, Austria, and Italy.

Rail Workers Lose Jobs.

Tonight dismissalse of railway workers, due to falling off in traffic, was reported from many parts of the country. Following earlier reductions 300 of 1,800 men in the locomotive department of the Northeastern railway at Doncaster are to be dropped and further numbers are expected to receive notice in other departments.

Fire More Mexican Miners.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—Six hundred more miners were dismissed at Pachuca in the state of Hidalgo this week. Today delegates from the silver mines, which have been operating continuously for 300 years reached this city to solicit help from the department of industry, commerce and labor.

Texan Admits Killing Wife by Setting Bomb in Auto

Stinnet, Tex., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Chief of Police W. N. McDowell tonight said A. D. Payne, Amarillo, Tex., attorney, had admitted the fatal bombing of his wife June 27 and offered to make a formal confession as soon as he talked to his brother, Sidney Payne.

In a statement to Chief McDowell Payne said he was the "meanest man in the world" and upheld the reputation of Mrs. Verona Thompson, his former secretary, who made a statement last night which resulted in Payne's arrest. She said Payne was infatuated with her.

Sidney Payne was not expected here until tomorrow morning. He was reported on a trip in South Texas, but at Amarillo it was reported he expected to return to that city.

A. D. Payne was brought here last night after Mrs. Thompson's statement had been made public, Amarillo officials fearing mob violence. E. M. Thomerson, district attorney, said Payne made a statement today, but refused to divulge its nature.

Newspaper Men Get Evidence.

Amarillo, Tex., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Evidence uncovered by two newspaper men caused the filing of a murder charge today against A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney, whose wife was killed when the family automobile was blown to pieces by an infernal machine here June 27.

When arrested Payne had on his person two penciled letters ready for mailing to the sheriff and chief of police, purported to be from safe blowers who were confessing that they had placed the explosives in the Payne automobile by mistake the night before the explosion.

A. D. Payne Jr., 9, who was riding with his mother when the car blew up, was permanently maimed by the blast.

Payne Sought Investigation.

Evidence against Payne was gathered by A. B. MacDonald, reporter for the Kansas City Star, and Gene Howe, editor of the Amarillo News-Globe. Howe asked the Star to assist in the investigation after Payne visited him and complained a thorough effort had not been made to solve the mystery of the explosion.

Officers who investigated the blast expressed an opinion that a bomb or infernal machine had been planted beneath the driver's seat of the automobile. They said they found evidences of nitroglycerin and TNT in the wreckage.

2 Pairs Dance On After 2,804 Hours in Marathon

Two couples held doggedly to their efforts to win the world's championship dance marathon last night at the Merry Garden ballroom. At 8 p. m. Miss Ann Gerry and Mike Gouvas, and Miss Theresa Zito and Joe Ritoff had passed their 2,804th hour. The contest started on April 11.

HEAT INCREASES CITY PUMPING BY BILLION GALLONS

An increase in the amount of water pumped by the city during July of this year over the pumpage of July, 1929, was noted yesterday by City Engineer Gayton as one result of the intense heat experienced by Chicago during the last few weeks. The increase was 1,197,000,000 gallons, while the total increase for the first seven months of this year over the corresponding period of last year was only 1,513,000,000 gallons, showing that most of the increase occurred in July.

A record for the greatest amount of water pumped during any one day was set on July 25 of this year, when 1,251,340,000 gallons were pumped as the temperature rose to 96 degrees. On July 19 of this year, when the temperature rose to 101 degrees, 1,242,720,000 gallons were pumped.

CABIN IN WOODS GIVES CLEWS TO KILLERS OF ZUTA

Second Rendezvous of Murder Gang Sought.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle, Tribune reporter. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune, $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 503, Temple building, 77 West Washington street. Telephone State 3729.

Search for another cabin in the lake spotted woods of Wisconsin, in which the killers of Jack Zuta, Chicago vice lord and gang leader, might have hidden, was under way yesterday. The search was directed by District Attorney Herman Salen and Undersheriff Arthur Moran of Waukesha county and George Williams, an investigator from the Chicago staff of Pat Roche.

These authorities had developed the information that the gang rendezvous cabin on Lake Nagowicka, several miles from the Delafield, Wis., resort in which Zuta was slain, had been occupied permanently by only two men. This cabin is believed to have been the place from which Zuta's murderers set out, as well as the storage spot for the machine guns, shotguns and revolvers used in the slaying.

Believe Two Cabins Used.

There is no telephone in the cabin, and it was considered unlikely that the assassins would make a headquarters there unless they had other nearby means of communication.

Since eight men participated in the murder of Zuta, it was argued by the investigators that two stayed in the cabin on Lake Nagowicka and the other six in another cottage or cabin in the neighborhood. In this other rendezvous, it is believed, there will be found a telephone through which the whereabouts of Zuta was reported and over which the final orders came to stage the murder.

The first cabin is owned by W. F. Oakley. Oakley's wife and a maid in their household, Miss Sophie Oninski, had been reported as having identified pictures of Tony Accardo and Sam Hunt, gunmen of the Capone gang, as those of the men who occupied the cottage.

Women Deny Identifications.

But yesterday when the officials visited the Coakley home both women insisted they had made no identifications and that they had no idea as to the identity of the cabin dwellers. District Attorney Salen said it was evident that publication of the women's story had frightened them to the point where they denied it entirely.

From other nearby resort dwellers, however, it was learned that the two men had frequent visits from three or more other men, all of whom acted in a suspicious manner, offering no information as to their occupations. Miss Oninski, it was said, had gone in swimming with one of the men suspected as one of the Zuta killers, but she insisted she could not identify him.

The officials had obtained pictures of many notorious gangsters from Chicago who might have killed Zuta, or might have been his companions. The women refused to select likely suspects from the pictures, and District Attorney Salen said no identifications had been obtained, but from other sources it was learned that certain of the gangsters were picked out by other witnesses and are being sought.

Identify Picture of Vision.

Among the pictures taken around by the investigators were those of Hunt and Jack McGurn, Capone gunmen; Ted Newberry, a former Moran-Aiello-Zuta henchman, who has since deserted to Capone, and Henry Finkelstein. A picture of Solly Vision, lieutenant of Zuta, was identified by Mr. and Mrs. George Poetzel of Nashotah, Wis., as that of a man who had appeared at the resort with Zuta on several occasions for beer and sandwiches. Sometimes Zuta had arrived with as many as eight guests, the Poetzels said.

A thorough search of the cabin on the Coakley property was made by the investigators. They found milk bottles and boxes of blueberries and cherries, which, upon investigation, were found to have been sold by a grocer at Delafield. The grocer, however, was unable to describe the purchaser beyond stating that it was a young man.

A card, torn into pieces, of the Hawthorne restaurant in Cicero was found in the cabin also, it was reported.

In tracing the movements of the assassins after they had killed Zuta the investigators found two Delafield garage mechanics who said they had seen two automobiles speeding east toward the Waukesha-Milwaukee county line a few minutes after the time of the murder. It was on a farm near the county line that a golf bag containing two boxes of cartridges was found on Tuesday.

Coroner Bundesen of Cook county was still awaiting a report from his ballistics experts on the identification of a revolver found in the automobile of Zuta, which was parked outside the resort on the night he was murdered.

Dr. Bundesen pointed out that there was a possibility that Zuta's gun was purchased from the same dealer who sold the revolver which was used to kill Alfred Lingle.

The coroner was also requested to make an examination of shotgun shells and rifle and revolver bullets which were found in a suitcase picked up by a farmer near the murder scene. They were to be compared with bullets and shotgun slugs fired in the assassination of Zuta.

Lingle "Witness" Is Held.

In Chicago Assistant State's Attorneys Charles F. Pathbun and James E. McShane and Chief Investigator Roche of the state's attorney's office were pursuing their investigation of the murder of Lingle.

Although they were inclined to the belief that Joseph Jeck Jr., who professed to have witnessed the killing of Lingle and named James (Red) Forsythe as the murderer, was romancing, they continued to hold Jeck, investigating his record meanwhile.

Jeck had said that he picked up the stub of a check book issued by the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank at the scene of the killing. The stub was left in St. Louis, where Jeck was arrested, and was being forwarded by mail to the Chicago investigators.

Lake County War on Slot Machines.

In Lake county, Illinois, a cleanup of slot machines was under way. Although State's Attorney A. V. Smith was reported out of the city, his chief investigator, George Stried, was out in the county pulling in the machines. Reports had reached the state's attorney's office that Scarface Al Capone had determined to fight efforts of the Moran gang to restore their former slot machine privileges in Lake county, and that in order to forestall making Lake county a battleground for this sort of gang warfare Col. Smith had decided to order all slot machines out of the county.

COUNTY TO PAY 1,000 CREDITORS BY NEXT WEEK

Creditors of the county will have their bills paid next week out of the proceeds of the $2,500,000 bond issue sold by the county board last week. This was announced yesterday by A. J. Cermak, president of the board. The bills to be paid, which are held by approximately 1,000 creditors, cover the period from Feb. 1, 1929, to the beginning of the county's 1930 fiscal year, Dec. 1, 1929.

By paying these bills the county will have met all of its outstanding 1929 liabilities except $3,000,000 in judgments held by the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company. These judgments, together with accumulating 1930 bills, will probably be met when the Supreme court establishes the legality of the county's $6,500,000 working cash fund, according to Assistant Deputy Controller Michael J. O'Connor.

SALTIS BONDSMEN GIVE UP BATTLE; PAY $5,553 TO U. S.

Bondsmen for Joe Saltis, former beer distributor on the south side, gave up a legal fight with the government yesterday and paid over $5,553.87, including interest. The bond was forfeited in September, 1928, when Saltis failed to appear for arraignment on a liquor charge before Federal Judge Wilkerson. At the same time he was wanted by state authorities on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and was a fugitive for 209 days. Saltis finally pleaded guilty to the liquor charge and served thirty days in jail, but Judge Wilkerson refused to set aside the forfeiture of the $5,000 bond.

"Red" Kissane Arrested with Pal on South Side

Anthoy "Red" Kissane, labor racketeer, 4225 North Springfield avenue, and Frank Conners, alias Sperry, 639 North Ashland avenue, were arrested yesterday by Sergt. Thomas J. Gorman and his detective bureau squad. Kissane and Sperry were riding in an automobile at 22d and State streets.

DOLORES DEL RIO OF FILMS, ARTIST WED IN MISSION

Early Threat of Delay Is Removed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Santa Barabara, Cal., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Dolores Del Rio, Mexican motion picture actress, this afternoon became the bride of Cedric Gibbons, Hollywood studio set designer, but not until the film star's divorce from her first husband had threatened for a time to delay the ceremony.

The actress and Gibbons were married in a setting of old Spanish splendor in the graying, restored Santa Barbara mission, which dates back to 1784, by Father Augustine Hobricht.

Earlier in the day Father Augustine had indicated that he could not perform the marriage ceremony without special dispensation because of the divorce. When it was pointed out that Miss Del Rio's first husband, Jaime Del Rio had died six months after the divorce was granted, it was announced that all that would be required would be a letter setting forth the facts from Miss Del Rio's parish priest.

It was explained that after Del Rio's death the actress became a widow in the eyes of the church and not a divorced woman. Miss Del Rio had obtained such a letter from the Rev. Father Daniel J. Steck of Hollywood, and it was presented to Father Augustine.

In the chapel of the historic mission when the marriage service was read were Father Augustine's brothers of the Franciscan order, a few motion picture friends of the principals, a group of tourists, and a number of the devout men and women who toil on the hillside estates here.

Miss Del Rio was attired in gray from her small tight fitting hat to gun metal hose and pumps. She wore orchids. She was attended by her mother, Mrs. J. L. Asunolo of Mexico City. Benjamin Glazer, Hollywood film executive, was best man.

The marriage license recorded the bride's age as 24 and Gibbons' as 40.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons motored to Montecito.

Gibbons Also Divorced.

Gibbons, too, had been divorced, four years ago, from Gwendoline Weller, former New York girl. This divorce, however, did not conflict with church regulations, for it had terminated a civil marriage.

Miss Del Rio was married to Del Rio April 21, 1921, when she was 15 years old. She obtained a civil divorce in Nogales, Mex., in June, 1928, on grounds of incompatibility. Del Rio died in Berlin in December, 1928.

The romance of Gibbons and Miss Del Rio was one of Hollywood's rapid love affairs, surprising even to friends of the actress. The couple knew each other for only two months. Previously the attractive brunette widow had been reported engaged to Edwin Carewe, movie producer, with whom she made a personal appearance tour abroad; to John Farrow, screen writer, and to Ted Joyce, a stage master of ceremonies.

NUDE DANCING UPSETS SUBURB; ALL QUIET AGAIN

Lombard Chief Back After Trial.

The gyrations of a carnival dancing girl have threatened to disrupt the civic machinery of the western suburb of Lombard, but last night, after six turbulent days, all was quiet. The suspended chief of police was back in office and the village president, Fred P. Maisel, was explaining the situation to his political supporters.

A benefit carnival for the police department, which played to good crowds in Lombard last week, was the scene of the disturbing incident. There one Peggy Elliott, an agile young woman who performed in a grass skirt in one of the traveling show's attraction tents, had been a good drawing card and Thursday night, at one of her last appearances, the tent was jammed.

Girl Gives an "Eyeopener."

Peggy glanced over the crowd with an appraising eye, and proposed that for an additional half dollar per person she would add an "eye opener" to her regular act. Fifty cent pieces jingled in the hat which was passed and the dance was on. She began in her grass skirt and filmy attachments, but, by the end of her whirls and twirls, these had been reduced to a pair of high heeled slippers—and nothing more.

Word of the performance reached Elmer J. Haase, president of the board of education, according to Village Clerk William Joyce, and the school head went, that night, to Chief of Police John P. Hopkins, who closed Peggy's show. Friday, President Maisel suspended Hopkins but preferred no charges against him. Haase had said he believed several school children were witnesses to the performance.

Until Monday night, matters remained the same but at the meeting of the village board, a majority of which is said to be opposed to Maisel, some members demanded from the president why he had suspended the chief. The board members said they wished to try Hopkins, but could not until some statement for his suspension was made. Maisel refused to prefer charges, it was reported, and the board then decided to try Chief Hopkins for "malfeasance in office" and "neglect of duty."

Chief Is Put on Trial.

Village Attorney Edgar J. Elliott, Chief Hopkins' friend, would not prosecute and a special prosecutor, John McCoy, was appointed by the selectmen. Attorney Robert Scott of Glen Ellyn was defense counsel and the trial was held Tuesday night.

According to a report of the evidence, Chief Hopkins submitted that he had no knowledge of Peggy's nude dance, the idea having originated with her and her ballyhoo man without the police head's connivance or knowledge.

GIRL TOSSED OUT OF AUTO IN LOOP DIES OF INJURIES

Police Hunt Husband as Slaying Suspect.

Thomas Downs of 4823 Sheridan road was sought by the police last night as a suspect in the slaying of his 24 year old bride, Drusilla Wakefield Downs, who was found unconscious from injuries under the elevated tracks in Wabash avenue near Monroe street on Monday night. Mrs. Downs died last evening at the county hospital without regaining consciousness.

Following the death of the young wife, Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the central police took charge of the search for Downs. Two witnesses who found the unconscious girl in the street told the police they had seen her struggling with a man in an automobile, who pushed her from the car.

Sister Tells of Quarrel.

Mrs. Downs, a former model, was identified at the hospital by her sister, Miss Polly Wakefield. Miss Wakefield first directed suspicion toward Downs when she told police that he had called her twice by telephone on Tuesday, saying, "Drusilla is hurt." She also told of attending dinner with the couple in a restaurant at Wabash avenue and Adams street on Monday night. She said Downs had been drinking and had quarreled with his wife, then had taken her away in an automobile.

Miss Wakefield, also a model, who came to Chicago recently with her sister from Saginaw, Mich., said they lived together at the Maryland hotel, Delaware place and Rush street, until Drusilla eloped to Crown Point with Downs and moved with him to the Sheridan road apartment.

Trace Downs to Funeral.

Downs' attorney, Stanley M. Doyle, promised to produce him yesterday afternoon, but neither appeared. The police found Doyle arguing a case in court, and he told them that Downs had gone to the burial of his mother, Mrs. Ellen Downs, in Calvary cemetery.

The police went to the family home, 6741 North Artesian avenue, where another son, William, was found. He said Thomas had been at the cemetery but had not returned.

The Sheridan road apartment was searched and a claim check for Downs' car was found. At the garage the police learned he had called for the machine a few hours before his wife was taken on the fatal ride.

NEBRASKANS SEE KANSAS RESULTS AS POINTING WAY

Both Norris and Stebbins Backers Hopeful.

Bachelors Nominated

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Frank Haucke yesterday won the Republican nomination for governor in Kansas and Harry H. Woodring the Democratic nomination. Both are bachelors and former state Legion commanders. Henry J. Allen was renominated for the senate on the Republican ticket.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Interpretation of the Kansas primaries took the attention today of Nebraska politicians as cornfed soothsayers sought to read the auguries for the primaries here Aug. 12, in which Senator George W. Norris, insurgent Republican leader who bolted Hoover for Al Smith two years ago, is opposed by W. M. Stebbins, candidate of the regulars.

Refreshed by a "ten million dollar rain," which cooled off the skillet on which the region is still frying, and made despondent cornfields perk up and take a new interest in life, the rival insurgent and conservative camps each extracted a comforting lesson from the renomination of Senator Henry J. Allen and the defeat of his political pal, Gov. Clyde M. Reed, the Kansas results running close to the form sheets.

Conservatives Optimistic.

The conservatives, backing Stebbins, maintained that the success of Senator Allen, who has been a regular of regulars at Washington, and a fishing companion of President Hoover on the Rapidan, means that Hoover and party regularity and the dual party system are in favor in the wheat belts, and that what goes for Kansas will probably be true of Nebraska. The Norris figures indicate Allen did not get as many votes as his three competitors combined and that a divided field pulled him through.

Hoisting an "if," the Norris supporters said if the Allen opposition had been concentrated on one candidate, the outcome might have been different, and they insisted the Allen victory is not a farmers' okay on Hoover and the tariff.

The regulars in the Stebbins' camp, viewing the defeat of Gov. Reed, maintained this was a wheat belt indorsement of the Hoover federal farm board, due to Reed's position as foremost opponent of Alexander Legge's proposal of reduced wheat acreage. They argue that next Tuesday Nebraska wheat raisers will vote against "wheat in politics and for Stebbins as embodying party regularity."

Marketing Act Backed.

Mr. Stebbins has taken the position that although the farm marketing act may not be a panacea it is a step in the right direction and should be given "the fairest possible trial." Some of the conservatives argue Reed was rejected by the farmers on the theory that his row with Legge was only a political play, as Legge himself declared.

The Norris camp holds the reverse. It maintains that Gov. Reed was the victim of local conditions in Kansas and that he was on the toboggan before his controversy with Legge rebuilt his campaign. They point to the fact that in the closing days the Reed managers were pinning their last hopes on the problematic "silent vote" on the farm. The Norris men say the results show the silent vote kept silent even on the primary days, an indication it is doing its own thinking on acreage reduction and is taking a polite but bored academic interest in the curtailment question which has been somewhat demolished anyhow by the drought and the damage to corn.

Reasons for Defeat Cited.

One analysis is that the chief causes of Reed's downfall were, first, a bumper crop of enemies his friends concede he has made while governor through an air of arrogance; second, Dave Mulvane, Republican national committeeman; J. N. [Poly] Tincher, who nominated Charles Curtis at Kansas City; George A. Clark, the old Curtis manager, who were grouped behind Frank [Chief] Haucke, and third, the American Legion, of which Haucke is an ex-state commander, the result being one of the most notable manifestations so far of the influence of the Legion in politics.

Lincoln appears to have been in close touch with Topeka, judging from the analysis of Kansas in the various camps here, to get an idea of how the wheat belt is thinking, but the issue in Nebraska is far different. It centers on Senator Norris who bolted Hoover for Smith, a leader of what Senator George Moses called the "sons of the wild jackass," and this week the Nebraska prairies are to be given another singe by the orators. "Grundyism" and "wild jackassism," "dry fanatics" in a bone dry but wet state, are set for heated discussion.

Norris is assailing the tariff, the power trust and is dwelling on farm relief, while the conservatives, backing Stebbins, are calling for a return to the two party system. One argument they are broadcasting, inquiries of Norris why he doesn't follow the leadership of the President, to which the Norris followers are remarking, "Why have senators, then? Who wants a Mussolini?"

U. S. PATRONAGE IN DIXIE FLAYED BY HOOVERCRATS

Horace Mann Complains of 'Carpetbaggers.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Formal announcement of a rebellion of southern Hoovercrats against Postmaster General Walter H. Brown's administration of southern federal patronage and political affairs generally was made today by Horace Mann, Hoover southern manager in the 1928 campaign and organizer of the new movement.

In a statement issued on the eve of the meeting tomorrow of the Republican national executive committee to accept the resignation of C. H. Huston, the national chairman, Mann outlined plans adopted by a group of prominent southern Hoovercrats to incorporate an "all-southern" Republican organization and throw off the yoke of northern "patronage carpetbaggers" as well as of "designing political hijackers."

Feud to Be Discussed.

The Mann-Brown feud over the former's demand for recognition as the leader in southern Republican affairs will undoubtedly come in for informal discussion when the national executive committee gathers to elect Senator Simeon Fess [Rep., O.] as Huston's successor and Internal Revenue Commissioner R. H. Lucas as executive committee chairman, but none of Mann's southern friends are members of that group. They, however, will be heard when the full committee meets later to ratify the election of Fess as national chairman.

Meanwhile, according to Mann's statement, the time has come for "all outsiders" to know that the south is "amply able to manage its own political affairs" and that "the practice of trafficking and trading in delegates from certain sections of the south at Republican national conventions" must end.

Mann denied insinuations, in accounts of the meeting at Savannah, Ga., last Saturday, that the revolt was inspired by "a personal desire to control the dispensing of federal patronage in the south," but, he pointed out, federal patronage is "the root of the evil."

The manipulation of southern delegations to past Republican national conventions, according to Mann, has been "nothing short of disgraceful," and has been due to the use of federal patronage to build up personal political machines.

"There is a principle involved on which this organization," he continued, "will stand and for which it will fight, of vastly greater importance to the southern Republican, and, in fact, the southern people as a whole, than the dispensing of federal patronage, the bulk of which has been passed out to an interloping element of carpetbaggers.

Hits at "Hijackers."

"The south religiously believes in and stands for a rigid enforcement of all laws, both state and national. They stand unitedly for states' rights and the exercise of the police power of the sovereign state, and to meet a southerner is to meet a nationalist. Then why, tell me, should a people so constituted permit designing political hijackers to invade the southland every four years and rob her of the right to a legitimate representation at Republican national conventions?"

Says Huston Not Involved.

Mann insisted in the statement that the new movement has no relationship to "the recent factional struggle over control of the Republican national chairmanship." Huston, he asserted, "has had nothing to do with this movement," although Mann and Huston have long been close friends and it is no secret that Huston's resignation was a sharp blow to Mann's ambition to control the southern Republican organization he is credited with building to take advantage of the gains made in the 1928 campaign.

Hoovercrats representing ten southern states participated in the Savannah conference, which in resolutions expressed its resentment at the refusal of the administration to recognize Mann's services and leadership and agreed to meet in Atlanta, Ga., on Aug. 15 to perfect their organizations.

Because of the heavy Hoover vote in the south in 1928, the ten states represented in the Savannah conference will be entitled to 267 delegates in the 1932 Republican convention, 100 more than they were allowed in the Kansas City convention.

ST. LOUIS FLYERS WILL PASS THEIR OLD MARK TODAY

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Cheerful and still expressing determination to set a new world's record for sustained flight, Dale (Red) Jackson and Forest O'Brine tonight were near their 400th hour in their endurance plane Greater St. Louis.

Late tomorrow, if still aloft, they will pass their former world record of 420 hours and 30 minutes, set a year ago, and will have less than a week to go to break the 554 hour record of the Hunter brothers.

"We are not ready to come down for some time," the flyers told the ground crew over their short wave transmitter today. No mention was made of Jackson's illness from a cold which he spoke of last night.

WOMEN PILOTS REBEL AGAINST AIR RACE RULES

Five Will Not Compete in Cross-U. S. Derby.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

The dispute that originated several weeks ago, when Amelia Earhart came to Chicago to demand of the directors of the national air races that girl flyers in this year's women's Derbies be allowed to fly men's planes under men's rules came to a head yesterday when five leading women pilots, through Miss Earhart, announced in New York that they will not fly in the forthcoming Derby from the Pacific coast to Chicago in connection with the opening of the national air meet on Aug. 23.

The five who signed the statement in refutation of the announcement that they would take part in the western race are Mrs. Louis McPhetridge Thaden, winner of last year's women's Derby; Blanche Noyes, who finished fourth in that race; Elinor Smith, holder of the women's altitude record for airplanes; Ruth Nichols, New York flyer, and Miss Earhart.

Text of Statement.

The statement said:

"Because of contradictory and unauthorized statements concerning our entering the women's air Derbies this year we feel it desirable to say definitely we are not competing in these events. We regret the necessity for this decision, which is already known to the race committee."

"That's just too bad, but nothing can be done about it," commented Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events for the national air meet, when apprised of the announcement. "Those girls want to fly high powered airplanes with a lot of speed. We have restricted entries to the low powered planes, which we believe are safer and more satisfactory to the average woman pilot."

Owns Powerful Plane.

In her own case, Miss Earhart said, owning a Lockheed-Vega monoplane with a 425 horse power Wasp engine, the 800 cubic inch displacement restriction automatically rules her plane out and she has neither the means nor the inclination to provide another plane for the race. She added that others were faced with similar conditions. Maj. Schroeder pointed out, however, that Mrs. Thaden's entrance was precluded by the advent of a week old baby.

The women also objected to the addition to the flying personnel with the race of two army pilots and a flight surgeon who will accompany the planes on their flight. The girls, who want to fly by men's rules or not at all, made it plain that this addition, while admirable from a safety standpoint, is not welcome among them unless similar precautions are taken with the men's races.

The five women who rebelled at the rules also announced that they would not attend the annual meeting of the "Ninety-niners," the national organization of women pilots, which will meet in Chicago on Aug. 22 to discuss the conditions of the race.

New Race for Women.

Maj. Schroeder earlier in the day announced the addition of an unlimited power speed race for women pilots to the program of events for the races. He pointed out that the girls who go in for high speeds would have an opportunity to test their skill in this free-for-all race, which will be the first of its kind in the history of air racing.

This race will duplicate the major speed classic of the race meet for men. Prize money of $2,500 and a trophy will be offered. Air race followers yesterday believed that this race will provide an opportunity for a showdown between Mrs. Florence Lowe Barnes of Pasadena and Miss Earhart. Mrs. Barnes this week wrested the women's world airplane speed record from Miss Earhart by raising the mark to 196 miles an hour. Miss Earhart's record was 185 miles an hour.

Wisconsin Aids Event.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Wisconsin cities have raised about $250,000 in support of the national air races which begin at Chicago Aug. 23, Stuart F. Auer, general chairman of the Wisconsin committee, reported today. He said 100,000 persons were expected to attend on Wisconsin day, Sept. 1.

"Flying Amy", Ill, Hides Her Pain Amid London's Cheers

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—A physician sat watching Amy Johnson, young London-Australia solo flyer, when she attended a luncheon given her today by youthful champions and record breakers in all walks of British life.

Despite intense pain from a gastric attack, Miss Johnson smiled and waved at the crowds on a procession through London, then listened for two hours to fervent speech making and capped the performance by making a twenty minute talk without a tremor in her voice. She appeared at the luncheon against her doctor's orders. None of the 300 guests had an inkling she was ill.

The luncheon was unique in the number of famous Britishers gathered under one roof. Sitting next to Amy on the ride through London and near the speaker's table was Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, who with Alcock was the first to fly the Atlantic. Louis Bleriot, the first to fly the channel, was also there with Squadron Leader Augustus H. Orlebar, holder of the world's speed record, and Flight Lieut. R. D. Waghorn, winner of the Schneider cup.

At the speaker's table sat Marjorie Foster, who won the rifle shooting championship of the British Empire last month. R. C. Sherriff, author of "Journey's End," was among the young writers present, while J. L. Baird, inventor of television, represented science.

Through all the speeches ran a note of pride that Miss Johnson's was a British achievement and that, as J. H. Thomas, dominions' secretary, said, "The spirit of Drake is still alive in modern England."

WHO OWNS THE AIR? INSTITUTE SEEKS ANSWER

First School of Aviation Law Is Opened.

The question of who owns the air and who has the power to regulate traffic in it and the further question of how stringent those regulations shall be are under discussion at the school of law at Northwestern university where yesterday the first air law institute opened its classes.

Authorities on the subject of air law from American universities and from foreign countries began their lectures on aviation, radio and other subjects related to the air. The classes will continue until Aug. 19. During the last three days the students of the institute will meet jointly with the national air congress convening here.

Air Law Develops with Aviation.

In yesterday's sessions the lecturers devoted their time to the definition of terms and a recitation of the history of air law which has developed along with aviation.

"Complete development of air law presupposes the complete development of the art of flight," George B. Logan, chairman of the legislative committee of the St. Louis air board and lecturer in the Washington university school of law, stated at a session last night.

In an interview Mr. Logan cited recent court decisions in the east to show that the maxim he who owns the soil owns above it to the sky will be the source of a variety of interpretations which threaten to grow in confusion with the increase in the number of airports and airplanes.

Hamper Aviation Growth.

One decision held low flight over swamp land and forest constituted trespassing. The other decision found that planes flying lower than 500 feet over property adjacent to an airport were trespassing. Such decisions, he said, hamper the proper growth of aviation.

The institute was opened yesterday by Dr. John H. Wigmore, dean emeritus of the law school. The sessions were led by Gen. Nathan William MacCresney, general counsel for the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Those who lectured yesterday were Dr. Arnold D. McNair, English lawyer and lecturer in law at the University of Cambridge; Capt. Albert Roper, secretary of the International Commission on Air Navigation of Paris, Louis G. Caldwell, formerly general counsel for the federal radio commission, and Mr. Logan.

LINDY AND HIS WIFE TAKE FIRST FLIGHT SINCE BABY'S BIRTH

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—For the first time since the birth of their son, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took the air together today at Hasbrouck Height, for a short spin above the field.

The plane used was the one in which the couple established a new west-east transcontinental record, a Lockheed Sirius monoplane. Instead of the Pratt & Hitney motor, however, Col. Lindbergh has had a Wright Cyclone of added horse power installed.

Nun Sentenced in Obregon Slaying Gravely Ill in Jail

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Advices to relatives state that Mother Concepcion Acevedo de la Llata, who is serving a 20 year sentence in the Las Tres Marias penal colony as "the intellectual author" of the assassination of Gen. Obregon in 1928, is gravely ill. The nature of the illness was not given.

FLOW FROM OLD WATER SPRING TURNS TO OIL

Olean, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Maybe it's the drought, maybe it's something else; no one around here seems to be able to explain just what happened to a spring on the farm of A. J. Walters, near here. Only once in the memory of local residents has the spring failed. During the early days of the present drought its waters diminished, but it continued to flow. Then a few days ago it began to lose its crystal clearness. The water became oily and discolored.

Now more than a barrel of oil a day is being taken from the spring.

EPSTEIN DEFIES CASE TO PROVE ELECTION FRAUDS

Eller Henchman on Stand at Maguire Hearing.

Dr. Samuel S. Epstein, 939 West Roosevelt road, Eller henchman of the 20th ward, saw no reason to remain a Democrat after the death of his patron and political mentor, Dennis J. Egan, he said yesterday on the witness stand in County Judge Jarecki's court.

Dr. Epstein defied Attorney Charles Center Case and the group seeking the removal of Fred Maguire as chairman of the board of election commissioners to show where he had stuffed any ballot boxes or committed any other election fraud in his seventeen years in politics. Two and a half years ago, he said, when Mr. Case ran for judge, he sought Dr. Epstein's support.

"But he got only two or three votes in my ward," Dr. Epstein said.

"I'll bet they were crooked," said Mr. Case, who denied that he had sought the Epstein support.

"They probably were," said the witness.

Dr. Epstein denied that he had recommended lists of judges and clerks of the ward. The only time he ever interfered here, he said, was in trying to get unfit Democrats appointees removed.

Denies Ward "Deliverable."

Denying that his ward was "deliverable" by crooked methods, the witness pointed out that he was defeated as a candidate for the legislature, although he had the Eller support.

Mr. Chase began a cross-examination of Dr. Epstein which will be continued this morning. The prosecutor was insistent in asking questions about a witness named Mandel, who, he inferred, disappeared from town after Dr. Epstein was indicted in connection with election frauds. Dr. Epstein denied all knowledge of the witness and said the case was nolle prossed by the state's attorney.

Many signers to the petition to oust Mr. Maguire, coming chiefly from a Hyde Park group affiliated with the Hyde Park Baptist church, were in court. A few were examined and others were excused. Many signed the petition without reading it, but they knew it was a movement to make political conditions better and they were willing to trust Mr. Case and Judge Jarecki with the details.

Hint at Libel Suits.

There were hints of libel suits growing out of the petition. One came in a question to a witness by Albert Fink, attorney for Mr. Maguire. Another was heard along the benches and reported to the court by Mr. Case. Judge Jarecki warned the witnesses against efforts at intimidation, and ordered that the corridors be cleared of private detectives.

This condition grows out of the fact that in the petition it is charged that robbers, thieves, murderers, rapists, and others with police records were put on the list of judges and clerks by Maguire, while good men and women were removed. It appears that 195 police records were submitted at the hearing, bearing names which may or may not be identical with the men and women who served in the polling booths in the wards named. In many cases they were not the same people. There are 16,500 judges and clerks of election.

Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, was on the witness stand for a few minutes. He testified that the first part of this year he had a conversation in his office with Mr. Case concerning the appointment of Mrs. Mabel Reinecke as a member of the election commission.

Q.—Did you say to him in that conversation that you were inclined to think Mrs. Reinecke would make a good election commissioner and that her appointment would not be a bad one? A.—I said substantially that.

Q.—Yes. Now, you have a copy of the Daily News of March 20. When you said that to Mr. Case did you intend to lead him to believe that the appointment of Mrs. Reinecke would be satisfactory to the Daily News? A.—I had no thought of the Daily News in that matter. I had a thought only for the public interest.

He was then asked about the press time of the market edition of his paper. A copy of the Daily News market edition for June 20 was introduced and an article headed "Asks Court Oust Maguire from Election Board" was read into the record.

TWO ALLIED KANSAS BANKS CLOSE WHEN DEPOSITS DWINDLE

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Guarantee Title and Trust company and the Guarantee State bank, with liabilities aggregating $3,346,224, failed to open for business today. Standish Hall, president of both institutions, asked W. E. Koeneke, state bank commissioner, to take charge pending liquidation.

Uncertainty of the securities market and recent heavy withdrawals were given by Mr. Hall as reasons for the bank's closing. He said liquidation would be speedy and the loss would be borne by the stockholders.

PHONE FRANCHISE STILL AWAITING MAYOR'S ACTION

Ignores, It While Signing Minor Ordinance.

The fate of the telephone franchise, which was adopted by the city council last week by a vote of 37 to 9, still hung in the balance last night as Mayor Thompson signed a number of minor ordinances without taking any action on the telephone measure. The ordinances were signed by the mayor preparatory to leaving for Nantucket, Mass., where he has leased a house for the summer.

The franchise was discussed in a conference between the mayor and Corporation Counsel Ettelson. After the meeting the mayor stated that he had neither signed nor vetoed the ordinance, but that an assistant corporation counsel is working on a report on it.

Three Possible Courses.

Three courses are open to the mayor. He may either veto it, sign it, or not sign it. If he signs it, it will become effective immediately, and if he does not sign it the franchise will not be in force until after the next meeting of the council, on Nov. 5. The mayor's course is expected to be known soon, as he said in reply to a question that he will leave for the east "almost any day now."

The possibility of a veto has been discussed freely in city hall circles. One of the mayor's advisers, when asked "Will he sign it soon?" answered, "Not soon, if ever." The same adviser reported also that the mayor wants to be sure that this franchise will not deprive the city of any important rights.

The aldermen opposed to the franchise contend that the Illinois Bell Telephone company does not clearly assume the burden of paying the costs of the relocation of its equipment in the proposed subway. The cost is estimated at $500,000 a mile and the company was definitely obligated to pay it under its old franchise.

Terms of New Franchise.

In the new franchise the telephone company "agrees to enter into negotiations for and to become a party to any agreement or agreements between the city and the Insull companies" relative to the removal and relocation of the public utility equipment and agrees to perform the provisions of an ordinance which was accepted by the other companies.

Since the expiration of the old franchise in January, 1929, the company has held back compensation payments to the city which now total nearly $2,000,000. Attorneys for the company have stated that this money will be turned over to the city when the new franchise is in force.

MINISTER DECLARES DRY LAW ENDANGERS WELFARE OF NATION

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Charging that prohibition has weakened respect for law and increased immorality, the Rev. James Sheerin, Episcopal clergyman and writer, in an article in the Churchman, denounces all liquor restriction on the ground that it has jeopardized the welfare of the nation for the sake of saving a few drunkards.

Dr. Sheerin maintains that it would be far better to countenance the few who drink to excess and have society as a whole moral, law-abiding, and orderly, than to continue to "tolerate the present chaos for the sake of protecting the few for whom liquor is a menace."

"The drunkard, or the drinker in immediate danger of becoming a drunkard, is always the exception in any community," Dr. Sheerin declares.

NEGRO DROPPED BY WEST POINT; HAS BAD HEART

New York, Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Benton J. Brooks Jr., the third Negro appointed to West Point by Oscar De Priest, Negro representative from Chicago, was dropped from the military academy less than one week after he arrived there, it was learned today.

After studying five months in each of two colleges Brooks entered on an educational certificate, requiring no entrance examination in studies. He entered July 1, was sent to the hospital the following day, and July 6 was dismissed for a bad heart and high blood pressure after three examinations.

His departure leaves both West Point and Annapolis without a Negro, although De Priest, following one of his chief campaign pledges to "stick to it" until Negroes went to both academies, has sent three Negroes to West Point and has nominated six to the naval academy.

Only one was admitted to either academy. Alonzo Parham, after six months as a West Point cadet, failed in an algebra examination and dropped out.

EX-PUGILIST HELD AS BURGLAR.

Herbert Schaefer, 26 years old, former bantam weight pugilist, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $5,000 by Judge John A. Sbarbaro. Schaefer was captured in the act of breaking into a grocery at 2358 Cottage Grove avenue, police testified.

Wake up!

WHEN you feel sleepy and tired in the day time—when you haven't got any pep—do you know what's the matter with you? The long word for it is auto-intoxication, but the fact is you are doping yourself with your body's natural waste poisons.

These poisons will not hurt you if they are cleaned out naturally, easily and regularly. If you let them remain, however, you lose your pep, your complexion gets bad, your breath turns foul and you "feel rotten."

One important secret of good health lies in the way you get rid of these poisons. Doctors say that a natural lubrication method such as Nujol is the safest and best way. Colorless and tasteless as pure water, Nujol just gives your body the lubrication it needs like any other intricate machine.

If you have made up your mind to enjoy life, get yourself a bottle of crystal clear Nujol tonight, and join the millions who have discovered the natural way to health and happiness! You can be well, too!

Regular as Clockwork

Nujol is sold in all drug stores in sealed packages only, trade-marked "Nujol." Insist on Nujol by name.

Put up some fruit Now... when winter comes you'll be Glad

The low price of sugar today and abundance of fine fruit make home canning profitable.

CANNED fruit belongs in the diet of young and old. And when you have a wide variety on hand you can vary your menus in a pleasing way.

The present low price of sugar and the abundance of fine fruit now in market make home canning exceedingly profitable. Even though you put up only a few jars of preserves or glasses of jelly, you will feel well repaid next winter when you "help yourself" to those home-made products.

Pickles and relishes made of tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and watermelon rind are also delicious and easy to make. Their spicy, tart-sweet goodness is most welcome when meats and fish are served.

Don't let this summer go by without putting up some preserves, jellies and relishes. Your family will certainly thank you and you'll save money in the bargain. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

PROF. MERRIAM LOOKS AT GIANT CITIES' FUTURE

Sees Them Turning Into Separate States.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Political trends indicated by the new census figures were interpreted yesterday by Prof. Charles E. Merriam, head of the department of political science at the University of Chicago, a former alderman and one time candidate for mayor of Chicago.

He considers the growth of metropolitan regions such as Chicago one of the outstanding social phenomena of our time and one which will play an increasingly important part in national life.

"It is clear," he said, "that the future United States will be dominately urban. More than one-half of our population is already in the cities and the curve sweeps steadily upward in the same direction. In another generation, unless the rate or direction changes, two-thirds of the population of the United States will be urban."

Sees City-States in Future.

Prof. Merriam discusses the emergent urban group as a possible city-state of the future, pointing out an analogy in Germany today, where there is a strong movement of this kind, with Bremen and Hamburg already city-states and Berlin, Cologne and Frankfurt moving this way and clamoring for representation in the upper house.

Taking the figures for Chicago and suburbs, it is found that 1,298,247 Chicagoans live outside the city.

"This means between 450,000 and 500,000 voters," said Prof. Merriam. "The motorization and the standard of prosperity which sent them out there indicates that they are the more intelligent class of voters, although they do not all vote. If this keeps up we may have more Chicagoans living outside the city than in it. The city is being bled white politically. This is one of the most serious problems that must be met.

Three Possible Solutions.

"There are three ways to overcome this. The first, and most natural, is annexation. The next is a sort of federation, or borough system, such as New York has, with certain functions, such as police and courts, water, transportation, federalized and other functions of government left to district home rule. The third way out is the city-state. That appeals to the imagination, at least. I would not want to say that it is on the way, but no one can tell what the next quarter of a century may bring forth.

"It is probable that in the near future there will be heard a strong plea for the organization of certain metropolitan regions as independent states. It would be interesting to observe the fortunes of the state of Chicago or the state of New York.

"Such an experiment would give adequate scope for the development of metropolitan regional planning, constructive recreational policies, preventive police functions, and for the development of a metropolitan system of jurisprudence.

Problem of Leadership.

"Can the cities produce and utilize effective political leadership, and can they assume the guidance of our political destinies? On the answer to this depends the future of America, the future of democracy, and perhaps of western civilization itself.

"There are striking examples of urban leaders in the persons of Theodore Roosevelt of New York and Grover Cleveland of Buffalo.

"Metropolitan Chicago extends into four different states, includes fifteen counties and an innumerable array of cities, villages, towns, and districts. In this region, which we construe as fifty miles from State and Madison streets, there are 1,800 independent governing agencies. It is conservatively estimated that the population of the Chicago area in 1950 will approach eight million.

"The cities have been harshly treated and have been refused adequate representation in the common councils of the state. In Illinois, Chicago has still the same number of representatives in the legislature of 1930 as in 1900, and that, too, in spite of a perfectly plain constitutional provision which is biennially nullified.

"There is today on the statutes of Illinois a measure giving specific authority to the city of Chicago to license the selling of peanuts and popcorn on the municipal pier, and the checking of coats and hats.

"States have power of life and death over cities but have not been willing to assume paternal responsibilities.

"I had a report recently from an investigator who went about the Illinois countryside seeking the sentiment of the people toward Chicago. I think they would not be averse to letting Chicago form a new state. Chicago has been a lot of trouble to them and their ways are not her ways.

"The only legal action necessary would be the consent of the legislature and of congress. There is a provision in the constitution permitting states to divide.

"Seventeen states have a population of less than a million each. Two states have a population equal to that of twenty. Three states pay half of the United States income tax. Thirteen states, with a population of 5,000,000, could block a constitutional amendment. The 18th amendment illustrates some of the political problems encountered in such situations.

Task of Readjustment.

"It seems probable that we shall face the task of readjusting the representation and position of the states in the federal union. The immediate pressure of urban situations, responsible control by an urbanized opinion, the presence of experts who are technically competent, the availability of adequate financial resources, constitute conditions favorable to the city-state experiment.

"There would be no guaranty of the political millennium, but there would be this advantage: Responsibility would be definitely fixed and the chief loser, if any, would be the city itself.

"The balance of power between central and local authority—a recurring problem in politics—might be aided by utilizing the weight of the urban communities against that of the central government; and cities would perhaps be more effective than states in maintaining the balance between center and circumference.

Problem of City Rule.

"The administrative supervision of cities might be more effectively accomplished by the United States government than by the state of which cities are now a part. New York and Illinois are not strong enough to supervise New York City and Chicago, and the difficulty will be increasingly greater if the present trend of population continues.

"Minimum standards of police and health administration are admittedly desirable but unattainable under the system of voluntary coöperation or state supervision. The criminal organizations now operating in Chicago and New York have no state lines to hold them.

"One may say that it will prove extremely difficult to alter the established lines of the present states, and that nothing short of some great crisis can bring this about. This may well be, but it will prove just as difficult on the other hand to hold industrial influence and power within the outgrown lines of state organization. It will prove difficult to gerrymander public opinion, and hold it within the boundaries of state lines, or to retain propaganda and pressure groups within the boundaries of the older states."

Reapportionment in Congress Certain to Cause Lively Fight at Next Session

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—A hard fought battle over reapportionment in congress next winter is seen as a foregone certainty following the complete tabulation yesterday of unofficial census and probable reapportionment figures for each of the states and the entire country.

At stake in the struggle will be prizes of the utmost value to members of congress themselves—seats in the house of representatives—as well as the number of votes in the lower body to be controlled by the various states and sections.

Two factors make a reapportionment contest almost inevitable. First, a law now in effect forces congress before next March 4 either to pass a reapportionment bill based on the 1930 census or to step aside and permit automatic reapportionment under the so-called "major fractions" system. Should a deadlock ensue and no bill be enacted the house on March 4 will be reapportioned according to major fractions notices sent from the clerk of the house to state governors.

Because of California's gain of 9 seats the western states would be chief beneficiaries, gaining ten seats and losing none, while the middle west would sustain the heaviest loss, losing 12 and gaining only 4, a net loss of 8. The east would gain 7 and lose 4, and the south would gain 5 and lose 11.

In the past, members of congress from states winning seats have naturally favored reapportionment while others have fought it. In the next congress, however, with reapportionment in some form guaranteed, the battle will center upon the calculating system to be employed, with the larger states favoring the major fractions system and the smaller states seeking another plan. Members from Illinois and other states with population gains but no extra seats under the major fractions system are likely to line up for an alternate plan.

Under the law now in effect the total house membership will remain 435. This cannot be changed, and therefore the simple scheme of boosting the membership so that no state will lose members is impossible. The major fractions method was first used in 1840 and again in 1910, when the last reapportionment was made.

Its procedure, briefly, is as follows: Each state is at first assigned one member, which disposes of forty-eight seats. This leaves 387 seats to be filled. The population of the several states is divided successively by 1.5, 2.5, 3.5 and so on. The quotients then are set down in a series according to size. The state with the largest quotient gets the 49th seat; the state with the second largest quotient the 50th, and so on until the 387 seats are gone.

Applied to the preliminary populations, the method gives New York the 49th seat; Illinois the 50th; New York the 51st; Ohio the 52d; Texas the 53d; California the 54th; New York the 55th; Michigan the 56th; Illinois the 57th; and Massachusetts the 58th. Arizona would get the 386th and Oklahoma the 387th.

Other systems of calculating reapportionment have been widely discussed. The one known as the equal proportions method is favored by most of the census bureau and other mathematical experts. As it would be more advantageous to the smaller states it probably will be incorporated in a bill in next winter's controversy.

Wife of Police Captain Undergoes an Operation

Mrs. Agnes Ryan, 1215 Carmen avenue, wife of Capt. John Ryan of the detective bureau, was operated on at the Edgewater hospital yesterday in an effort to save her sight. Dr. Samuel N. Edison, who performed the operation, said the outcome of the operation could not be determined for two days. Mrs. Ryan, who is 35 years old, has been gradually losing her sight for several years.

Dress Company President Jailed on Alimony Charge

Oscar C. Igney, president of the Estelle Dress company, 2600 North Western avenue, was sentenced to six months in jail for nonpayment of alimony yesterday by Superior Judge Gentzel. Igney, according to Attorney Joseph Z. Willner, representing Mrs. Eva Igney, is $525 in arrears in his temporary alimony payments which Superior Judge Sabath ordered him to make on May 1.

20 Belgians Hurt by Sabers in French Textile Strike Riot

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 6. — Twenty Belgian sympathizers with the French textile strike were injured when police with sabers charged rioters in the town of Menin, on the Belgian side of the frontier. Fifteen hundred attacked a small police force which ordered them to disperse. Reserves were called out and a serious clash ensued when rioters resisted cavalry charges.

BANKING HOUSE FACES PROBLEM IN CAR MERGER

Halsey, Stuart & Co. Holds Fate of Plan.

Co. in the same period was the forming syndicate for $1,742,158,000 in bonds, the National City company was syndicate leaders for $1,711,060,000; Harris, Forbes & Co. for $1,583,367,000; Kuhn Loeb & Co. for $1,340,915,000, and Dillon Read & Co. for $1,268,159,000. All of these and others participated in issues which totaled more billions. All this relates only to new issues and gives no tangible measure of the amount of business done in issues outstanding.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. underwrite bonds of various kinds of business. They have done some newspaper and publication financing. One of their first was the underwriting in 1922 of the Minnesota Tribune company for $2,500,000. Those were 6½ per cent bonds due in 1942.

Other Newspaper Financing.

Next came a $12,000,000 bond issue of the Hearst Publications, Inc., in 1924. These were first mortgage and collateral trust bonds bearing 6½ per cent.

In 1925 Halsey, Stuart & Co. purchased $8,000,000 of bonds of the Chicago Daily News, Inc. These are debentures running for 10 years and paying 6 per cent.

In 1926, $3,000,000 five year notes of the Chicago Evening American [Evening American Publishing company] were purchased. These bear 6 per cent interest.

In the following year, 1927, Hearst Publications, Inc., came forward with another bond issue, this time for $20,000,000. These were made first mortgage and collateral trust bonds, but the rate was slipped down to 6¼ per cent. Part of the proceeds of these bonds were utilized to retire the $12,000,000 issue put out in 1924.

Another Hearst Issue.

In this same year Hearst Magazines, Inc., also sold to Halsey, Stuart & Co. $10,000,000 in 6 per cent serial debentures.

Also in the next year, 1928, two Hearst newspapers availed themselves of the services of Halsey, Stuart & Co. as underwriters. In that year the Detroit Times issued $2,500,000 in 6 per cent debentures and the Omaha Bee News issued the same amount of debentures at the same interest rate.

Last March the Illinois Publishing and Printing company [Herald and Examiner] issued $6,000,000 in debenture bonds at 6½ per cent. These, too, were handled by Halsey, Stuart & Co.

This firm has also underwritten gold notes for the Butterick company and bonds for the Butterick Publishing company and debentures for the Memphis Commercial Appeal, Inc.

Clientele Is Widespread.

It is apparent that Halsey-Stuart's clientele is widespread and numerous, which testifies to its ability and reputation.

In its effort to consolidate the surface and elevated lines within 120 days, however, Halsey, Stuart & Co. may encounter an obstacle in the political views of the aldermen, if the merger is tardy. The most important thing in the world to the average councilman is his own political future, and few of them dislike to do anything for anybody which may dim their prospects.

Nearly all of them believe that a merger of the transportation lines will aid them politically, and in private some assert they will not stand for delay. A few criticise the companies for the failure to make more progress toward consolidation before the franchise ordinance was passed. If there happens to be a special meeting of the city council before the regular meeting Nov. 4, it is not improbable that some of the aldermen will make speeches on the consolidation.

In the meantime Halsey, Stuart & Co. has the transit merger in its lap.

WIVES OF IMPRISONED DRY LAW VIOLATORS WINNING IDAHO VOTE

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two women whose husbands are serving prison sentences for violating the federal prohibition laws appeared today to have been nominated to succeed their imprisoned mates in county offices here.

On the face of primary election returns Mrs. R. E. Weniger, wife of the former county sheriff, received the Democratic nomination to succeed her husband. Mrs. W. H. Herrick, wife of the former county assessor, won the Republican nomination for assessor, registering a large plurality over the Democratic candidates.

Herrick and Weniger asserted the town was "wet" in sentiment and that the system of collecting fines saved the municipality from financial difficulty.

DRY AGENT KILLS NEGRO IN TEXAS RAID ON HOME

Texarkana, Tex., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Ernest G. Wells, federal prohibition agent, today shot and killed Herbert Richardson, Negro, during a liquor raid in a Negro residence. He alleged self-defense.

Wells said he saw Richardson quarreling with Jack E. Harrington, another agent, and intervened. Richardson dropped behind another Negro and pointed a gun directly at the agent, he said. After aiming first at the Negro's gun, Wells said, he then shot to kill.

Bee Cowen of Beaumont, deputy prohibition administrator, exhibited a loaded pistol which he said had been taken from the Negro's body.

Two white women, a white man and several Negro men and women were arrested and a quantity of beer and whisky seized in the raids today.

WOMEN DEMAND PARITY, EVEN IN SEDUCTION LAW

found that such instances usually involve the older married woman and the young boy. Unfortunately, one cannot make the moral damage done a boy's character grounds for prosecution, as ought basically to be the case. But there would be few prosecutions under such a statute, I feel, unless perhaps parents sought redress for disease transmitted."

"We women want and seek equality in all things with men. We want the right to be able to go where we will, when we will, without being convicted by circumstantial evidence of being less than decent. No two of we four could go unescorted into a cabaret anywhere in town at a late hour, without having that action make us seem to men who were to inclined as women who could be approached. That isn't fair.

"Many men regard it as their inherent right to be promiscuous, but they never will grant women the same right—no matter what they try to make us believe. Now, my point is that women should have every right men have, even unto this degree, and please understand I am not advocating immorality in any one at any time.

"But if women accepted such a right as theirs, what would become of the race? Therefore we have to have such laws as our present statute, to afford protection to women, which is not so necessary for boys.

"But, theoretically, I am quite as willing to protect boys as girls, and I believe that revision of this law to make women liable to trial would be a just move."

Miss Matilda Fenberg, assistant corporation counsel of Chicago and an attorney of several years' experience in criminal cases, was dubious of any male's need for protection.

"Really," she laughed, "I think all the dear boys of this day and age are quite capable of taking care of themselves. However, we can't fail to recognize the gold digger as a definite type, with all her devious ways of acquiring a wealthy husband or provider. More, as a matter of justice for all than because there is the need for it, I would say that there should be a legal way to punish women who transgress in such a way."

Miss Zita Stone, secretary of the Women's Bar association, concurred in the foregoing sentiment, though a bit grudgingly.

"It's always been a man's world," she declared, "and women have a hard enough time of it—why bother about protecting the men? There are few boys anywhere today, small towns not excepted, that aren't pretty wise in the ways of the world. I doubt whether such a law, if passed, would be invoked more than once or twice, but you can't get around the fact that it probably ought to be there, just in case."

Up to the Legislature.

The proposed revision of the criminal code of the state is being advocated by the Illinois and Cook county judicial advisory councils, and will, it is claimed, place the state far in advance of others in criminal law. It will be taken up before the state legislature in January.

So that some time subsequent to that date it is conceivable that a sitting judge in Cook county may look down from his bench upon a modern Adam and listen to a plaint that first echoed among the trees in the Garden of Eden:

"The woman gave me the apple, and I did eat."

Start Bankrupt Action Against Woman Broker

Mrs. Hilda Schroeder, mortgage broker with offices at 10 North Clark street, who recently was charged in state warrants with larceny as bailee and embezzlement of some $400,000, was named in an involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed in the federal court yesterday. Attorney Joseph O'Connell, representing the creditors, stated that Mrs. Schroeder's liabilities would exceed $500,000. She is alleged to have sold real estate mortgages to her clients, giving them receipts, but nothing else.

GRANDDAUGHTER OF "JOE" CANNON IN PARIS DIVORCE

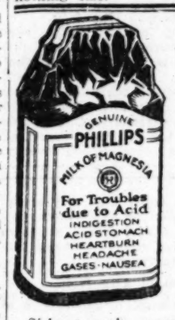
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 6.—Dorsey Richardson, formerly secretary at the American embassy, was divorced today by Helen Cannon Le Seure, formerly of Danville, Ill.

Mrs. Richardson, who is a granddaughter of the late "Uncle Joe" Cannon, long time speaker of the house of representatives, was married at St. Margaret's, Westminster, London, Sept. 28, 1923. Before her marriage Mrs. Richardson was a popular debutante in Washington society.

Mr. Richardson at the time of his marriage was director general in Europe of the United States shipping lines. He served with the American army two years during the war and was an American delegate to the preliminary disarmament conference at Geneva.



Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

CREWS' STORIES ON COAST GUARD KILLING DIFFER

Warning Shots Asserted and Denied.

Salisbury Beach, Mass., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Conflicting stories of what happened Monday night off Ipswich when one coast guard rum patrol boat fired upon another, killing a coast guardsman, were heard by a board of inquiry today.

The surviving member of one boat and the two members of the crew of the other failed to agree as to the number of warning shots fired before a burst of machine gun fire took the life of Chief Boatswain's Mate Louis A. Pratt of the Plum Island station.

Surfman Cleo Falkingham, Pratt's companion, said he heard only one shot, apparently a rifle shot. Chief Machinist's Mate Hugh Olmstead and Fireman Clifford Hudder of the Gloucester station, who manned the other boat, said seven warning shots were fired from a pistol, and when the apparent rum runner turned as if to flee the machine gun was brought into play.

Report to Go to Washington.

The board, headed by Commander S. R. Sands of Portsmouth, N. H., went into conference to make an immediate finding at the end of the hearing, which will be forwarded to Boston and thence to Washington.

Falkingham told how he and Pratt set out to go to the aid of a motor boat, reported afire, and that they sighted a dim light, like that of a worn-out flashlight, straight ahead. They heard a sound like a rifle shot, he said, and almost immediately afterward the rattle of machine gun fire.

Their power surfboat, he said, had been running without an ensign because it was not on boarding duty. Pratt, he said, had the only light aboard—a flashlight—and he said there was not time between the warning shot and machine gun fire to illuminate their insignia.

Thought It Rum Runner.

They turned to get away, thinking the other craft a rum runner, he said. Pratt was crouched low under the hood. A bullet struck and mortally wounded him.

Olmstead testified that his own boat had regulation lights with the searchlight playing on the coast guard ensign. He said he saw no marks of identification on the other boat and ordered Hudder to fire seven shots.

The shots were fired with a pistol across the other boat's bow, he said, because he wanted the other boat to come alongside so he could board her. He then said he heard a voice apparently saying "Give it to her," and the other boat then turned.

He then ordered the machine gun turned on her. He fired two flares to attract the help of other patrol boats in the vicinity. An attempt to chase the other boat, he added, had to be given up because of engine trouble.

LOCKS THREE IN BANK, THREATENS BLAST TO RECOVER FARM

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Charles Beggs, 65, a farmer, was held in the Cass county jail in Virginia today on charges of holding three men prisoners in a locked room of the Skiles-Rearick bank in Ashland for an hour and a half under threat of dynamiting the place.

The alleged threat resulted, it was said, from financial troubles. Beggs went into bankruptcy court in March, 1929, and his farm was sold to Lloyd and Harry Stribling of Ashland at a foreclosure sale. Beggs declared he was cheated and arranged a meeting with the Striblings and James Wyatt, cashier of the bank, who had charge of the sale.

The party met in the directors' room. After locking the door, Beggs, the other members of the conference said, revealed ten sticks of dynamite, a battery, and a cap. He threatened, they said, to explode the dynamite unless his demands were granted.

Finally, while he was pushing one of the men from the door, another grabbed his arm and he was overpowered.

HAILS 'FRIEND' TO HAVE DRINK; HE'S DRY AGENT

Until yesterday Peter Emeringer never forgot a friend, and when a man who looked to him like a friend named Bill passed by, Peter leaned out of a second story window at 1340 West Madison street to offer him a drink.

Being a prohibition agent, James Kominakis felt no scruples about accepting the offer, although it was evident Emeringer was mistaken in calling him "Bill." "It certainly is good to see you again, Bill," said Emeringer. "Take along a bottle." The dry agent obliged.

He returned with a raiding squad and a warrant. Emeringer was arrested as the operator of a beer flat.

RUM RUNNERS, PURSUED, BEACH CRAFT; BURN IT

New London, Conn., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Deserted by her crew after running the gantlet of machine gun fire from a coast guard patrol boat, the speed boat Estelle of New York, blackened by fire and her liquor cargo ruined, was beached tonight at Gardiner's Bay as efforts were being made to establish her ownership.

The craft was run ashore and set afire by her crew last night after it had failed to outdistance a coast guard patrol boat in a two hour race. Because the fire had wrecked the vessel, Commander L. T. Chalker, chief of staff of the destroyer force, said today the value of the liquor aboard her could not be estimated.

Machine gun fire was resorted to by the patrol boat after a one pound shell fired across the bow had failed to stop the Estelle. When signaled to stop the rum boat instead put on full speed. Although unable to overtake her, the patrol boat succeeded in keeping the Estelle in sight until the speed boat was suddenly headed shoreward.

The rum boat's crew escaped after beaching the craft and cutting her gasoline line to make her destruction by fire easier. When the coast guardsmen reached the scene the Estelle was a mass of flames.

POLICEMEN MAY LOSE $500 GIVEN WOUNDED WOMAN

Two policemen, Thomas J. Durkin and Joseph Glennon, stand to lose $500 as the result of a ruling given yesterday by Corporation Counsel Ettelson on their request to the city for a refund of that amount of money. The policemen paid the money for hospital bills and doctors' fees to Miss Catherine Corcoran, 500 West 45th place, who was wounded by a bullet during a revolver battle between the policemen and bandits.

Stabbed During Quarrel; Says He Is Policeman

William Lahey, 35 years old, who identified himself as a Chicago policeman living at 2437 West Van Buren street, was in a serious condition in the Victory Memorial hospital in Waukegan, early today suffering from several stab wounds believed to have been received during a free-for-all fight at a cottage near Fox lake. He was taken to the hospital by four men, who said they found him on the roadside near the home of Merrill Watkins, who is also said to be a Chicagoan.

HANGS SELF IN BATHROOM.

RENOUNCES WILL FOR $40,000 IN DOWER RIGHT

Mrs. Anna B. Kramer of Elgin yesterday exercised her dower right and renounced the will of her husband, Attorney Rutherford H. Kramer, who left his $112,000 estate in trust. She will receive approximately $40,000 as dower. The will left the estate in trust providing that the income be divided equally among the widow and four children. It provided that the principal be divided equally when the youngest children, twins, now 2 years old, reach the age of 30. Attorney Kramer died Aug. 22, 1929.

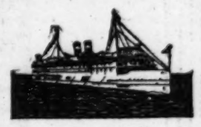
VERY IMPORTANT

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES operate from the head of Lake Superior, via the St. Lawrence River, to the Saguenay. Their cruises include the seven day trip from Detroit to Duluth and return; Niagara to the Saguenay, including the Thousand Islands and shooting the rapids; excursions from Toronto, the Queen City, to Niagara, the Thousand Islands and Rochester. They operate a fleet of 106 steamers, freight and passenger, and are the largest fresh water transportation company in the world. The famous Saguenay trip includes visits to Montreal, metropolis of Canada; Quebec, the historic walled city; Murray Bay, "Newport of the North" and Tadoussac, Canada's oldest settlement. The Saguenay Canyon is one of nature's masterpieces.

Our steamers may be boarded at Lewiston, Rochester, Duluth or Detroit in the U.S.A., or Sarnia, Queenston, Toronto, Montreal or Quebec in Canada.



HAVE you ever seen a genuine camera-shy "Mountie" in a smart red tunic? You will probably run across one or two of this famous corps as you journey through French Canada. This lower St. Lawrence country—the cradle of Canadian history—is brimful of new and interesting sights.

The habitant woman spinning at her door-step, or baking huge loaves in an outdoor oven, the woodsman shouldering his axe and striding along in soft moccasins, the little boys driving their big dogs at a gallop in home-made carts—these are part of the delightful, simple life of French Canada's beloved habitants.

Our large modern steamers ply from Niagara, via the St. Lawrence river to the distant Saguenay. Air that stirs the blood like a bugle call, the grandeur of mountain scenery, new congenial friends—all go to make up a memorable vacation cruise, as delightful as a trip abroad.

Please write at once for illustrated folder, which describes in detail the pleasures of this wonderful vacation cruise.

Who wants to "do dishes" in the heat of August?

August days—hot days, vacation days, are an especially appropriate time to free yourself from hand dishwashing drudgery forever. Who wants to put hands in hot greasy dishwater when the thermometer's climbing close to the century mark? Who wants to ruin a good disposition over a steaming dishpan when there are so many places to go and so many things more pleasant to do than wash dishes?

Just stack dirty dishes out of the way and out of sight for once-a-day dishwashing at the most convenient time of the day, and enjoy three to four hours more leisure weekly with a

TWO KILLERS ASK CHANGE OF VENUE FROM 13 JUDGES

Six Insanity Petitions Offer Law Tangle.

Insanity petitions affecting the lives of six Negroes, three of them now under death sentences, furnished several legal problems yesterday in the Criminal court. Lafon Fisher was found to be sane by a jury—sane enough to be electrocuted Aug. 22. His two companions in a murder, Leon Brown and Leonard Shadlow, have filed a similar insanity petition to escape the electric chair, which comes up for hearing today, and their attorneys have filed a plea for a change of venue from all of fourteen judges now sitting except Judge Joseph B. David. Judge Walter P. Steffen will decide today if a change of venue can be taken from thirteen judges.

Judge David, who decided to sit in the Criminal court voluntarily after he had defied the executive committee of the Superior court to assign him to criminal cases, had an insanity petition of a somewhat similar nature before him yesterday. J. Frank Maynard, also colored, was the petitioner, and he wanted to be sent to an insane asylum instead of being put on trial for the murder of Mrs. Julia Hawkins, colored, on June 30.

Affects Other Defendants.

Assistant State's Attorneys Walker Butler and Euclid Taylor on Monday filed a petition for a change of venue in Maynard's case from Judge David, and he promptly fined them $25 each for contempt. They objected to having Judge David hear the case because last Thursday Judge David said Maynard was insane and ought to be sent back to the asylum in Elgin, where he was once confined.

Privately the prosecutors said they objected to the sanity trial for Maynard because the conviction of William H. A. Moore, Negro poet, and Sylvester W. Springer, well known Negro insurance salesman, as accomplices, depends on being able to introduce Maynard's confession. The woman was killed after Maynard, a law student, induced her to sign a document which was a deed for a $10,000 building, made out in his name. He also had her sign a will making him her sole beneficiary, Prosecutor Butler said, although Mrs. Hawkins' husband was alive.

Judge His Former Instructor.

"Where did you ever study law?" Judge David asked Butler when the petition for a change of venue was presented.

"You taught me 15 years ago in Loyola university," Butler replied.

"Well, you ought to know the state has no right to a change of venue," was the reply. "If a judge isn't fit to try a case for the state he ought to be removed."

The case was ordered to trial yesterday before Judge David, and three alienists pronounced Maynard sane. Then the state had a surprise witness, Andrew Torrence, colored, and a fellow member of the Appomatox club with Maynard. Torrence testified that Maynord discussed with him the advisability of claiming to be insane. Maynard claimed to be part Indian and said his parents put him in an asylum in order to get some government land that should have gone to him, Torrence stated. When asked his own opinion as to whether Maynard is sane or insane, Torrence finally said "sane," after appealing to the judge.

Then Maynard's lawyers withdrew their petition.

"What about the fines imposed on the prosecutors?" newspaper men wanted to know.

"If you men will admit you were wrong I'll remit the fines," Judge David said to Butler and Taylor. "Otherwise you can go to the Appellate court and find out."

"I believe it is worth a test in the upper courts," Butler said out of court, without any final answer having been given. "The defendant is always entitled to a change of venue on a mere petition. There is no law prohibiting the state from the same action, but there is no precedent. In civil cases the law is that a corporation may obtain a change of venue through the petition of one of its officers. The state of Illinois is a corporation and I am one of its officers. Insanity petitions are civil rather than criminal matters, and if we could get a decision in a civil case perhaps we could get a similar ruling in a criminal case. Some new law may be made if we decide to appeal."

Tree Sitter Falls to Death When Near His Goal

Ashland, Ky., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A fall that cost him his life ended Nelson McIntosh's tree sitting here today, after he had been up 496 hours. The lad, who is 16 years old, slipped as he leaned forward to pull up his lunch and toppled 45 feet to the ground. He died several hours later. Young McIntosh had announced he would come down at 4 p. m. today after 500 hours in the tree.

KEEHN'S STAFF PLANS CAMP'S SOCIAL EVENTS

I. N. G. Will Entertain Many Visitors.

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Headquarters of the 33d division hummed with activity today as preparations were made for social affairs which will celebrate the arrival of distinguished visitors over the week-end. The staff of Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn has prepared a program which includes formal dinners, luncheons, teas, a horse show, polo games and athletic events.

Meanwhile, commanding officers of the various units of the Illinois National Guard were busy drilling the 10,000 troops so that a number of reviews and parades may be presented while the visitors are here. This annual encampment of the Illinois National Guard began last Saturday and will continue until Aug. 16.

Parker Arrives Tomorrow.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps area, will arrive at the camp Friday. After witnessing a military demonstration in imitation of actual warfare presented by the 66th infantry brigade composed of the 131st and 132d regiments, commanded by Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, Gen. Parker will speak before the assembled officers and discuss the maneuvers.

Sunday morning Gov. Emmerson will arrive. Athletic games, boxing contests, and a parade in the morning will be followed by luncheon attended by many officers and their wives. Gov. Emmerson will speak in the afternoon at the Bell Bowl. A horse show by the 106th cavalry, led by Col. Walter J. Fisher, will follow and in the evening the usual social gatherings will be held.

Many Dinners Planned.

Gov. Emmerson is expected to make the camp an unofficial headquarters for a few days and many dinners and luncheons have been planned. A polo team picked from the National Guard and led by Maj. Frank Bering will play the Rockford Riding club team at the latter's field.

The lighter side of camp activities will culminate on Governor's day, Aug. 14, when a number of guests and their wives, including Senators Charles S. Deneen and Otis Glenn, former Govs. Edward F. Dunne, Frank O. Lowden, and Len Small and Congressman Richard Yates, are expected. Gov. Emmerson will make another address on that day.

To Give Aerial Exhibition.

One of the high lights of the week will be an aerial exhibition given by the seven National Guard planes, with Maj. Merrill D. Mann, 108th observation squadron leader, in the lead, as part of the Mauh-Nah-Tee-See Country club's Sammy Mandell stag party next Wednesday.

The pressure of social doings will be so great that an announcement was made today that the annual Daughter of the Revolution day must be canceled this year.

Britain and Rumania Sign Trade and Navigation Pact

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—A treaty of commerce and navigation between Great Britain and Rumania was signed at the foreign office today. It provides important advantages to British trade. Pending ratification the treaty will become in force provisionally tomorrow.

HUDSON

World's Largest Selling EIGHT

is a Proved Eight

In France

Against 87 cars from every country, Hudson's Great Eight made a perfect score in the 9-day Tour de France, most celebrated of the annual tests on the European Continent, and was awarded the coveted Ansaldo Cup.

In Poland

Three Hudson Great Eight cars finished equal first in the important annual International 8-Day Reliability Trial sponsored by the Polish Automobile Club—a victory over the largest field ever entered. It gave Hudson the City of Warsaw Trophy, the Silver Cup, the Bronze Cup, the Automobile Club Cup and a cup offered by the Vacuum Oil Company—in addition to three gold badges for outstanding performances in speed, endurance, reliability, acceleration, hill-climbing, brakes and economy.

In California

With nearly all makes submitting bids, Hudson's Great Eight with 100% score overwhelmed all competition in tests conducted in the purchase of cars for the Department of Highway Control for the State of California.

And Throughout the United States

In a 7-day non-stop motor run in a nation-wide test, 25 stock cars ran a total of 124,750 miles with an average gasoline consumption of 14.585 miles per gallon. The top speed exceeded 80 miles per hour. Trials covered every possible test of speed over measured miles, inter-city running, long distances, reliability and economy. One car in Kansas covered 7,033 miles, one in and near Philadelphia 7,017—better than 1000 miles a day. Average distance for all cars was 4,990 miles.

*Sales Prove It

Registrations officially recorded by every state in the Union show that for this year more Hudson Eights have been delivered to consumers than any other Eight in the world.

Thus, by official tests, by tests of individual owners and by public acceptance, Hudson is a proved Eight.

The trend is to Eights, and Hudson out-sells all other Eights. It has every advantage of a motor car that you seek—in good looks, in performance, in reliability, economy and low costs.

Come ride in it, even though you have no idea of buying.

THE BETRAYAL OF THE STRAPHANGERS.

The special election at which the new traction franchise was approved overwhelmingly by the voters was held on July 1. The voters have done their part. The owners and creditors of the elevated and surface lines have not done theirs.

The new franchise is to be granted to a company which will take over the properties of the existing surface and elevated lines. When that has been done the new company can expect to obtain additional money with which to build extensions and buy new equipment as required in the ordinance; meanwhile no considerable progress toward an improvement of Chicago's transportation services is at all probable, if only because the credit of a company still in embryo will not supply the needed funds.

Shortly after the referendum, spokesmen for the companies told at some length of undertakings to be carried through by them while the new company was being organized. A reëxamination of the list discloses that few if any of the projects now in hand owe anything to the approval of the ordinance. They might have been undertaken by the surface or elevated lines if there had been no new franchise.

The public is under no illusions in the matter. The fact is that the directing heads of the companies and the spokesmen for the various groups of security holders are evading a simple and direct responsibility which rests upon them. Many of the groups of investors have been organized for years. The problem before the holders of the various securities is to fix the terms on which they will be exchanged for securities in the new company. Until that is done, nothing of any considerable importance by way of improving Chicago's local transportation is to be expected, whatever the statements and declarations of company officials may suggest to the contrary.

The work of reorganization has been considerably simplified by the enactment of the ordinance. There is no question of the valuations at which the companies are to come in; that is all settled. Neither is there any question of the past earning power of the properties concerned. That is a matter of record. With these questions out of the way, a reasonable amount of candor and good faith on the part of the negotiators should have been sufficient to bring about a settlement by this time.

The public is growing impatient at the delay, and properly so. The present opportunity to borrow cheaply and build cheaply may not be duplicated for many years. The security holders are allowing the opportunity to escape and in addition are building up a fund of public distrust and ill will which may prove even more costly.

OVERPRODUCTION AND UNDERPRODUCTION.

We are hearing a good deal these days of overproduction. It is the scapegoat of all our present economic sorrows. We know there has been overproduction and are informed it is world-wide. That it exists in many industries, most conspicuously in agriculture, will not be denied. But we might give a little more consideration to underproduction. That, too, is conspicuous, if we do not shut our eyes to it, and that, too, is world-wide.

There is in our own lavish land an underproduction of modern roads. To provide the United States with an adequate system even of radial roads for the main centers of population and trunk lines would call for an enormous use of labor and material, an enormous increase of production. There is underproduction in waterway improvements. There is an underproduction of modern housing in many communities. There is underproduction of electrified terminals, at least in Chicago. All of this production is economically and socially constructive, wealth making and efficiency making, to say nothing of its impalpable yet precious dividends to individual happiness and social welfare.

There is ample labor and capital, in this country at least, to provide us with these betterments. We would serve ourselves by giving more thought to them. We are now suffering, we think, even more from psychic depression than economic reaction. That we have serious economic adjustments to make no sensible observer will deny, but first of all we ought to buck up our morale and take account of the opportunities for enterprise in the present situation. Last year we were seeing or talking of nothing else. Last year we were being exhorted to take a constructive attitude. It would pay us well to take that attitude now.

THE BAR AND THE CONSTITUTION.

The vigorous protest of the committee on American citizenship of the American Bar association against the farm relief act may perhaps be welcomed as an awakening of the legal fraternity to its responsibility as guardian of the constitution. Doubtless the suggestion that the awakening is a bit tardy would seem ungracious, though it is obvious enough that a pronouncement against the law would have been more timely if it had been made while congress was in deliberation. But we are even more inclined to regret that the bar association, whose committee on citizenship is taking the farm act as a grave breach of constitutional principle, should have been so long silent upon the much greater and more demoralizing departure represented by the prohibition experiment.

If the farm act is contrary to the spirit and principle of our constitutional system, what of the eighteenth amendment, which any lawyer knows is a radical departure from the basic theory of the federal constitution, imposing upon the central government police duties hitherto reserved to the states, imposing upon the nation a uniform rule which disregards the variety of social character and tradition which our constitutional system had jealously respected, and in other respects altering the fundamental objects and functions of our American political system?

We do not deny that the warning against the tendency to rely too much upon government, upon legislation and political administration for the solution of economic ills is most timely and desirable. On the contrary, aside from the legal questions of constitutionality raised by the committee against the farm act, we think the protest is both. But inasmuch as the American Bar association has refused repeatedly to express an opinion upon the constitutionalism of prohibition and is only now gingerly approaching it and timidly inquiring whether its membership is willing to express an opinion upon it, the ardent championship of constitutionalism in the matter of farm relief is a little surprising. Does it suggest that the present generation of lawyers is more concerned for the fate of property than for those principles of our constitution which safeguard civil rights and which so dispose of the powers and responsibilities of government as to protect local self-government and individual liberty of conscience?

BRIDGES AND GRADE SEPARATION.

When the war department, in its jealous guardianship of the freedom of navigation, insists upon the right of tugboats, sand scows, and what have you to pass through the score of bridges which carry our millions of workers to and from the central district, it is not only blocking transportation and imposing a heavy economic loss upon a great community. It is ignoring a natural traffic grade separation. This grade separation we have been developing year by year so far as land thoroughfares of all kinds are concerned. It is accomplished by elevated lines and by the elevation of railroad rights of way and the elevation or depression of crossings, by the planning for subways and for superhighways, as well as by the construction of two-level crossings at important points in Lincoln park and the south parks, already in use.

Grade separation is, in fact, a principle of thoroughfare development which is fully accepted as an essential of modern traffic efficiency. In great centers like Chicago it is the most important factor at this stage of modernization. Insistence upon bridge opening in defiance of transportation efficiency is insistence upon a one grade system of traffic which belongs to a past age as obviously as an ox cart.

AGROUND AT CAIRO.

Under the caption "The Other Side" we reprint this morning from the Detroit News an editorial entitled "Ole Man River." It is an interesting document.

THE TRIBUNE had cited the stage of the river at Quincy merely by way of showing how serious the situation in the Mississippi is. We might have mentioned any other point on the stream and it would have served as well. News dispatches have reported barges aground at Cairo because of low water. Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, in charge of the government's barge line, has said the drought is menacing navigation in the Mississippi. Further, he has said that the reduced diversion at Chicago is especially menacing to navigation at times like these, because then an increase in flow of a few thousand feet a second can mean the difference between navigation and no navigation. The flow can do no damage to shipping on the great lakes, which today are higher than they were the day the canal was opened thirty years ago.

The answer given is the assertion that Quincy is above Grafton. It is as irrelevant and evasive as most of the argument against the lakes to gulf diversion has been. It indicates a willingness to confuse the issue and thereby destroy one of the nation's greatest potential assets.

The Other Side

[Detroit News.]

"The Mississippi river," says THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, "is reported to be 16 feet lower at Quincy than it was only a month ago. River men fear that navigation will be interrupted. Maj. Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the government owned barge line, believes that if navigation is suspended for lack of water the enforced reduction in the diversion at Chicago will be largely responsible."

Our atlas shows Quincy to be some 90 miles above Grafton, where the Illinois river, outlet of the drainage canal, empties into the Mississippi. Consequently, the depth at Quincy cannot possibly be affected by any reduction in the diversion of Lake Michigan water at Chicago.

Unless, of course, the Mississippi has begun to flow uphill.

SECRETS ARE EXPOSED.

THE good people who expose themselves to bright sunlight should be careful what colognes, perfumes, and toilet waters they use. There is danger that they will accumulate a record which will disclose the secrets of the dressing room.

Two New York physicians discovered that when certain toilet articles are applied to the skin that tissue is converted into something of a camera plate. If, soon after, the person goes into bright sunlight the skin registers the shape of the drop of perfume, or the stopper with which it was applied. The exposure causes the development of the patch on which the perfume was applied. After a few days the brown patch disappears spontaneously. Unfortunately for the doctors, the photograph does not reproduce the label of the offending toilet article and the doctors had to do some Dick Dead Eye work.

The first toilet preparation to come under suspicion was eau de cologne. Then it was decided that not all eaux de cologne were harmful, nor all the ingredients in the mixtures going by that name. The imported perfumes came under suspicion. Confirming this suspicion is the fact that European physicians commenced reporting this skin trouble fourteen years ago. Since then it has been reported from nearly every country in Europe and the reporters have said perfume was under suspicion.

Next in line came oil of bergamot, an ingredient in many colognes. There is more than a good chance that this aromatic oil is the agent which sensitizes the skin, making of it something of a camera plate.

This skin trouble brings to mind two others. Occasionally women visiting sulphur springs have noticed that their skins turned dark. This was the result of a chemical reaction between sulphide gases escaping from the springs and lead as an ingredient of some face powders.

The other skin disorder brought into mind is the sensitization to heat or cold. Some skins are very sensitive to heat, others to light and still others to cold. In some instances the temperature departure causes a condition like hives; in others, inflammation such as sunburn or chapping.

MANY CAUSES POSSIBLE.

Mrs. K. C. writes: I am a woman of 46 years and at times my heart beats so fast and heavy that it seems to be pounding in my head.

REPLY.

More than one cause is to be considered. Among the possibilities are: Goiter, organic heart disease, excessive use of tobacco, nervousness.

A SEASONAL DISEASE.

Mrs. A. W. writes: I want to know how to prevent and cure small watery blisters that itch, on the soles of the feet.

REPLY.

To prevent, keep the feet cool and clean. Wear sandals or well ventilated shoes. Grease between the toes and around the toenails with a good sulphur ointment. Painting with Castellani's carbol fuchsin paint is said to be even more deadly to the ringworm parasite. To cure, empty the blisters with a fine needle. Leave the dead skin in position as long as possible. Use a dusting powder. Keep the feet cool and clean. Apply ointment or paint.

WHOOPING COUGH INJECTIONS.

Mrs. G. D. writes: My little sister, aged 5, has whooping cough. Are the injections any good?

REPLY.

I don't think so.

COCOA BUTTER SUNBURN.

A. J. M. writes: Does rubbing cocoa butter on the skin before going swimming help one to tan, or will it allow the sun to burn?

REPLY.

There are substances that make the skin more sensitive to light. But cocoa butter is not one of them. It is claimed for some salves that they protect the skin against the sun's rays. There may be a trace of support for this claim in the case of cocoa butter.

COSTLY PHONE CALLS.

Chicago, July 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Some one gave me the name of an attorney some time ago and I telephoned him one or two times for a little information. Now he sends me a bill for $55.

Do I have to pay this? A. B.

The facts that you state do not exclude the possibility that his advice may have involved investigation of law or have involved responsibilities justifying such a charge.

REPORTS STOREKEEPER.

Chicago, July 31.—[Friend of the People.]—My complaint is the garbage collection—or the lack of it, rather. We are unfortunate in having an alley house and one of the stores whose rear faces our kitchen window is throwing loose garbage in the alley where there is considerable traffic.

Won't you please assist us in calling the proper officials' attention to at least get proper receptacles? S. T.

Report is made that proprietor of store referred to has been notified to provide metal receptacles for accommodation of refuse output; to keep same on his own premises and make arrangements with private scavenger service for regular and frequent collections. Location will be kept under observation to see that notice is complied with. JOSEPH J. BUTLER,
Superintendent of Streets.

OUTRAGED CITIZEN.

Chicago, July 31.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last night I had an appointment to meet my sister at a certain corner. While waiting there a flivver squad came up and chased away a bunch of fellows who were lagging pennies on the sidewalk. I told them I was waiting for my sister and they said if I was there when they returned they would run me in. I repeated what I was staying there for and they picked me up any way and put me in a cell. 1. Did the officers have the right to treat me this way? 2. Should I report them to the police heads of this section? A. H.

1. We consider it improper.
2. Yes.

LADIES OF THE JURY.

The girls here in Chicago are rowing around and screaming to be allowed to serve on juries. And of all the jobs a man hates worse unless he's out of a job and needs the money is to be slung into the jury box. Why in the world the girls want to be jurors the men can't imagine unless it's because it's the one thing here in the proud commonwealth of Illinois they haven't been able to horn into yet; and, by golly, they just won't be kept out of anything. But, girls, lissen: after you get the privilege (as you call it) of serving on juries you're not going to like it.

You think that probably that atrocious Mrs. Snoolygoozer that copies all your hats and wears such horrible clothes and that is always smiling at what you married and is trying to steal him from you will come up for trial some day and that you'll be on the jury. You think she'll be arrested for all the terrible stories she tells about you or somebody else and that she'll be dragged into court and charged with libel. And you know your verdict before you hear a word of the evidence or a single speech from the distinguished counsel, "Guilty in the first degree and the punishment death in the electric chair."

And the lady president of your Every Other Tuesday Bridge, Whist and Croquet club. If it wasn't for that cat you could have been president years ago. She'll be brought to trial some day for something or other, and if you are on the jury you can have her shot at sunrise. But it won't work out that way. Ladies, you are temperamentally unfitted for jury duty. Nobody makes a good juryman unless he chews tobacco, plays seven-up, and sleeps with his eyes open. And that calls for a man. Take a man that is gifted in those three ways and he'll settle down in the jury box and have the time of his life. But, girls, it's no kind of a job for you.

THE CITY.

I.

The city calls its own, its lovers come,
This gilded urban mistress flatters youth
Its baubles scintillate to lure from home;
But, stop! Its lips know not the truth.

II.

I knew a man that eagerly did follow
And at its altars he was wont to kneel.

III.

Led by its petulant whims he faded fast;
O, should I tell of sorrow that bereft him!
Better to hide it all, long since he passed.

CLARENCE P. MILLIGAN.

THESE UNITED STATES have a grand population total of 122,729,615. Which also seems to be about the number who either drive their own automobile or play peewee golf.

THE PRESIDENT of the Missouri W. C. T. U. says she thinks the cable message from the Rockford W. C. T. U. to Queen Mary asking her if she smoked cigarettes was impertinent. We would say roughly that we agree with the lady. We would think, inasmuch as Queen Mary does not rule over Rockford, has never ruled over Rockford, and probably never heard of Rockford, that such a message was not only impertinent but also we might add rude, uncalled for, too late to classify, out of order, and should be referred to the Committee on Streets and Alleys West.

All Aboard the Water Wagon! Sailing Next Saturday Night!

The unprecedented midsummer cruise of the water wagon, which we announced yesterday morning, has created a whirlwind of comment, most of it favorable, but some critical. We admit that such a thing has never been heard of before, but then it was never necessary before. In the days before prohibition the water wagon only made one cruise annually—at New Year's. But Amos Woodcock, the new director of prohibition, radioed the other night to all and sundry to jump on the water wagon at once; so in order to help him out we decided to have this unusual midsummer trip. If prohibition keeps up we may have to run the old water wagon every month, and if it gets worse every week, nobody knows. However, do not forget that you can get on the water wagon next Saturday night and the voyage will begin promptly at 12 midnight. The start will be made from the Chicago Water Tower, and after putting in at South Water street the cruise will continue northward to Waterford, Wis., and then on to Watertown, where delicious glasses of cold water will be served free by the management to one and all. There will be a rigid inspection, just before sailing, of hip pockets, reticules, and breaths. One drop of gin, dearie, and you walk the plank. All aboard now for the great midsummer cruise of the water wagon!

CHOICE.

Since love is not eternal
And may become a curse,
If one heart must be broken,
I'd rather it were yours.

JUST WHO are the judges at these beauty shows anyhow? We could shut our eyes and throw a buttered bun at random into the air in any noontime restaurant and hit a prettier looking waitress than any of these international beauty queens that the judges at the shows pick out. But it is not considered good form to throw buttered buns around restaurants, and so we won't do it. But anyhow the pictures of beauty queens that the papers are full of nowadays give us a pain in the neck.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 7, 1914.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Newcastle says a wireless message received at South Shields states that the British fleet engaged the German high seas fleet in a heavy battle off the South Dogger banks. After a general engagement along the battle line, which extended for many miles and in which many ships on both sides took part, the German fleet was beaten back and moved in the direction of the Holland coast. It is now believed the German fleet is completely hemmed in on the eastern side of the North sea.

BRUSSELS—It is reported that the attack on the Liege forts has been abandoned by the Germans after a three days' battle. The kaiser's troops have retired to the east side of the river Meuse.

ST. PETERSBURG.—Austria-Hungary declared war on Russia.

BERLIN.—The emperor has issued an order to the German army and navy in which he says: "After 43 years of peace I call upon all Germans capable of bearing arms. We have to defend our most sacred possessions in the fatherland and home against the reckless assaults of enemies on all sides. Remember our great and glorious past and that you are Germans. God bless you!"

NEW YORK.—The armored cruiser Tennessee, converted into a treasure ship, sailed carrying millions in gold to the many thousand Americans who are in want in Europe.

WASHINGTON.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of the President, died at the White House. Death came after a brave struggle of months against Bright's disease with complications. The President was almost unnerved by the shock, but he bore up well and devoted himself to his daughters.

AUGUST 7, 1900.

CHINESE SITUATION—The allies, 16,000 strong, fought the Chinese at Peitsang on Sunday, Aug. 5, and forced the latter to retreat. The allies' loss in killed and wounded, according to a dispatch from Chefoo, is 1,200, mostly Japanese and Russians. The Chinese loss is much heavier. Admiral Remey cabled the navy department, confirming the report. Peitsang is the first railroad station, about six miles northwest of Tientsin, on the route to Peking. To strengthen their position the Chinese had flooded the valley.

CHICAGO—Lloyd J. Smith was peremptorily removed from the Lincoln park board by Gov. Tanner, following his indictment on six counts for alleged fraudulent shipments of grain.

CHICAGO—Five deaths were caused by the intense heat of yesterday when the thermometer reached 93 degrees, one degree below the mark of the day before. The same kind of weather is promised for today.

CHICAGO—Old settlers of Chicago held their 26th annual picnic. Among those present were Alexander Beaubien, the first white child born in Cook county; James Bradwell, Fernando Jones, George Sinclair, James Maxwell, W. H. Adams, Mrs. Sarah Forrest, Carl Peters and wife and Peter Lang and wife.

AUGUST 7, 1865.

WASHINGTON — A promiscuous fight of some magnitude occurred on Pennsylvania avenue between whites and Negroes in which stones and pistols were freely used. The Negroes held the field at the conclusion of the fight. Several of the belligerents received severe wounds.

NEW YORK—A dispatch from Queenstown, per steamship City of Boston, dated July 27, states that the steamship Great Eastern was on that morning 300 miles out at sea, paying out the Atlantic cable successfully. A private note from Cyrus W. Field says: "We expect to reach Heart's Content, Newfoundland, about the 5th of August."

NEW YORK—The treaty between the South American states is published. It is binding for 15 years and provides for the common defense against foreign intervention in their affairs.

MR. GANDHI'S SPINNING WHEEL.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 3.—I was glad to read your editorial in this morning's TRIBUNE called "The Backward Peoples." For a long time I could not understand Gandhi's spinning wheel symbol, either; but now I believe I do, and being neither an Indian nor a mystic, perhaps I can explain its meaning.

Three-fourths of India live in villages, and depend on agriculture for a livelihood. The country, as a whole, is not suited to agriculture, as there is nearly always drought or floods, and the small crops are ruined. A large per cent of what little they make goes for taxes or to the landholder or money lender, so the peasant has but a mere pittance. Therefore what is needed is employment for the millions of poor, ignorant peasants; an employment at which all can work, which requires no great skill nor outlay of money, and in which there would be no danger of overproduction. So Mr. Gandhi thought of the spinning wheel, not as a symbol of "back to nature," but as a means of relieving an acute condition of distress in the shortest possible time.

Mr. Gandhi is not against progress nor machines, in so far as they do not by their very complication and combining of movements throw thousands of laborers out of work, as they have here. I do not think he would approve of the dial telephone, for instance, but he has stated that he is greatly in favor of the sewing machine, for it makes woman's work easier and throws no one out of employment, in fact increases employment for women. He has stated if any one can suggest a better method for quickly relieving the situation, a method that will meet conditions of the people and country, he would gladly welcome it. Mr. Gandhi is a clear sighted, practical politician with the spiritual development of a saint, and not the impractical dreamer he is so often represented to be. ELEANOR ROBERTS.

RUSSIA AS A COMPETITOR.

Berwyn, Ill., July 29.—As a potential wheat country Russia is as good as ever. Her land is still there, she has cheap labor and if she can get the tractors and will use her brains the United States cannot beat her at the wheat game. America's solution is to use a reasonable tariff, adopt crop rotation to reduce wheat production and start a campaign of education to teach the people new uses for wheat and to produce wheat products for less money. Ex-Gov. Samuel R. McKelvie has the right idea of the matter; increase the use by new products and cheaper bread, etc., and decrease the production by adopting crop rotation.

GEO. E. SANFORD.

DENTAL COSTS.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 3.—I wonder if the dentists realize what they are doing in asking such exorbitant prices for their work. A dentist's work cannot by any stretch of the imagination be considered equal in responsibility to that of a physician or a surgeon, but the dentists' charges are a great deal higher. The best dentist I ever knew called himself a tooth carpenter, and I am satisfied the requirements of the profession are no more exacting than those of several other mechanical trades, and yet a dentist will tell one without blushing that his time is worth fifteen or twenty dollars an hour.

Of course, any one who compares present day prices with those of "way back when" is considered crazy to quarrel with. In my home town (this was considerably before the late war, I admit) there was an excellent all around man who never got over four dollars for filling nor more than fifty cents for pulling a tooth, but he was about the richest man in the town, and when he died left what would be a comfortable fortune even for these days. Not long ago I was reliably informed that one of our Chicago dentists charged a patient $40 for taking out one tooth. Cleaning teeth, usually a few minutes' work, at sets one back nine or ten dollars.

OTHELLO AND THE MOORS.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Perhaps the most shockingly amusing thing I have read is THE TRIBUNE lately is Burns Mantle's article in the issue of Sunday, Aug. 3, in which he tells of having seen the Negro Paul Robeson play Othello in London. He objects to the actor, too, because of his "uncompromising African cast of countenance."

Can you imagine the chagrin Mr. Mantle must have felt when he discovered that the producers of the play were making the same mistake Shakespeare made when he wrote the play?

A few weeks ago another gentleman writing from Spain for THE TRIBUNE mentioned that Spain is "African, but not Negroid." Spain in its most glorious period was Moorish, but it seems from even history has been rewritten at times that period was not the rule of a subjugated people, but the rule of a troupe of masquerading Nordics, such as a present Othello should be. TED ROBERTS.

A HOBO RETIRES TO HIS ESTATE IN CITY 'JUNGLE'

Frank Has Rock Garden Near His Box Shack.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

A "jungle" has been found within a few blocks of Chicago's loop. For those who never have felt the urge to wander, even though their pockets were empty, and who therefore do not understand the language of hoboland, a "jungle" is a spot where hobos gather in a social way, sleep and cook their meals.

This jungle is a vacant lot at Polk and Canal streets, just south of the site of the proposed postoffice. Although no trees grow there to cast their shade on sleeping wanderers, although no stream flows alongside of the spot, and although the nearby railroad tracks are well guarded by unsympathetic detectives, the place has certain refinements which do not go unnoticed.

Mail Box and Garden, Too.

For one thing, there is the little shack which Frank has built, with its makeshift stovepipe which Frank has painted white, and a rusty mail box under the roof which lends an air of dignity and permanence to the abode. In front of the shack, which was made from wooden boxes, Frank has created what is more than a garden.

Every night Frank—his last name is something like Egarie, but he isn't particular about the spelling—may be seen carrying water from the hydrant, a block away, to his flowers and his vegetables, pouring it on with care.

He has laid out paths, bordered with stones, and has built rock gardens and one tall affair much the shape of a fountain, from stone and cement. This one he has trimmed with shells. In it grow zinnias, Shasta daisies, a few sunflowers which have survived the heat, and beans and tomatoes.

Corn and carrots, with a few flowers intermingled, grow in other plots. Two small cedar trees which Frank's watering did not save from death, stand among the beans. A wisp of an American flag flutters high over the shell lined flower bed. A bird bath made from a cracker box nestles among some turnips.

Hobos Admire Garden.

As they lay on the shady side of a large signboard just east of the garden, yesterday's assemblage of drifters admired the spot.

"Lots of people stop to look at it at night, and give Frank something," said Fred Cramer, who said he was a radio expert and had been a member of the Rainbow division.

Not all of the group were "gaycats," like Cramer, however. In other words, some of them were experienced hobos in their prime. One who said his name was Joe, simply Joe, smiled through his red whiskers and talked about famous jungles in other spots where hobos meet in the spring going north, and in the fall going south.

Tells of Other Jungles.

For instance there was the jungle near Van Buren, Ark., where caves sheltered men in winter and trees shaded them in summer, and the hobos peacefully built their fires without fear of being molested. They had a set of laws which they themselves enforced, and a bum caught stealing anything from the townsfolk was punished, said Joe.

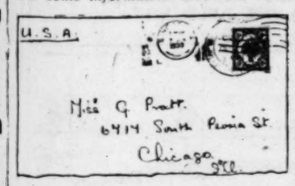
"Frank's place here may be known from coast to coast before long, if the government doesn't build across the street too soon," commented one lanky hobo who lay stretched on the ground, his head on his "bindle," as a hobo's pack is known. "Here we can build our own fires or use his stove in his house when it's rainy."

COAL CO. OFFICIAL ENDS LIFE.

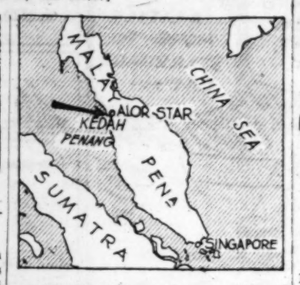
John W. Lellathin, part owner and manager of the Fulton Coke and Coal company at 7400 South Ada street, shot himself through the heart in the company's offices yesterday morning. His widow, Mrs. Dolly Lellathin, 7935 South Sangamon street, said she knew no reason for her husband's suicide.

INTERESTING LETTERS

If you have received a letter from an interesting or little known place send the envelope to The Tribune, stating name of place where it was mailed and some information about the writer of the letter.



Letter received by Gwendolyn A. Pratt, 6717 South Peoria street, Chicago, Ill.



"The enclosed envelope came from an old school friend of mine who is now temporarily in the Federated Malay states," Miss Pratt writes. "She is living with an English family, acting as governess to their children.

"At present they are living on an estate just a few miles from Alor Star, Kedah. She writes that the estate is on a hill, and bananas, pineapples and vegetables grow in their garden. There are very few white people there, the population consisting mostly of Chinese, Malays and Tamils.

"There is a Chinese village just at the foot of the hill where they live. The natives make tapioca. Every morning you can see the bullock carts going along the roads to fetch the tapioca which looks like huge, badly shaped potatoes.

"The weather is so hot that most people rest after noon for a few hours. The mosquitoes are as big as flies. No one can do any swimming in the rivers because they are full of crocodiles.

"There are many fine buildings in Alor Star. The postoffice has the dignity of a 'town hall,' and the market place really looks like a market and not a jumble of fruits and vegetables. The mosque is the most beautiful building of all. It is very high, built of yellow stone with a black dome. White people are not allowed even in the grounds in which it stands.

"Letters from the Malay states usually take five or six weeks to reach me. They are posted at Alor Star, and often have a Singapore stamp on, too."

BRITISH BLAME U. S. MOVIES FOR UNREST OF INDIA

Call Films Rubbish, Yet Pack Flicker Shows.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, Aug. 6.—The British in India more and more are blaming American movies for the protest against British rule and are filling the press with "letters to the editor" on the subject. This method of propaganda gives the editorial writers another opportunity to "pass the buck" on the protests against the military régime. The letters demand that only English made films be shown in the empire.

THE TRIBUNE correspondent has been in many parts of the British empire since Hollywood came on the map and he has found that everywhere the American films are preferred by the patrons. He has seen these films acclaimed in Samoa, in New Zealand, in Australia, in the Straits settlements, and in Burma, as well as in India. Nine out of ten films shown—even down to the news movies—are American.

Call Films "Refuse."

And now they are crying that "American rubbish is being dumped in India." Here are some excerpts from a card writer in a recent issue of the Times of India, the leading British newspaper in India:

"How much longer are we in India to be subjected to the dumping of inferior, undesirable American films upon us? It is no exaggeration to say that at least 60 per cent of the American films are entirely unsuitable to an eastern country, where the bulk of the population are either entirely or almost entirely ignorant of the lives and mode of living of people in European countries. The undesirable type of American films has done in India directly or indirectly an immense and irreparable amount of harm to British prestige. Why cannot decent and true to life British films be shown out here and given a chance? If Americans want to see

ETTELSON REPLIES TO RANDOLPH LETTER ON NIGHT PARKING

Corporation Counsel Ettelson yesterday called the attention of Col. Robert I. Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, to the "apparently hostile attitude" of a number of garage owners to the city ordinance which compels them to pay a license fee. The letter was prompted by one sent by Randolph to Acting Police Commissioner Alcock stating that garage owners who are members of the commerce body are interested in the enforcement of the all night parking law.

After the receipt of Col. Randolph's letter, Alcock sent it to the corporation counsel with a request for an opinion on the enforcement of the parking ordinance. In his opinion the corporation counsel said:

"The motor vehicle act as well as section 4016 of the Chicago municipal code (relative to parking without lights) were not passed for the private benefit of garage owners, but solely for the promotion of public safety and this purpose should be kept in mind in the enforcement of the same."

seventh rate, undesirable, unwholesome films, let them keep them in America and see them there. Neither Great Britain nor her colonies should be used as dumping grounds for American refuse."

Despite the protests in the papers, however, the theaters seem to be filled with people who pay good money to see the so-called rubbish.

Hindu Kills Eleven.

LAHORE, India, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Military Gazette today, publishing accounts of communal disturbances at Hissar, Punjab, said that a Hindu had shot and killed seven Moslems and four Hindus, the Hindus being killed by mistake. The affair was a sequel to communal tension which began early in June over claims of a Moslem laundryman to use the pond attached to a Hindu temple. The Hindus maintained that the pond was not public property.

Afghans Threaten Border.

Sues J. L. Leahy, Broker, for Separate Maintenance

James L. Leahy, La Salle street broker, was sued for separate maintenance yesterday in Superior court by Mrs. Elizabeth Leahy, 2846 Wilson avenue. In her bill, Mrs. Leahy charges drunkenness and cruelty and alleges her husband has kicked her on numerous occasions since their marriage in June, 1904. The couple have six children, Blanche, 23 years old; James, 18; Marion, 14; Dorothy, 11; Eleanor, 9; and Raymond, 6.

REVEAL DOYLE'S BANK DEPOSITS; DISMISS HEALY

Two New Developments in Gotham Inquiry.

United States Attorney Tuttle presented a mass of oral and documentary evidence in the federal court to show that William F. Doyle banked $420,890 in three years, a sum far in excess of the total he declared for that period in his income tax returns. Doyle is on trial, charged with income tax evasion and perjury.

Mr. Tuttle also offered evidence to substantiate the government charge that Doyle split the fees he received in a lucrative practice before the board of standards and appeals during the chairmanship of William E. Walsh by seeking to show that the veterinarian's method was to get part of the fees in cash and part by check.

Obtain Figures from Bank.

The figures concerning Doyle's income were obtained from his accounts in the Flatbush branch of the Corn Exchange bank. These records and testimony showed that while Doyle, in his income tax return for 1927, paid a tax of $59,740, his actual income that year was $197,948. Of the deposits calculated by Mr. Tuttle as income, $151,837 was in checks, $39,111 in cash, and $7,000 in notes.

In 1928, when Doyle paid a tax on an income of $42,286, the testimony and records revealed that his deposits characterized as income totaled $118,785, with $97,002 in checks, $23,733 in cash, and $8,050 in notes. In 1929, when Doyle paid on $57,915, his "income deposits" appeared to be $104,157, with $86,901 in checks, $13,650 in cash, and $17,256 in notes.

Walker Suspends Healy.

The second development today affected Martin J. Healy, first deputy commissioner of the department of plant structures, who is alleged to have received and deposited $10,000 in his bank about the time George F. Ewald was appointed magistrate in 1927 by Mayor Walker. Healy was suspended from office by Commissioner Albert Goldman on order of the mayor.

The action, which is the first of its kind the mayor has taken against any member of his administration, follows the investigation ten days ago by United States Attorney Tuttle, who told District Attorney Crain that a witness testified before the federal grand jury that Ewald had admitted paying $12,000 for his appointment.

Healy declined to answer nearly all the questions before the federal body on the ground that his answers might tend to incriminate or degrade him.

EDW. H. WRIGHT, NEGRO POLITICAL LEADER, IS DEAD

Succumbs to Heart Attack at 63.

Edward H. Wright, Negro political leader and former member of the Illinois commerce commission, died yesterday in the Mayo sanitarium, Rochester, Minn.

E. H. WRIGHT. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. Wright was 63 years old. He was born in New York state. His death was attributed to heart disease, from which he had suffered for two years. The Negro leader failed to rally from the effects of an operation performed last Friday.

Mr. Wright is survived by his widow and by two sisters. The Wright home is at 3844 Calumet avenue.

Former County Commissioner.

Wright as a young lawyer in Republican politics became the first Negro member of the Cook county board of commissioners in 1894, remaining in this office for two terms. He was the only Negro who ever was president of the board, a position which he held for a year. During the intervening thirty-five years until his retirement from politics a year ago because of ill health, Wright was a conspicuous figure of his race in Chicago.

He was the first Negro to be appointed an assistant state's attorney, and the first member of his race to serve as a ward committeeman. In 1915 Wright lined up with the Thompson-Small forces and in that year was appointed an assistant corporation counsel.

Put on Commerce Commission.

In 1923 Gov. Small appointed him a member of the Illinois commerce commission. But in 1927 Wright turned upon his old political ally, Mayor Thompson, and identified himself with the Lundin-Robertson group.

In 1928 his resignation from the commerce commission was requested by Small, on the presumption that Wright was in poor health, the place then going to Dan Jackson, another Negro political leader. At the time of his death Wright was a Deneen committeeman of the 2d ward.

Courted 25 Years, Wife Says Marriage Is Fizzle

Although Joseph Markachek courted her for 25 years his affection cooled shortly after their marriage, Mrs. Katherine Markachek, 2031 West 52d street, charges in a bill for divorce filed yesterday in Superior court. When she came to this country from Czecho-Slovakia, the bill states, Markachek followed and for many years his proposals averaged one each week. She finally married him, she asserts, but within a few weeks he forced her to sleep on the floor. She is represented by Attorney Victor Frohlich.

FRANCIS HUSTON, ONCE FINANCIAL EDITOR, IS DEAD

Francis Murray Huston, former head of the division of research and statistics of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago, and for many years a financial writer for newspapers, died yesterday at his home at 1330 Elmdale avenue of cerebral hemorrhage. He was 62 years old and a native of Bentonville, Ill.

Mr. Huston was admitted to the bar in 1890, following his graduation from De Pauw university. Shortly afterward he joined the staff of the Denver, Colo., Rocky Mountain News, later becoming financial editor of the Chicago Evening Post. He was a war correspondent during the Spanish-American war.

In 1918 Mr. Huston organized the department of research and statistics of the Federal Reserve bank here and continued as head of the department until retirement because of ill health two years ago. He is survived by his widow and an adopted son, Frank Chandler Huston. Funeral services will be held at the Oriental consistory, 919 North Dearborn street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Interment will be at Rosehill mausoleum.

U. S. Sailor Kills Another by Accident in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Paul Pratt, a young sailor in the United States navy, tonight accidentally killed a fellow sailor, Cecil Wesley Steward, Memphis, Tenn. Pratt picked up a pistol in the tent he and Steward occupied and, not knowing it was loaded, shot him through the heart.

JAMES BROWN, RETIRED CATTLE EXPERT, IS DEAD

James Brown, associate of the late J. Ogden Armour and formerly head cattle buyer of Armour & Co., died Tuesday in his home at Los Angeles. Mr. Brown retired from his position in 1924, after more than thirty years of service.

JAMES BROWN.

Mr. Brown was born near Springfield, Ill., in 1854. In 1889 he came to Chicago and entered a live stock commission firm. He resigned to join Armour & Co. For many years he was a breeder of fine cattle and a director of the International Live Stock exposition. He is survived by his widow.

Funeral services will be held in the Oakwoods cemetery chapel Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Rites for Alfred M. Levy, Druggist, Will Be Today

Funeral services will be held today for Alfred M. Levy, veteran Chicago druggist, who died Monday night in the Chicago Memorial hospital after an illness of several weeks. Mr. Levy was 65 years old and lived at 1721 East 82d street. In the 90's he owned a drug store at Wabash avenue and Harrison street. The services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chapel at Harvard avenue and 63d street. Interment will be at Cedar Park cemetery.

Plane Passenger Is Saved in Lake Crash; Flyer Lost

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Aug. 6.—(AP)—An airplane passenger, who used the plane as a life raft after it had been forced down in Lake Ontario, was alive today, while the pilot, who attempted to swim ashore, lost his life. Terry McGovern, a parachute jumper, was rescued from the wings of the plane by boatmen yesterday and told how the pilot, Gerry Fitton, had drowned. He said the engine fell off as the machine hit the water, leaving the plane buoyant.

PRIEST WHO WEDDED HOOVERS DIES IN SAN JOSE MISSION

San Jose, Cal., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Right Rev. Msgr. Ramon M. Mestres, 66, who performed the marriage ceremony of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover in 1899, died here last night after a prolonged illness. He had been pastor of the noted Carmel, Cal., Mission for 35 years.

Mrs. Hoover, then Lou Henry, a teacher in the Monterey, Cal., public schools, was a close friend of Father Mestres.

Father Mestres, a native of Barcelona, Spain, was a member of a distinguished family. He was ordained to the priesthood in Los Angeles in 1889, being assigned four years later to take charge of San Carlos Catholic church in Monterey and the famous Carmel mission.

He launched a campaign to restore the historic edifice of Monterey and Carmel, his work receiving recognition when he was awarded the decoration of the Royal Order of Isabella by King Alfonso XIII. of Spain.

W. C. BLELOCH DIES SUDDENLY ON GOLF COURSE

Walter C. Bleloch, 57 years old, 1309 Elmdale avenue, died suddenly Tuesday afternoon while playing golf with his son on a course at Excelsior Springs, Mo., it was learned last night. Mr. Bleloch was the western manager of the Mergenthaler Linotype company and was well known in newspaper circles of the middle west.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2701 North Clark street. He is survived by his widow, Rae; a son, Richard, and a daughter, Mrs. Frederick Granewich of Columbus, O.

Mr. Bleloch was a member of the Old Time Printers' association, the Illinois Athletic club and the Olympia Fields Country club.

Australia's New Gold Field Bubble Bursts; No Strikes

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Australia's new gold field bubble appears to have burst. The chance discovery of a nugget weighing thirty ounces in the Tarnagulla district, which started a gold rush, has been followed by no further strikes. Hundreds of claims have been pegged out but no more gold has been found, so many prospectors are leaving.

Warsaw Calls Election on Wet and Dry Issue

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Aug. 6.—The Polish capital may go dry at the end of the year if a majority of her citizens decide to do so by a plebiscite to be held in December. Poland's liquor law, besides certain restrictions on the sale of vodka, authorizes municipalities and rural communes to prohibit alcoholic beverages altogether by popular vote. Already more than 100 villages and towns have voted for prohibition and now Warsaw's mayor has ordered preparations for a plebiscite.

Daily How to Guide Children

The Nine Hundred Block

BY KATHARINE HAVILAND TAYLOR

SYNOPSIS.

In the nine hundred block, with its deteriorated dwellings, moved gentle, lovely Theresa Ames and her mother, Mrs. Colt, under the watchful eye of Mrs. Baum, neighborhood gossip. Theresa makes friends with Katie Warner, who lives upstairs, and B. Jones, a reporter, also Johnny Deane, who left a home of wealth to make good for the girl to whom his regrets, since meeting Theresa, he is engaged. He has found employment selling automobiles. Theresa does typing at home to support herself and her mother, who has known better days. Mrs. Colt wants Theresa to marry Billy Treadway, a rich junior beau of her own girlhood.

Theresa's father, Arnold Ames, married again after Theresa's mother divorced him to marry Barrington Colt, who recently died. The father now has a belated desire to help his daughter, but his wife threatens to leave him if he does. He arranges with Harold Gale, a friend, to secretly give Theresa work. For Christmas he sends her a thousand dollar bond.

Johnny Deane had determined not to tell Theresa of his love for her until he had broken his engagement, but does not keep his vow. When he confesses Theresa feels he has deceived her and she will not forgive him. He breaks his engagement and the girl infuriated, sells his letters to a newspaper. Johnny returns to his father's home. Theresa tells her mother she will marry Billy Treadwell and writes to her father, who calls and tells Theresa it would be criminal for her to marry Billy.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

BREAKING HEARTS.

In February Theresa learned Billy Treadway in his play-boy mood. This was rather dreadful to witness, since those who are not, by nature, gay dogs squeak in the joints while gamboling. He took her to that which she saw as "a nice little tea house" . . . to a place that was that. There were yellow teapots painted on the walls, and two school teachers were eating club sandwiches at the next table. The window decorator from one of the department stores had with him a girl who was going in for art. They had cinnamon toast and hot chocolate. Sedate, the guests; utterly proper.

Billy looked around slyly. "You're safe with me, dear," he said to Theresa in a confiding whisper, "but you must never come here alone!"

"It's too far from town to come alone," she said, and "I have no car and I don't roller skate. Did you think I might get drunk on orangeade?"

"You little devil!" (He wagged a long finger at her, and bared his teeth.) "You get drunk and Billy pank——" ("Don't!" she thought.)

"Billy and him's itty sweetheart get drunk together some naughty-naughty time!" (It is regrettable, but true, that youth can bear sin better than idiocy —idiocy, at least, which is not of the sort they indulge.)

"Theresa," (Billy was suddenly serious) "Theresa, there are—stretches of my past—which I feel you should understand," he stated.

The waitress at this moment broke in with oranges and cheese sandwiches. When she faded Billy went on. Theresa stifled a yawn in the midst of his tepid sins.

"And you forgive me?" he asked, reaching his omega.

"Yes," she replied wearily. (She thought, "At least Johnny was a man!") Billy had (fie! fie!) "picked up a girl in New York to take her to a play and he had had a little affair (drop of voice) with a married woman in York. They had written notes and held hands. . . . Thank God, "the husband had never had the faintest suspicion!" Billy "just hated the whole thing now!"

"You don't seem to realize that it's a tragedy to let the other man walk off with your queen," said J. Z.

It made him feel "simply smirched!" "Are you sure, darling, you won't have a piece of cinnamon toast?" he put in.

Theresa was sure she would not have a piece of cinnamon toast.

Billy said, shifting fussily, that it was "very good!" and he added, "And you do forgive me? Your badey-bad boy?"

"There is nothing—to forgive," she stated jerkily through teeth that were set.

"Then we kiss and make up—sweet kiss for make up—going home?" Billy murmured.

Theresa now moved fussily. It sometimes seemed as if—she couldn't—stand it! Nor the pent-up, caged feeling she had from her constant denial of the physical echo of her spirit's shrinking. Yet—life was over for her anyway. And why not—make some one happy? And she had—said she would marry Billy. She had given Billy her promise. And poor Billy—who was so good!—she couldn't hurt him, knowing hurt as she did.

If only—he didn't want to kiss her so often. There was a great deal of kissing to being engaged, she was learning, and even when you dodged it whenever you could. She hadn't felt that way with Johnny. Nor had she crazily hankered to have her mother with them. But now, always, she said, "Let's take mother; it does her so much good to get out——"

Feeling her lie, shamed by it, but unable, from fear of being alone with Billy, to avoid it.

In New York and in the Park avenue apartment, where John and his father lived during the winter months, Johnny was learning self-control. It depressed his father, he had learned, to see him suffer, so he wore a rather fixed smile most of the time, and his desperate, though commendable, efforts to be jovial almost broke the elder Deane's heart. Something real, he saw, had hit the boy.

Johnny tried to learn to play chess because his father liked it, and as Johnny played his father ate many harsh comments he had made about professors, whose business, he had said, was to teach Johnny. Johnny didn't care about losing in chess, that was the trouble. Probably he hadn't cared about learning anything at prep school and college and that had been that trouble. He had a good mind. And now he was caring tragically about something, and that made the big trouble.

One night—toward the end of February—Johnny had a letter from Katie whom he had implored harshly—before leaving—to keep him "posted about her." Katie wrote:

"Friend John:

This finds me well and I hope it finds you the same. Bad weather we're having with so much snow and warming up to make slush. Mrs. Nulman had quinzee real bad. Mrs. Baum's got a real bad cold somehow. Mr. Shippe's wearing your shirts. Say the word and I'll get them back offa him to send you, he ain't wore them so much I guess. She is engaged to the canguroo. She ain't happy, anybody could see. I do wisht something could be did. It had ought to be did. She has lost pounds and looks real skinny. B. Jones had promised to lecture to the woman's club and he got real drunk that day and when he stood up before them he told them a joke he hadn't ought to have told them. If was that one about the Hudson river night boat. You know. It ain't no joke for ladies. Hoping this find you the same and doing good and in work, yours with cordial remembrances to the family——"

(Traces of sudden resort to the complete letter writer and copying!)

"I have the honor to be, dear sir, KATIE WARNER.

The humor of this was lost upon Johnny. He grazed the edge of madness that night. And—he did it bravely. He was starting out to walk, far and hard—when his father halted him.

"Yes, sir!" Johnny answered, shaking. He dropped his coat and tossed his hat to a chair that had once been in a palace of old Spain and then, drawing two deep, unsteady breaths, he turned toward the living room! a beautiful room that Johnny did not see; a warm room in which he was now always cold.

"Feeling all right?" asked J. Z. anxiously. The "boy's" face had shocked him. Old, drawn, it was; hurt. And in his eyes that madness which makes mad heads—the next morning.

Johnny played an even unusually bad game, and he had not a chess mind at best. Theresa, he remembered, had said she loved chess . . . that she'd played each evening with her step-father, Barrington Colt. Theresa . . . Theresa in that fellow's arms; God—he couldn't—stand it!

"You know it's your play?" J. Z. prompted. "Take all the time you want, but—know it's your move——"

"Sorry, I didn't. Lost track—somehow."

"Nothing like a game to divert one," said J. Z. "Remember that and thank God for it."

"Yes," Johnny agreed, falsely.

Ten minutes later Johnny lost his queen, having left her in the cold open and in the direct, diagonal path of his father's queen's bishop. The bishop swooped across the board to take her place and Johnny's father next set the queen to the edge of the table. He was quite irritated. Johnny's mistake had been childish; inexcusable.

"You don't seem to realize that it's a tragedy to let the other man walk off with your queen," said J. Z.

Johnny was silent for a moment, staring, white even to the lips, down at the board. "I do—realize it," he said slowly. He stood up. "Sorry," he added, "I can't—play any more——"

"You never could play," said J. Z., hoping it would sting Johnny to a normal and saucy retort and so divert him. But it did not.

"Anything I can help you with?"

China's Student Life Is Busy, But Not Gay

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Aug. 6.—Thousands of Chinese students have remained in Peiping this summer, partly because civil wars make it difficult for them to return home and partly in order to resists attempts, which they feel are likely to be made, to exercise political control over their schools. Gen. Yen Hsi-shan has directed his police to keep the students quiet at any cost, so that demonstrations are more rare than in many years.

The students at Tsinghua college, probably the best higher school in China, have won their first round of a battle to prevent militarists from dominating their school. This institution was founded with money returned to China from the American Boxer indemnity surplus, and prides itself upon its American connection.

Two years ago, after Gen. Chiang Kai-shek had driven Chang Tso-lin out of Peiping, the Nanking general appointed as president of Tsing Hua Dr. Lo Chia-lun, who had previously served as the head of his personal propaganda corps. At that time the students vigorously protested the appointment, declaring that Gen. Chiang was making a "political football" of their school.

Protests were useless, however, and eventually Dr. Lo took office. To the surprise of many he turned out to be an excellent executive, and worked steadily for two years to eliminate political influence at Tsing Hua.

He succeeded at least in ending the Nanking foreign office's control of Tsing Hua endowments, placing all money in the hands of the board of trustees of the China foundation, a Sino-American institution whose trustees are of the highest type, with little or no interest in politics.

When Gen. Yen Hsi-shan definitely turned against Nanking at the beginning of March, however, a group of Tsing Hua alumni with Nanking affiliations began to agitate against Dr. Lo. They hinted that he was a Nanking "spy," and finally made it so difficult for him that he resigned and returned to the south. Dr. Lo behaved with great dignity and in his statement of resignation expressed the hope that Tsing Hua might be permanently removed from the control of politicians.

The question then arose of how the new president should be appointed. The students urged that the executive either be elected by the board of trustees or by the students themselves. But after considerable maneuvering, with the school year ended, Gen. Ysi-Shan announced that he had appointed a Shansi graduate of Tsing Hua, Dr. Chiao Wan-hsien, as president.

Immediately the students who remained in Peiping began a series of protests, demonstrations, and appeals to the press. Dr. Chiao came to the campus and tried to take over but the students warned him that he might be ejected forcibly and he decided to leave. Gen. Yen finally surrendered to the will of the students and the appointment remains open.

The student situation in Peiping is complicated by the fact that more than half of the thousands of students here are from southern provinces and their real sympathy in the civil war has been with the government at Nanking. But they are living in "rebel territory" and have not dared to express their views.

Gen. Yen has been afraid of student uprisings and has instructed military commanders to use force at the first sign of student insurrections. This order has been made public and the students fortunately have regarded discretion as the better part of valor and remained quiet.

Lord Birkenhead, Ill with Bronchial Pneumonia, Better

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—A bulletin today said that improvement in the condition of the earl of Birkenhead, British political figure, ill with bronchial pneumonia, had been maintained and that he was better. Earlier it had been said unofficially that he had passed a sleepless night and that there was no change in his condition.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN FILM STIRS OFFICIAL IRE OF GENERAL GROENER

BERLIN, Aug. 6.—Charlie Chaplin's "Shoulder Arms" has suddenly come in for heavy official attention on the part of the war ministry—although the ministry appears a little uncertain as to just who produced the film and when it made its debut. The Pathé representative here, James Spearman, received an imposing letter today personally signed by Gen. Groener expressing deep indignation over an insult to Germany contained in the new American film "Adventure in the Trenches," and notifying Spearman that hereafter Pathé would be prohibited from making news reels having anything to do with the German army. The only trouble is that Pathé did not make the film, which is the Chaplin film "Shoulder Arms" under a new name and is distributed abroad by First National, Spearman declared.

"What's more, it is at least 11 years old and has been shown around here time and time again," he added.

British Awaiting New Royal Child; Duchess Is Resting in Scotland

GLAMIS, Scotland, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The duchess of York, who soon will bring another child into the British royal family, remained quietly indoors today while servants carefully guarded all gates to the castle. No visitors were allowed in the grounds, but many stood on the road to catch a glimpse of the duchess' ancestral home. The duke of York left the castle today to play a round of golf at the Carnoustie course, and J. R. Clynes, the home secretary who must officially record the birth, went for a motor tour of Forfar county.

World's Fair Plan Details Will Be Told Monthly

Descriptive material covering all phases of the World's Fair preparation will be sent each month to business and other leaders, diplomatic representatives, and the trade organizations here and abroad, it was announced yesterday.

Under this plan publicity, material will be mailed once a month with special issues of the Chamber of Commerce publication.

The first distribution, to be made in September, will go to 10,000 American and foreign government and commercial figures. It is hoped the literature will stimulate interest in the fair and at the same time correct erroneous impressions of Chicago.

Britain to Modify Harsh Sounding Rule on Passports

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—To alleviate in England some of the discomfort and annoyance to American travelers who object to police supervision of visas the home office has decided to substitute for "aliens" the phrase, "foreign visitors."

The Travel association of Great Britain and Ireland asserted posters displayed in consular and passport offices abroad with the word "aliens" had an unpleasant effect on visitors.

The British passport control office is considering simplification of the formalities necessary for the application for a passport visa to enter, while the Travel association would reduce the present $10 visa fee.

ISTANBUL, Aug. 6. — Needing money, the wife of Zaro Agha, alleged 156 year old Turk, today protested to the municipality because his small pension has been stopped due to his American trip. His family claimed it had received no funds from his managers except a few dollars Zaro himself left on his last day at home.

Rumors that Zaro Agha had married again and that after his death his heart will be sold for medical research have greatly upset his relatives, who have appealed to the government to send the old man home.

The family occupy a tumbledown house in the poor quarter of the city. All emphatically claim Redvan, his manager, virtually kidnaped Zaro. Contrary to declarations made in New York, the Turkish government had no connection with the trip and later authorized a grandson to bring Zaro home, but funds were lacking.

Honors for Manitowoc Lieutenant Killed in War

Manitowoc, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—This year's Citizens Military Training camp at Fort Sheridan, Ill., where about 2,000 young men are spending 20 days, was named after Lieut. Donald W. White, Manitowoc man, who was killed in France a few days before the armistice. His mother, Mrs. Emma White, who resides here, was asked by authorities at the camp if her son's name might be used and she granted permission. Lieut. White was commissioned at Fort Sheridan.

CHILEANS DIVIDED ON AMERICAN TALKIES; MUSICIANS BALK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 6.—Mayor Ossa's decision in the seaside municipality of Viña del Mar that all talkie shows must be accompanied by a national orchestra has set the match to the flame of so-called cultural revolt against foreign invasion. Opposition to the talkies has broken out in Santiago and Valparaiso. Musicians have organized to preserve their bread—over a thousand are reported to be out of work—and theatrical circles are agog with petitions and meetings.

A public meeting was held in the Santiago theater clamoring for restriction of films arriving with "canned music" and a foreign tongue. A big crowd gathered while orators of the Sociedad Autores Teatrales Chilenos — known locally as the "Satch" — discoursed with Latin fluency.

Newspapers here have held inquiries and straw votes on the decline of national drama. It is remarkable that the most violent criticisms have been from noted Chileans themselves. Official support for local talent is disrounted by many in this acute age of economy.

While interested parties assail the talkies the public continues to patronize only those theaters with talking film apparatus.

Even the Teatro Principal, which has made a gallant fight for the silent screen, has now capitulated.

In "El Mercurio," it was said: "If we can't have talkies in English — then we don't want opera next month in Italian and Russian."

It's Cotton Blossom Time Now in Wisconsin!

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Beloit's municipally raised cotton crop should be ready for harvest in a few weeks if hot weather continues. Seeds brought north by a citizen who vacationed in Dixie last winter have been planted in a park flower bed here and the plants, about a foot tall now, have begun to blossom lustily.

Kohler Will Attend Powwow at Pittsville

Pittsville, Wis., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Walter J. Kohler will attend the fifth annual Indian pow-wow to be held here Saturday and Sunday, Dr. C. A. Salter, chairman of the program committee, announced today. Gov. Kohler in a letter said he would fly to Pittsville, arriving late Sunday afternoon.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"The Secret of Suzanne" and "La Vida Breve" make an uncommonly entertaining pair of operas to be joined in the bonds of a double bill. When Lucrezia Bori takes the leading part in both, they are nothing short of captivating.

Here was Miss Bori at Ravinia last night as the Suzanne of the secret, a bit of exquisite, blonde porcelain, in a brief piece that went in for being pretty, amusing, and not in the least more soul shaking than her own secret. Here was also Miss Bori as the gipsy girl of the Spanish opera, turned brunette this time, undulant of walk, flaming of eye and speech, too serious to express anything except being desperately in love, but with every tone and gesture.

As a contrast in two manners of operatic singing and acting it could not have been more direct. It was especially interesting because the music is delightful in both, likewise because Miss Bori was a ravishing artist in both.

Armand Tokatyan was likewise responsible for a striking contrast in the operatic pair, an unfailing comic husband in the first, an ardent, if temporary, lover in the second, and scoring a success in both. For other reasons for being glad to be at Ravinia, one may point out the first class bit of comic pantomime done by Marek Windheim as the butler in the first, and in the second a lovely musical scene by orchestra and concealed chorus, two well done minor parts done by Ina Bourskaya and Louis D'Angelo, and a pair of Spanish dances by Ruth Page, Blake Scott, and the ballet which flamed like Miss Bori herself.

South Bend Selects Singers for Festival Chicago on Aug. 23

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—Winners of the finals in the News-Times music festival were chosen tonight before a capacity audience of 1,200 persons at Central High school auditorium. Three soloists and one male quartet were selected to represent this vicinity in the musical festival sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE at Soldiers' field Aug. 23. They are:

Quartet—Instrument City quartet, Elkhart—Robert Aydelott, first tenor; Harry Gilbert, second tenor; R. H. Smith, baritone, and W. A. Frampton, basso. Miss Neva M. Lambdin was accompanist.

In addition to the trip to Chicago Aug. 22 the winning singers were awarded medals after the contest.

Second place in the finals were awarded as follows: Tenor—Gerald Moyer, Goshen; soprano—Beth White Colson, 1029 Diamond avenue; contralto—Miss Calista Kingston, Niles, Mich., and quartet, South Bend Harmony Four.

Eight of the finalists were chosen at preliminary tryouts held Tuesday night and Wednesday afternoon. Both of these programs were marked by the keenest of competition in all classifications.

A feature of Wednesday afternoon's program was the appearance of the festival's youngest vocalist. He is Danny Keppler, 4 year old boy soprano of 2014 South Miami street.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—I. C. Hannah, lecturer at the Liberal party's summer school at Cambridge, raked the United States over the coals this afternoon, not sparing in his indictment Chicago as an example of the worst government he had ever seen.

"America is a nation which cannot govern itself, but thinks it can govern the rest of the world," he said. "I have never seen worse government than when I was lecturing in the great city of Chicago."

He then proceeded to expose the "American empire," saying:

"America is now building up a new empire — financial domination of all parts of the world. It used to be said in the days of Queen Victoria that trade followed the flag. Britain today is finding that it is not necessarily her own trade. We are patrolling and policing a great part of the world for American trade."

Elected to School Board for 34th Yearly Term

Wins Favor as Singer, Reveals He Is Hungry

Several Others Added to Festival List.

From a bakery, a greenhouse, the driver's seat of a truck, a law office, a railroad office, and a household kitchen came the singers who carried off honors last night in the third of four tryouts preliminary to THE TRIBUNE'S Chicagoland music festival to be in Soldiers' field on Aug. 23.

Most of last night's contestants came from the northwest side, with additional tenors and baritones from other parts of the city left over from previous contests. Northwest side winners will appear at the Marbro theater next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights. Final winners, selected from those appearing at neighborhood theaters, will appear at the Oriental theater the following night and will represent Chicago in the festival, competing against artists from five states.

The last entrant to be heard last night was Herbert Peterson, 3029 Ainslie street, a baritone.

After hours of hearing contestants the judges urged him to sing a second song nevertheless, and exclaimed over his voice. The young man, swaying a little dizzily, then explained that he had been so busy looking for a job all day that he had not had time to eat. He came to Chicago three weeks ago.

Another young man, George R. Faulds Jr., 3908 North Sayre avenue, who won as a bass, took another view. He would continue to underwrite insurance, he said, until he could save the money to study in Europe.

Hugh O'Kelley, the youngest of four lads from St. Mary's Training school, Des Plaines, who won in the instrument classes, was told that his age might keep him from appearing in a theater. Some one said 14 years was the age limit.

Being a baker's helper is excellent training for a musician, according to Arthur E. Shogren, 8150 East End avenue, 26 years old, one of the winners as a tenor. He has only studied music six months.

Peter Maltese, 23 years old, 1013 South Claremont avenue, another tenor winner, has ambitions to sing in opera. Meanwhile he works as a machinist, and studies. He came here from Italy 10 years ago. He sung in the Civic Light opera chorus.

An affianced soprano and tenor were among the winners. Miss Marion Schroeder, 4418 North Sacramento avenue, a teacher in the Sherwood Music school and soloist in the St. James Episcopal cathedral, and Minas A. Booras, also of that address, who came here from Greece in 1921 to study.

Mrs. Fred Riehan, 7325 Ibsen street, contralto, also mother of two children, has earned the money for her lessons. Other women winners: Edna Moe, 5929 Walton street, and Ellyn Swanson Engel, 958 North Leavitt street.

Other tenors: Louis Jacobson, lawyer, 6731 Jeffery street; Cyril Barker, 4131 West Washington boulevard; Hraold Bartelt, 1805 South Second avenue, Maywood, a truck driver; Bert Bartlett, 5607 Lake street, and I. F. O'Connor, 1446 South Austin boulevard, Cicero.

In addition, Frank Finn, 13 years old, 5438 West Walton street, a freshman in Austin High school, won a high mark as a boy tenor.

Cornet players: Patrick Fleming, 17 years old, and William Doyle, 16, both of St. Mary's Training school, Des Plaines; Richard Januszewski, 13 years old of 5525 School street, and Gustave E. Johnson of 5316 Berenice avenue, an employé of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Trombone players: John Butler of St. Mary's Training school; Carl H. Scholz, 21 years old of 5155 Hutchinson street, and Guido Peyrot, 18 of 4625 McLean avenue, employed in the Burlington railroad auditing office.

Judges were: Mrs. Joe Hahn, a public schools supervisor of music; Lillian Rosedale Goodman, musical and booking bureau director; Arnold Isolany, soloist at St. James cathedral, and Mrs. Edmund J. Tyler, director at Atwater-Kent music contests.

Pretty Ankles Will Always Be a Great Beauty Asset

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Regardless of how much is revealed or hidden above or below it, a pretty ankle keeps on being a pretty ankle and that's just about all that needs to be said in its favor.

Some day when I get through handling all the ankles that are either too much or not enough for beautiful support I must investigate and see if at any period in the world's history an ankle was only an ankle and nothing else. I've an idea that there never was such a period. On the other hand, why go into ancient ankle archives when we're making new ankle history every day. Swell history, too!

Think of the ankle transition of the last fifteen years, let's say. It's ten or twelve anyway since reducing became our leading female industry. It's about that length of time since ankles became featured as stars in the individual beauty performances. I don't remember exactly when the short skirts became our badge of freedom and legs came out of hiding, but it seems a long, long way back. And legs, with ankles, have undergone many a good operation for the better, along with the public exposure.

I have a feeling that the coquettish modesty currently enwrapping these nether extremities is not going to last long. In fact, the rumbles are heard fairly distinctly. So there is little danger of a good ankle asset being consigned to the limbo of forgotten glories. Women are too proud of a well turned one to keep it covered eternally with dress material. Anyway, it is best to be prepared always, and so we suggest that you keep an eye on your underpinnings and not let them get out of bounds one way or the other in this long skirted interim.

British Track Team Awaited by Friends Here

The quiet that reigns socially these days will be interrupted within a fortnight by a flurry of entertainment accompanying three big events:

The British Empire-United States track meet on Aug. 27 at Soldiers' field.

The last named contest interests society. For Lord David Burghley, captain of the British track team and winner of the 400 meter hurdles in the 1928 Olympic meet, has numerous friends in Chicago. Needless to say, the captain and his team will be fêted if they find time to accept invitations during their stay here.

Durand Smith, who was a classmate of Lord Burghley's at Cambridge, plans to give a dinner for him at Onwentsia. Besides the members of the team the guests will include Chicagoans who knew them at Cambridge, among them Donald P. Welles, Elliott Dick, James H. Douglas Jr., John G. Curtis, Sheldon Dick, Edward K. Welles and John S. Coonley Jr.

Stockholders for the meet include Samuel Insull, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin F. Smith, Sheldon Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Folsom, Avery Brundage, and George Getz.

Mrs. Silas H. Strawn has been appointed head of the distinguished guests committee for the Bar association meeting, which opens on Aug. 21 at the Stevens hotel, and the Strawns will have several members of the British delegation and their wives as house guests. The Noble Brandon Judahs will be hosts to a group of French lawyers and their wives at their Lake Forest residence.

The two day Barrington flower show will open at 1 o'clock this afternoon in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. James E. MacMurray's residence. A box lunch will be served under the trees from 1 until 2 o'clock. The show will include 12 classifications of flowers, fruits and vegetables, with entries from individuals and from other garden clubs.

New names are being added every day to the register of the Chicago club at Charlevoix, Mich., which is at the height of its season just now. The first dance of the summer in the club casino last Friday night was a jolly family gathering. The orchestra started to play early in the evening, so that the first hour of dancing might be given over to the children. Then when the youngsters had been led off to bed their older sister and brothers and their parents had the floor.

Among the visitors there last weekend were Newell A. Augur of St. Louis, who was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Robert C. Orr of 73 East Cedar street, and Mrs. Russell Kelley of Lake Forest, who visited Mrs. Asa S. Wallace. Mrs. Wallace was Mrs. Kelley's guest over the previous weekend.

John P. Wilson has returned to Charlevoix to spend the remainder of the summer there with Mrs. Wilson and his daughter, Miss Cynthia Wilson. The John P. Wilsons Jr. are visiting them at present. The F. Langdon Hubbards of Grosse Pointe, Mich., are guests of Mrs. Hubbard's parents, the Frederick H. Scotts. Mr. and Mrs. Paget K. Cady, Miss Dorothy Schmidt, Walter Frazier, and Edward Roth are guests of Miss Peggy Hambleton.

Mrs. John Stuart of Hubbard Woods and her daughter, Miss Ellen Stuart, are expected back from Europe on Saturday. Miss Stuart probably has a trousseau tucked away in her trunks, as her marriage to George A. Poole Jr., son of the George A. Pooles of Lake Shore drive, will take place some time this fall. Their engagement was announced last spring.

Mrs. Temple Hoyne Buell of Denver, with her four children, Callae Mackey, Beverly Milne, Temple Hoyne Jr., and Marjorie Daphne, aged several months, is visiting her parents.

Mrs. Reuben Bush of New Orleans is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lobdell of Hubbard Woods. The Lobdells are to go west to spend the last two weeks of August with Mr. Lobdell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Lobdell of 2716 Prairie avenue, who are at their summer place at Estes Park, Colo.

Col. and Mrs. Robert Gray Peck, who have an apartment at the Seneca hotel for several years, have moved to an apartment at 1244 Stone street. Their niece, Miss Laura Moyer, is at a camp in Vermont for the summer.

Italian King Honors Yank Profs., Pilgrims on Vergilian Hike

ROME, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Two hundred members of the Vergilian cruise, organized by the American Classical league, today were received by Minister of National Education Giuliano. He congratulated the Americans for their devotion to the classical poet, as shown by their long journey to the scenes connected with his life.

Prof. Ralph Vandeman Magoffin of New York university, president of the Archaeological Institute of America, and at one time in charge of the school of classical studies of the American academy in Rome, responded in Italian. He expressed the hope that the visit would link Italian and American culture more closely.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—Miss Mary Corning, daughter of Representative and Mrs. Parker Corning of this city and Washington, D. C., will be presented to society at a dance that Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Alexander will give on Wednesday evening, Sept. 17, at Glen Cove, L. I.

Mrs. Fitz Eugene Dixon of Paris arrived on the Majestic and is at the Plaza for a few days before going to Newport to visit her mother, Mrs. Alexander Hamilton Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. C. Roelker have returned to the Ritz tower from Southampton. Mrs. Roelker is the former Miss Katrinka Van Courtlandt Suydam.

Mrs. H. E. Atterbury and Mrs. R. T. Newberry, who just returned from abroad, are at he Biltmore.

SOCIETY NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Morrisson of 1431 North State parkway left last Friday to attend the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Mass. They will remain in the east for about a month, and their daughter, Mrs. John W. Chace of New York, will spend some time with them.

Shaded Lace Makes Charming Costume

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—There is nothing like lace for the dressy summer frock. It is cool, becoming, easy to pack, for it does not crush, and easy to wear. Paris likes lace to make those indispensable frocks which some call cocktail gowns that can be worn to almost any summer function between five o'clock and midnight, except, of course, a large ball.

Many of the prettiest frocks seen dining at Armenonville or the Château de Madrid during the Paris season were of lace. Lace also dressed some of the loveliest ladies at the maharajah's and other famous garden parties.

The newest of these lace dresses are specially dyed, shading from light to dark as they approach the feet. Brown and gray are the favorite tones.

Bruyère makes this afternoon gown of all-over rose patterned lace that shades from pale gray down to almost black. The raglan sleeves that end in wide elbow capes are an amusing note.

The dress follows a simple line. It's a lovely draped princess. The circular skirt sprays into fullness from the hip line, but falls limp in the silhouette Paris now approves. A double crossed girdle of draped satin in the darkest tone of the lace supplies the fashionable Greek suggestion.

You will notice that ankle hems are still in favor for formal afternoon. The large hat with its becomingly tilted double brim is in black organdy. The long gloves are iron gray antelope, but the shoes are black to match the hat.

Children's Own Golf Tourney Aids Ice Fund

There are golf tournaments and golf tournaments, but the first to donate its entry fees to THE TRIBUNE free ice fund was that held at Berry Lake, Underhill, Wis., Sunday, shortly after six juveniles has put in some busy hours constructing the course. The fees totaled $10.

"This money was earned by constructing a miniature golf course on our own grounds," wrote the youthful managers. "The construction was done entirely by children from 4 to 15 years of age. On Sunday a tournament was held, 18 people taking part. Lemonade, peanuts, and candy were sold."

The "managers" were Florence Hirsch, 4 years old; Edward Rosenstell Jr., 7 years old; Billy Frank, 10 years old; Richard Hirsch, 8 years old; Robert Rosenstiel, 11 years old, and Herbert Frank, 15 years old.

While many other good friends of the ice fund were working in its behalf, the Camp Algonquin fund continued to lag more than $300 behind. Only $2,640 has been received toward the $10,000 pledged by THE TRIBUNE for its readers to provide the 1,800 mothers and children of the tenements with vacations at Camp Algonquin. The last half of the camp period has started. Unless there is a rally of Algonquin friends very soon, some of the most needy tenement families are bound to be disappointed. And it takes only $10 to send a mother or child to camp for two weeks.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Taking Medicine.

When I was a youngster and still in the grades my allowance wasn't very large, and yet I liked to take a girl friend out once in a while. I had made a date with her and was looking forward to it, but when the time came I had only enough to take her to a movie and a dime left over. After the show I made an early adieu, saying I didn't feel well, and beat it for the corner drug store to spend my dime. I was in the midst of the most delicious chocolate sundae when who should come in but the girl friend and her little brother. She wouldn't have seen me if it hadn't been for him, durn him. She turned up her nose at me and explained to brother that I was taking medicine. The rest of the dish was medicine for me. C. M. B.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Clothing.

"Could you get me a coat and some dresses, size 48 or 50? As you know, my husband is sickly and no one is working now. A short time ago I had an operation and I thought when I got better I would be able to get a job, but it took so long for me to get well that I haven't been able to do a thing. We owe rent and grocery bills and I don't know what we are going to do. MRS. L. D."

If you and Mrs. L. D. wear the same size, perhaps you will keep her in mind when you are discarding some of your clothing. Eventually she will find employment, but in the meantime the situation is becoming most distressing.

This Letter Rings a Warning Bell to All Mothers

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

There is a warning bell that should be rung for mothers, every once in so often. I was about to ring it, myself, when this letter appeared in the mail:

"It's easy for kiddies to feel left out when baby arrives. It is, and what about daddy?"

"I often wonder why, in this supposedly enlightened time, so many mothers—young and otherwise—make the mistake of lavishing too much attention and affection on the baby, who, until he is able to sit up and take notice would, I am certain, be delighted if his mother would let him alone more often than not. She is often trying to show what a good mother she is.

"The psychologists call this the will-to-power. In plain terms, the desire to show off in the presence of others. Some call it the 'mother complex.' The new mother not only ignores her other baby, but her husband, as well. She has an idea the baby needs all her attention, when the fact is that he doesn't need or want nearly as much as he gets. Funny that new mothers can't get this into their heads.

"The baby takes first place instead of second. The husband needs the affection and the right young baby does not, although it would be hard to so convince some mothers. There should be a reasonable limit placed on the cuddling given a young baby. There ought to be a law—well, of common sense in the handling of children.

"I have a friend who has two babies—boys. They came nearly two years apart. When the later arrival was a couple of months old the elder boy wanted him to play with, but his mother said, 'No, he's too little and you will hurt him.'

"One day I called and told her to put the baby on a blanket on the floor and let Jimmie sit down near him. This she did and Jimmie sat down and looked him over. He touched him very gently while his mother watched his every movement, tensed and ready to snatch her precious up. I laughed and told her to behave herself and just watch. Presently Jimmie lay down beside the baby and put his arms around him, saying, 'My baby.'

"Several months later I called again and found the two youngsters rolling on the floor together, kicking and laughing. The mother told me she had let the older boy play with the baby every day since I had last called and that he had never abused the baby in any way. There was no jealousy between them, she paid as much attention to one as to the other since I told her to.

"I have seen a good many children come into the world among relations and friends and I am glad to see that the modern mother is fast getting wise. She doesn't neglect her husband or other babies because of the new one; she realizes that the new baby can't appreciate affection while he is still very young.

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Here is a stunning vacation frock that is equally suited to town wear. The long waisted bodice affects a hip yoke, and shows a softened line with the shaping through the waistline achieved through the gathers at the side seams. The curved outline at the front and back of the skirt are made prominent through the applied band trimming. Silk crêpe, chiffon, crêpe Elizabeth, and voile are lovely materials to choose from.

The pattern, 2616, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 4¾ yards of 39 inch material with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Sally Selects Her 100 Fans by Letters Today

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The Chicago Cubs scored a victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in typical story book fashion in the game on Tuesday, with Hack Wilson and Doc Farrell playing the rôle of heroes. We were all a bit concerned for our champions, because they hadn't been doing so well for a few days and the pennant seemed to be slipping out of their reach. But our confidence is renewed and we know that Joe McCarthy's men have the stuff that champion baseball players are made of.

And Hack knocked another homer! There's really no holding that boy. He's one of the reasons why I'm looking forward with such impatience to our party at Wrigley field a week from today. Then the Cubs play the Brooklyn Robins, who hold first place in this season's race for the pennant.

This morning I shall read your letters and decide which hundred of you will be accompanying me to the north side park next Thursday, and I can assure you that selecting my guests will be a task that takes much deliberation. There have been so many letters and such interesting ones that show a wide knowledge of everything connected with the national sport. And you are such fans! Sunday morning's paper will show the result of my reading, so do not miss it. Those of you who have been selected will find names in it, and there will be news, too, of another party.

This afternoon will find a lot of us in a maze of excitement over in Grant park, for it's the day of our Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus party. Invitations have been sent to the winners, and I shall expect to see them at the appointed time and place. Don't fail to come because I know we'll have a rollicking time.

Christian Endeavor Chief Lauds Youth as Religious

Dr. Poling added that modern young people were not perfect but that no generation ever was more intrinsically fine than that of today. He said the world had heard about flaming youth's delinquencies, but not enough about the millions with flaming zeal toward religion. He concluded with an appeal for the society to win 2,000,000 new Christians in a personal covenant for evangelism, Christian missions, citizenship, unity and world peace.

Tips on how to plant spring flowering bulbs this fall, in order to get the best results in the spring of 1931, are provided in the new revised edition of the 64 page Chicago Tribune booklet, "Flower Gardening." Copies can be obtained by sending 15 cents in stamps to the Farm and Garden department of The Tribune, or the booklets can be purchased for 10 cents at any of The Tribune's public service offices.

With rock gardens adding attractiveness to thousands of suburban homes in the Chicago area, other home owners are inquiring as to methods of planning, constructing, planting and maintaining such an addition to the home grounds.

One simple bit of advice given by Miss Lua Minns of the New York state college of agriculture is to plant varieties which will succeed anywhere. Amateurs in rock gardens will find delicate and short lived plants bring so many failures that the rock garden loses all attraction as a permanent part of the outdoors home plan, Miss Minns advises.

Problems of obtaining a wide enough variety to make a showing can be solved by purchasing some of the supply at nurseries and by growing other plants from seed, she says. Plants should be in scale with the size of the rock garden. Small bulbs such as the snowdrop, glory of the snow, crocuses, scillas, grape hyacinths, small true hyacinths, small flowered narcissus and some species of tulips provide suggestions for one group.

For partial shade the ferns recommended are the common polypody, berry bladder, Christmas, maidenhair, spleenwort and others. Good drainage and yet plenty of moisture are required by some of the anderosacea, cora bells, crested and dwarf irises, bishop's cap, flase miterwort, violets and several varieties of primroses. The largest types are the alyssums, rock cresses, some of the columbines, apline and India asters, native blue bells, several of the pinks, hardy candytuft, spring forget-me-nots, creeping phlox and small veronicas. Hardy perennials including some of the very small shrubs are considered among the best for rock garden planting.

Welsh Home Rule Essay Prize Divided Between Two

LLANELLY, Wales, Aug. 6.—Capt. Ernest Evans, Liberal member of parliament, who is judging the essays on home rule at the Welsh national eisteddfod, declared today none of the efforts worthy of the $500 prize offered by James J. Davis, United States secretary of labor. The award will be split equally between Phillip Jones from Cardiff and David Davies of Ammnaford. Capt. Evans asserted that none of the competitors had grasped the subject.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Wordless Love.

"Dear Miss Blake: I know my friend loves me by the way he acts, but he never tells me so. What's the matter? D. F."

Good Scout Finds It's Wise to Let Boy Friend Pay the Bill

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"What do you think of this? I earn a good salary, a better one by far than does the man in the case. I like him, though, and think he returns the compliment. Because of my earning power I have always insisted on paying my share for entertainment that called for money expenditure.

"Well, my dear, the other night there were three of us—an extra girl. Before we set out said young man gave me to understand that if I offered to pay anything before that girl he'd shoot me. She was in town for a week.

"The next night my brave boy took her to dinner, to the theater, and to a night club afterward. It set him back over half his week's pay. But he liked it. That I discovered from a remark he made to me.

"So I'm sitting here wondering if I'm not riding for a fall, paying my half share of the bargain. Wot you tink, sister? I'm beginning to wonder if I'm not going to be one of those good scouts who sits in the rear pew at the wedding while the not-so-good-scout steps up the aisle to the Lohengrin tune. WAVERING."

Your guess about your position at the church service, we are loath to have to admit, is pretty nearly correct. Whatever may be said for the fifty-fifty plans after marriage [and a great deal may be said in their favor, too], the girl who pays a man the compliment of appearing her superior [financially and otherwise] has the better chance of carrying the bridal bouquet.

O, there's plenty of room for argument about the rightness of a good salaried young woman paying her way as she goes. But the trouble with it is that it doesn't carry her as far as she'd like to go—that is, straight up to the altar railing. We have to make men over completely before we can make them like being helped out on entertainment expenses. They'll have to be operated on and have their ego removed before they can take it without wincing. Besides there is a truth about all human makeup, contemptible as it may seem, which makes us value an object, not for what it is worth but for what is costs.

Fresh corn—roasting ears.

A food that never fails to bring exclamations of delight. And one real gustatory pleasure of the summertime is eating it in our informal American way—right off the cob. No matter how it is cooked on the cob—baked, steamed or boiled—it is equally delicious provided it has been selected with care and has not been over cooked. The one who picks the corn either from the stalk or from the greengrocer's sacks or baskets has the responsible job. Not so much the one who cooks it.

Corn should be in the milk stage. Not in the blister or dough stage. The kernels should be plump, fit tightly together, and when punctured spurt a milky fluid. Avoid ears whose kernels begin to show signs of wrinkles and refuse to exude milk.

Sweet corn loses its sugar content rapidly after being removed from the stalk. Therefore, it should be picked only a few hours in advance of the time when it is to be placed in the pot. Try then to purchase your corn from a market that obtains a fresh supply of corn daily.

It is disastrous to allow corn to lie around several hours, because every minute it is losing sweetness. After selecting your corn, waste no time in preparing it for the table. Husk. Remove the silks with a brush. Cover with boiling salted water (1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart water). Corn on the cob should never be cooked longer than 5 or 10 minutes. And remember that it is most delicious served the minute it is removed from the kettle. Unlike green vegetables, corn may be cooked in a covered vessel.

"Frying" (more accurately, sautéing) is another excellent way of cooking new sweet or field corn, and the result is equal in lusciousness to corn on the cob. Some even like it better. There are one or two advantages in cooking it this way. It is more easily eaten and it can be held in good condition at least for a short time after it is cooked.

"Fried" Corn

Melt butter in heavy iron skillet or heavy aluminum pan. Add corn. Stir until heated through. Add salt and water. Cover and cook over a medium flame 20 or 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Two tablespoons chopped green pepper may be added the last ten minutes of cooking.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BAKU, Aug. 6.—What is called the "most murderous régime" of soviet Russia is maintained in the little Moslem country of Azerbaijan, where more than 5,000 of the country's population have been arrested with many of these executed.

Azerbaijan's 4,500,000 citizens declared themselves free May 18, 1918, but their independence was short lived. Shortly after the communist revolution, the soviets sent the Red army into Baku because of the rich oil deposits there, and by 1921 subjugation of the country was complete.

Most of the Azerbaijan population consists of peasants living in the hills. Their leaders are Mohammedan priests and native bandits. All are joined together in a common hatred of the communists, and all are said to suffer alike under Red domination.

Nine Years of Terror.

As a part of the Caucasian Federation of Soviet Russia, they claim they endured for nine years a reign of terror such as Europe has never seen, except in Russia during modern times. Due to resistance of the natives, conditions has grown worse as a systematic campaign to imprison or murder their leaders continues.

Many small insurrections have taken place, but the cheka is everywhere and the participants have been slain. The trouble usually begins with the killing of a soviet commissar and ends with wholesale killings and imprisonments.

The intensive campaign of grain collection, such as is enforced upon the Russian peasants, brought open defiance last year, and the resistance continues with great vigor. First the peasants refused to sell bread at a fixed price and ignored the communist program for the collection of farm machinery.

Attack Soviet Officials.

They resisted efforts to induce them to enter communal farming centers, and then, seeing that their resistance was met with force, attacked the commissars.

Late last year Moscow appointed a special commissar for the collection of grain and a quota of 120,000,000 pounds was imposed upon the country. While collecting about 90 per cent, the soviets have thrown the entire country into turmoil and revolt.

In January separate groups, well armed and in open defiance of the communists, attacked the officials in the various little towns of Azerbaijan, seized the collected grain and distributed it after killing the officers.

It was then that the soviets started openly to arrest and either kill or imprison all leaders of the revolt. In February 1,800 persons were arrested in the city of Carabach, and more than 1,000 were imprisoned in Baku. On one day 250 automobiles and buses were used to transport the prisoners to jails. Many have been executed.

BRITAIN WARNS CHINA TO FREE CAPTIVE WOMEN

LONDON, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The British government today made urgent representations to the Nanking government for the release of the missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor Harrison, being held for ransom. The amount demanded is $50,000 Chinese or $19,000 gold. It was Miss Nettleton whose finger had been reported cut off and mailed in a letter demanding the ransom money.

Minister Lampson in Peiping told the Chinese government today that if the brigand threats of further outrages were carried out, the result would be a deplorable and disastrous reaction of public opinion throughout the world and the Chinese people and ernment would be disgraced.

The church missionary society has given the Fuchow representative authority to pay the ransom demanded by the captors if the British consul there considered the payment necessary to accomplish their release.

British Troops Go to Hankow.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 7.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—One hundred ten British soldiers, comprising rifle and machine gun units, sailed for Hankow today, and fifty more British troops will follow tomorrow, due to the uncertain communist conditions at Hankow.

Four Japanese destroyers, carrying about 400 marines, arrived today from Sasebo, Japan, and will proceed immediately to Kiukiang, Kiangsi province. Hankow dispatches today said foreign communities there have completed plans for emergency evacuation in the event it should become necessary.

However, tension at Hankow was relieved somewhat with the arrival of additional Chinese troops from up river areas. Disorders in the regions vacated by these troops were reported increasing. Dispatches said communists were approaching the tri-cities, Hankow, Wuchang, and Hanyang, from the south. Nanking advices said the Nationalist foreign office is preparing a statement for the powers concerning communist depredations at Changsha, Hunan province capital, and elsewhere.

No Change in U. S. Policy.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—[Special.]—No change of American policy in China is contemplated by the United States government as a result of the continued disturbed conditions along the Yangtse river, Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle said today. This country, Mr. Castle said, will continue to act independently to protect its nationals and their property, but has no immediate intention of combining with other powers for the protection of foreign interests.

In recent years the United States has consistently refused to act jointly with other powers in reaching an agreement as to how best to protect foreign interests during the constantly recurring revolutionary disturbances in China. On several occasions American forces have worked side by side with British troops in protecting foreign property, but in all cases, according to state department officials, the United States has declined to enter into agreements with other powers for joint action.

SLAIN BY BROTHER-IN-LAW.

RUSSIA IGNORES COURT SITTING IN 250 MILLION SUIT

Neutral Arbiter Listens to British Mine Claims.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 6.—There was an empty table at today's session of the London court of arbitration which is hearing the difficulties between Lena Goldsfields, Ltd., a large British enterprise in Russia which was created in 1908, and the soviet government. Moscow disdained to send representatives to the tribunal, which is a private one, to untangle the quarrel over properties valued at $250,000,000 which it is reported Russia intends to confiscate.

The hearing opened before the neutral aribtrator, Prof. Otto Stutzer of Freiburg university, Germany. Only the Lena company was represented. The soviets served notice unofficially that they did not intend to bother arguing the case before the court.

The Lena company held great gold, iron, copper, tin and other mining rights in Russia before the Red revolution and later sought to develop the holdings under the terms of a contract signed by the soviets. The contract provided for arbitration in case of differences. It is this court that the soviets are now ignoring, although the judge was selected from among the six of their nominees.

In the opening arguments, which will continue for a week or ten days, the counsel for the Lena interests declared the Russians had made a "scrap of paper" out of the arbitration agreement and that the plight of the company had steadily grown worse since the adoption of Dictator Joseph Stalin's five year plan which seeks to abolish private initiative.

The company was given no right of redress against raids on the Lena property in December, it was charged. The counsel further declared that soviet officials are steadily proceeding toward signing the death warrant for all foreign enterprises in Russia.

Whatever decision the court makes against the unrepresented Russians will be binding under the terms of the concession agreement, according to the Lena counsel.

POLICEMAN KILLS ROBBER.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 6.—(AP)—A policeman early today shot to death one of two men who held up a small hotel. The other man escaped with approximately $100 in cash.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Louise M. Dodson is resigning as director of the women's division of the Republican national committee, but she is not going out of politics "for good."

"Just now I want to rest for awhile," she said. "I may go to the source of the Susquehanna in a canoe. I've always wanted to do that. And I'll rest in my mountain home in Shickshinny, Pa. After that—well, I always take one step at a time."

Mrs. Dodson was one of the leaders in the national woman suffrage movement and conducted the campaign which brought presidential suffrage to women through legislative action in Iowa before the passage of the federal amendment.

The principal present need of the woman movement, as she sees it, is for women writers who will record the political advancement of women.

LA BARBA MEETS MASTRO FOR 3D TIME TONIGHT

Carnera in Town

PRIMO CARNERA, the ambling Alp of Italy, is in Chicago looking for a fight. He arrived yesterday, accompanied by his manager, Leon See.

Mique Malloy is seeking to promote a bout between Carnera and Jack Sharkey. Carnera has said that he would like to meet Sharkey, but the latter is under agreement to fight only for Madison square garden of New York.

Sixteen other heavyweights are under consideration for the bout. Among them are Otto Von Porat, Babe Hunt, Johnny Risko, Al Fay, and George Hoffman. If a bout is arranged, it probably will be held at one of the ball parks in September.

Boxing, which has occupied a back seat these torrid summer months, is due for a revival tonight at the Chicago stadium, which will be reopened long enough for Earl Mastro of Chicago's west side and Fidel La Barba of California to determine which is the better featherweight over the ten round route. Five other bouts are programmed for a total of 40 rounds of action.

Having gone through their training siege without mishap, the two little Italian punchers are said by trainers and managers to be fit and ready to resume where they left off in their two previous meetings, which provided real fans with 20 rounds of give and take. Their first clash resulted in victory for Fidel when they met as bantamweights. Later, when both had taken on more poundage, Earl reversed the decision. Both bouts were close, so close that tonight's result appears to be a tossup.

Winner a Title Prospect.

Both fighters are anxious to get the judges' nod that will break their deadlock, but there is more than that at stake. The winner will qualify as the foremost challenger for Bat Battalino's title, which he is not so anxious to risk against either of tonight's principals.

La Barba, who won the 1924 Olympic games flyweight championship and who was crowned world 112 pound flyweight title holder a few years later, has an advantage in experience, but that is not worrying Mastro's admirers. They have made Earl a slight favorite and some are sanguine enough to predict Mastro will knock out La Barba early in the fight.

They point out that Bud Taylor dropped Fidel for a nine count here recently and if Bud's right can have that effect, they ask, "Then what will Mastro's flailing left and straight right do to La Barba?" Both of tonight's principals scored decisive victories over Taylor in recent fights.

Such ideas cause amusement in the La Barba camp. Manager George Blake says Mastro will have to carry enough dynamite to tip over a loop skyscraper if he intends to knock out Fidel. However, Blake refuses to retaliate with any statements making La Barba a sure thing. Nor will Art Winch, who handles Mastro. Both look for a close battle with a lucky punch likely to be the decisive factor.

Littman to Meet Gasparo.

Promoter Sammy Wolff, who is responsible for the Stadium opening after the building was closed for the summer, has arranged what he terms a "delectable" supporting card. Tait Littman of Milwaukee and Dan Gasparo of Chicago are down for eight rounds in the semi-windup. Another eight rounder will bring together Haakon Hansen of Chicago and Henry Firpo of Newcastle, Pa. These four are middleweights.

The other preliminaries will involve Barney Ross of Chicago and Louis Kid Feres of Cuba in six rounds; Willie Pelligrini of Chicago and Georgie Nate of South Bend, and Sammy Levine and Al Rivers, both local boys, in four round skirmishes.

ROBS GRABINER, SOX SECRETARY, AT HIS HOME

A polite robber entered the home of Harry S. Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox, at 6907 Euclid avenue, last night and escaped with $300 in cash, two diamond rings and two bracelets. The bandit gained entrance by ripping the screen door of the front porch and appeared suddenly before Mr. and Mrs. Grabiner and a guest, Mrs. Morton Hirsh of the Jackson Towers hotel. He asked that the three turn over their valuables. After receiving $105 from Grabiner and the jewelry from the women he dashed down the street.

Chicago Trapshooter Wins World's 500 Target Title

Yorklyn, Del., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Dropping only four targets in his string of 500, Walter G. Warren, Chicago, led a field of 48 trapshooters today with a score of 496 out of 500 in the world's marathon trapshooting championship over the Yorklyn Gun club traps. Warren dethroned Mark Arie, Champaign, Ill., who won the 500 target event last year with a score of 485 out of 500.

DON'T SEEM BELLIGERENT

George Blake, the business end of Fidel La Barba & Co., is ever watchful lest the California featherweight overlook something. In the ring Blake sees La Barba doesn't pass up any chances and in their hotel room he makes sure that Fidel takes advantage of all his plays in solitaire.

What is the biggest boxing match that could be arranged for Chicago? Would it be Schmeling vs. Sharkey, Dempsey vs. Carnera, or Stribling against an outstanding heavyweight?

THE TRIBUNE offers you an opportunity to let the promoters know what you consider the best attractions they could present. Chicago has the largest outdoor arena in America—Soldiers' field. The Stadium on West Madison street is the biggest indoor site. Pop Dearborn has proved he will support real fistic enterprises.

Nevertheless, Chicago is not getting a break in the way of boxing entertainment. Save for tonight's bout between La Barba and Mastro there has been no first class card this summer.

Make out a list of the ten best encounters you could arrange if you were a matchmaker. Send your selections to the sports editor of THE TRIBUNE. Put them down in the order of preference. The referendum will be carried on the rest of the week and the results announced next Tuesday or Wednesday.

There may be some surprises for the promoters.

CUPID TO SECOND CHOCOLATE, BERG IN BOUT TONIGHT

Ballyhoo Reveals Loves of Ring Warriors.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Those two great lovers of the prize fighting business, Jack "Kid" Berg of Whitechapel, London, and Kid Chocolate of Havana, have imparted considerable romance to the common routine of prize fight exploitation in their training for their ten round bout tomorrow evening at the Polo grounds.

Both are reported to be in the throes of the soft and goofy emotion and engaged to wed, and this love appeal in the production should widen their field of business for the evening. Both are good prize fighters, so the fight customers will attend as a matter of habit and routine, and possibly there will be others at the turnstiles drawn only by the love interest.

Mr. Berg is betrothed to the debutante daughter of a rich and exceedingly exclusive society family residing on Riverside drive and is looking forward to the time, when he has won and resigned such championships as the ring may afford him, to assume a place of dignity in the social and commercial life of New York.

Berg Reveals Emotion.

I have read of the inception of this romance, but just offhand I cannot recall whether young Mr. Berg rode alongside on his favorite charger and captured the young lady's runaway mount while cantering in the park one morning or saved her from some pack of low characters who were passing remarks as she stepped into her father's private car on the subway, bound for the moving pictures one evening.

At any rate, they met, the exclusive debutante of Riverside drive and the poor but honest and intensely sincere young prize fighter from the slums of London, and friendship ripened into a serious state of feeling, as Mr. Berg has not failed to intimate in several interviews for the press.

It is a beautiful romance, excelling in tender sentiment even those mother love stories by which the home boy type of pugilist used to endear himself to the public. Mr. Berg, at his camp, has been whiling away the lonely hours listening to a phonograph record which plays "It's You I Love" on one side and "I Love You So Much" on the other.

Kid Chocolate, a young man of the deepest complexion, has been a bit less effusive, but a picture of a Cuban damsel has appeared in the press, inscribed "To my dear loving future husband," or words to that effect, and the Kid has not sued anybody for libel.

Faithful husbands, dutiful sons and ardent suitors have graced the boxing scaffold in great numbers in times past, but this is the first time in my recollection that two publicly avowed sweethearts appeared in a main event of social importance. The Berg-Chocolate production reeks of affection and it seems unfortunate that nobody in the Madison Square Garden firm had the tact and foresight to hire Rudy Valee to relieve Joe Humphries as announcer of the evening.

Chocolate has fought 168 fights by his own count, and to the certain knowledge of his patrons he never has been defeated in this country and has been held to a draw just once. He has beaten Al Singer, who outweighs him considerably, and Fidel La Barba.

Chocolate is of skinny, immature build, and probably has been practicing a pardonable deception as to his age on the New York prize fight commissioners, who forbid fighters of less than 21 years to fight more than six rounds a week. He has a childish, pickaninny countenance which falls naturally into grins, and he is a fast, agile fighter with feet and hands.

Berg's proudest victory was a ten round out-numbering of Tony Canzoneri, in the Garden, but he is not a very convincing puncher and wins his fights by surrounding his man like a crowd.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

SUMMER BOXING.

WHEN Fidel La Barba meets Earl Mastro at the Stadium tonight it will not only prove which is the better boxer on this particular occasion, but also whether the Stadium management was correct financially in its decision to hold no more shows during the summer season.

With a top price of $5.99, the card merits attendance, as pugilistic cards go, if Chicagoans care to attend boxing bouts during the summer. We see no reason why they should not if attractions are offered. La Barba, a good, clean little fellow, who also carries a punch, and Mastro, an aggressive youngster, should prove an attraction. Previous meetings have resulted in a victory for each.

The Wake cannot see why indoor bouts in summer are any less attractive than outdoor slugfests. The uncertainty of weather conditions is eliminated, and the Stadium, with its ventilating system, should be at least as cool as outdoors in the kind of weather we've not "enjoyed" lately. Seating arrangements, of course, are better.

The object of outdoor bouts is to accommodate a larger number of spectators, or, if held in a smaller arena, to secure lower rental. Few shows in Chicago will draw more than the Stadium can house. So we watch this experiment with interest.

The Mixup.

It was in the long ago
That occurred this tale of woe—
A matter of 3,000 years ago
Since two mothers fought and scuffled
With their tempers sadly ruffled,

Now the king he heard the racket,
Which he said he'd take a whack at,
So the mothers came to him,
With the youngster sweetly cooing.
"Bring an ax," he said, "I'll fix this thing up right."

Half and half goes to each lady,
Then you'll both shake hands and be satisfied."

But a wail came from the other.

That's a little Bible story
That had promised to be gory,
But the wisdom of the king brushed that away.
Now when babies have a mixup
Eugene Clay Ferguson.

Hanley Rates N. U. Captain Football's Greatest Player

BY ARCH WARD.

Football in all our best regulated colleges is regarded as an autumnal sport, but it's more than that to Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern university. He talks a fast game any time of the year.

HANK BRUDER.

Hanley will tell you anything you want to know about football, unless you ask him where Northwestern will finish in the 1930 western conference race. Like Mr. Rockne of Notre Dame and Mr. Zuppke of Illinois, he has it all figured out how every opponent on his schedule will be hard to beat.

Hanley even will tell you the name of the greatest football player of all time. He admits, of course, that everybody has his favorite hero, depending on the generation and the teams he has followed.

"The nearest any one can come to answering the question of who is the greatest player in football history is to name the best he has seen," Hanley explained yesterday. "You probably will be surprised when I tell you my candidate for that honor. He is Hank Bruder, captain of this year's Northwestern eleven."

The background for Hanley's selection is nearly 20 years as an athlete and a coach. He has seen most of the great players on the Pacific coast in that time and his association with the game in the central states antedates the reign of Red Grange and the Four Horsemen.

"Bruder is no specialist," Hanley said. "He can do everything. He can punt, he can pass, and he can run. More than that, he can receive a pass, which is harder than throwing one. No finer defensive back field man ever stepped on the gridiron. Injuries have held him back the last two years, but watch him go this season."

Hanley is of the opinion that Jim Thorpe, the Carlisle Indian, probably was as good as Bruder, but he eliminated him from consideration because he never had watched him on a college gridiron.

The greatest team that Hanley has seen was the Notre Dame eleven of 1929. He holds that no college outfit has had so much all round power, speed, and deception.

"Others may rave about Rockne's Four Horseman squad of 1924," Hanley said, "but if I, as a coach, were to be presented with either team I would lose no time in picking last year's.

"Let's start with the Four Horsemen themselves and see whether or not they outranked Rockne's 1929 back field regulars. Take Harry Stuhldreher, 1924 quarter back. Would you pass up Frank Carideo for him? I wouldn't. Don Miller, right half back on the Four Horsemen team, was no match for Marty Brill, who played that position last year.

"I'll agree that the 1924 eleven had an edge at left half back. Jimmy Crowley was a better all around man than Jack Elder. But what about full back? Elmer Layden of 1924 versus Joe Savoldi of 1929. Give me Savoldi because of his superior physique.

"You can go along the line, matching the teams man for man and the only place I'll concede an edge for the 1924 eleven is at ends. Jack Cannon, Notre Dame's All-American guard last year, was one of the finest forwards I have seen. He was on my team in the East vs. West game for the Shriners' fund at San Francisco and he dominated the play."

Hanley, who is starting his fourth year as a Big Ten coach, regards Illinois as the strongest football team in the conference year in and year out.

By the way, when will Northwestern and the University of Chicago forget past differences and renew their annual football game? The Purple goes out of the conference to find suitable attractions. So do the Maroons. Wouldn't a windup game at Dyche stadium or Stagg field between Chicago's two great intellectual centers be the finest attraction either school could arrange?

They say that a certain National league slugger has made Philadelphia forget "The Stein Song." Philly is now singing "The Klein Song." "Clout till the rafters ring."

Release Two Players

TWO youthful members of the White Sox were sent away for experience yesterday. The first of the two moves converted Shortstop Jeffries, last year at Dallas, into a Toledo Mudhen. Blondy Ryan, until recently a star at Holy Cross college, was turned over to the Indianapolis club. Both players are subject to recall on 24 hour notice.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox went from one extreme to the other yesterday to break even in their bargain bill with the St. Louis Browns. In the front half of [illegible] labor the Chicagoans [illegible] score, but they came back, after listening to some of Donie Bush's revitalizing words, and displayed an attack sufficiently powerful to break their five game losing streak by a 5 to 2 margin.

The success that followed the first game setback can be attributed to various factors. First of all, old Red Faber pitched almost as well as in his palmy days. Linked with this were still more impressive exhibitions along other lines by the large outfielders, Smead Jolley and Bob Fothergill. A double by the latter put the Sox in a tie in the third. A homer by the former shoved the Hose in front in the sixth, and in the seventh both hit safely to assist in a three run splurge, which caused Rip Collins, the Browns' starter, to desert his assignment.

Held to Three Hits.

In the first engagement the Sox were so feeble against Dick Coffman that they hung up only three hits. One of these was a double by Jolley, and the wallop enabled him to be the only Chicagoan to reach third base. The Brownies found no great deception in the pitching of Tommy Thomas and Dutch Henry. Thomas maintained his reputation for having lost his skill by going away in less than five innings. He was pounded for three runs, one being a round trip drive by Goslin. It also was a homer, Kress being the author, that let the visitors score off Henry.

Thomas conducted himself in an impressive fashion for the first three innings of the opening struggle. Then he suddenly reverted to the form that has marked his recent efforts. Goslin led off in the fourth with his homer. He shot it deep into the upper deck in right. Kress fouled out, and Thomas then showed that he was about ready to retire. Badgro hit him for a double and scored the second run of the session on Melillo's single.

Browns Solve Henry.

Before anybody was retired in the fifth, Manager Bush made up his mind something would have to be done about removing his one time star hurler. Coffman started the inning with a two bagger into the territory guarded by Jolley. Blue cracked a single to right, and Coffman scored. Henry then took charge of the situation and breezed along until one was out in the seventh. At this stage he was jolted loose from two runs on Metzler's two bagger and Kress' homer into the seats in left.

The Browns started to operate in the nightcap by scoring a run in the first inning. Metzler singled with one out and was forced by Goslin. In attempting a double play, Mulleavy pegged the ball into the dugout, so the Goose ran down to second. Kress' two bagger to left scored him. This was followed by a pass to Badgro, but Melillo flied out to complete the inning.

Hose Take the Lead.

It required three innings for the Sox to put the argument on a 1 to 1 basis. After two were gone in the third, Collins passed Mulleavy, who went to third on Watwood's single to

HACK WILSON LOSES BALL IN SUN; 2 SCORE

Hartnett and Grimm Fan in 9th.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 6.—Hack Wilson this afternoon in the seventh inning staged a revival of his famous world series "sunny boy" spectacle, giving pinch hitter George Watkins a spurious homer with a runner on base, and the Cardinals a 4 to 3 victory over the Cubs. Poor Sheriff Blake, who loses no matter how ably he pitches, came out of the performance with his twelfth defeat of the season.

CLARENCE BLAIR.

Hack's artistic loss of the ball in the sun was augmented as an anguish producer in the last of the ninth when English led off with a single and went to second as Cuyler beat out an infield bounder for his first hit of the series. Hack here had a chance to redeem himself, but the best he could do was move up the runners with a tap to Gelbert. Stephenson was passed intentionally. Then with only a sacrifice fly or an infield out needed to tie the score, Grimm let the third strike sail by for the second out and Gabby Hartnett emulated Charley. He, too, stood with his bat on his shoulder and permitted the third and game finishing strike to smack into Catcher Jimmie Wilson's mitt.

Trail Robins 3½ Games.

As a result of today's reversal, the Cubs now are three and a half games behind the irrepressible Brooklyn Dodgers and two games ahead of the third place Giants. Tomorrow the teams will play the last of their series here with Bush performing against Johnson.

The Cubs were [illegible] 3 to 2 when [illegible] seemed with [illegible] J. Wilson started the [illegible] by flying to Cuyler. Then Gelbert walked. Watkins was called upon to bat for Burleigh Grimes. He sent a liner to deep center, a bit to Hack's left. The pudgy one was ready to spear the thing when suddenly Old Sol got him. Hack ducked and the ball caromed off the center field wall with Hack in hot pursuit. But before he could get the ball back to eager hands around the infield, Gelbert and Watkins were home and the score had reached its final status.

The Cubs made 12 hits to the Cards' 7. The Cubs' compilation included a homer by Blair in the third which was due to the drought. It hit the sunbaked left field foul line and bounced into the stands. It was a legitimate triple, and in the light of subsequent events, Clarence would have scored any way, so it was no imposition on the Cards.

Blair Does All Early Hitting.

At the conclusion of the first three innings the Cubs had a batting record of two hits for six bases. Both hits were from Blair's bat—a double which opened the game and that bounding homer with one out in the third.

The Cubs brought the score to 2 to 0 in the fourth. Grimm walked, with one down, and stopped at second on Hartnett's single to center. Farrell flied to Douthit, but Blake cracked out the first of his hits, a single to center, which scored Grimm and put Hartnett on third. Blair forced Blake.

In the fifth the Cards did enough long distance socking to accomplish a tie. Hafey opened with a double off the left field wall. Fisher fouled to Grimm, but J. Wilson tripled over Hack Wilson's head, scoring Hafey, and came in on Gelbert's sacrifice fly to Hack. Grimes walked, but Douthit flied to Cuyler.

MEDALIST WINS, BECKA BEATEN IN JUNIOR GOLF

D'Esposito and Dixon in Quarter-Finals.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Charles Becka of Calumet, one of the favorites in the western junior golf tournament, was overthrown in the second round yesterday at the Flossmoor Country club. After being three down at the turn, Bill Bassett of Purdue's golf team, won six holes on the way home to defeat Becka, 3 and 1.

Meanwhile the medalist, Charles K. Collins of St. Louis, was breezing through his morning and afternoon matches without serious difficulty. In the first round he beat Robert Campbell of Harvey, Ill., 3 and 2, and after lunch eliminated Alex Jolly of Menominee, Mich., 4 and 2.

In one of the most bitterly fought encounters of the afternoon J. M. Switzer of St. Louis came from five down at the turn to one up on the 21st to defeat Art Sherwin, former Edgewater caddy.

Quarter Finals Today.

The quarter finals will be played this morning, the semi-finals this afternoon and the champion will be crowned after a 36 hole final tomorrow.

In the quarter finals Collins will be pitted against Julian D'Esposito of the Illinois Golf club, while Bassett is meeting Switzer. In the other matches Claude Myers of Kansas City, Mo., will go up against Bill Chambers of Sunset Valley and Walter Dixon of Chicago against John L. Banks of La Grange.

Becka started out impressively in his encounter with Bassett by winning the first three holes. He took the first with a birdie. His second shot was over the green and he got down with a chip and one putt. Bassett three putted the second and went into the water on the third. Becka lost the fifth by hitting a trap and requiring two strokes to get out, but recovered the loss on the seventh by laying his tee shot three feet from the pin and putting for a deuce.

Wins on Seventeenth.

Bassett holed a 15 footer to win the eighth, but three putted the ninth and was again 3 down. Then Bassett began catching up. On the tenth Becka put his second shot into a bush, on the 11th he was trapped and the match was squared on the 13th when his approach went to the right of the green.

Bassett then took the lead for the first time. Becka's drive on the 13th was short, his niblick shot went over, he chipped back, and was stymied, while Bassett was making a par 3. They halved the next two and Bassett went 2 up by holing a ten footer for a birdie on the 16th. The match ended when Becka three putted the 17th.

Westland's 141 Wins in Westmoreland Golf Title

Jack Westland, Chicago district amateur champion, yesterday showed the way to 211 other contestants in the annual Westmoreland Country club Tam O'Shanter. The Sunset Ridge star shot 74—67—141 to finish four strokes ahead of A. L. Novotny of Edgewood Valley, who added a 73 to his morning's 72.

E. Jaeger of Ridgemoor won the morning low gross with 74, while the afternoon low gross went to Howard Walton of Sunset Ridge, 75.

Low net honors for 36 holes were taken by L. A. Needler, Kildeer, with 152—10—142. Second place went to R. C. Phalen of the home club, 149—5—144. A. L. Owens, also of Westmoreland, won the morning low net with 79—9—70, and Walter Ahlschlager, Illinois, captured the afternoon net prize, scoring 75—4—71.

Thirty-six hole low gross for members went to Bob Dearborn, while E. C. Barry won the members' low net in class A. A Blaser won in class D, and M. Fisher in class C. E. E. Davis captured the same event for guests.

Members.

Afternoon low net—Class A, C. E. Carner; class B, G. M. Lawrence; class C, H. Kitzleman.

Afternoon low gross—Frank Justin, Edgewood Valley.
Low gross, 36 holes—Don Hamilton, Beverly.

Bob o' Link increased its lead in the North Shore interclub matches by whipping Glen View, second place team, 18 to 9, yesterday at Knollwood. Briergate defeated Wilmette, 19½ to 7½; North Shore beat Illinois, 14 to 13, and Knollwood ran over Evanston, 17 to 10. Westmoreland and Skokie players did not compete.

George T. O'Shea will seek permanent possession of the championship trophy on which he has won two legs at the annual Knights of Columbus golf tournament today at Elmhurst. A field of 250 will tee off, this number being the course limit. Seventy entries were rejected and only those Knights whose applications have been accepted may play.

The Chicago District Golf association will hold its annual club relations day tournament tomorrow at Barrington Hills. Every club of the association has entered at least one of its best players and many of them will have half a dozen representatives shooting for the prizes.

CHICAGOAN WINS MEDAL IN PUBLIC LINKS TOURNEY

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Al Quigley, druggist of 3605 North Crawford avenue Chicago won the qualifying medal in the annual national public links golf tournament here today by posting a score of 145 for the 36 holes. Quigley shot a 71 today, one under par, to add to his 74 of yesterday.

Quigley was trailed by Bob Wingate, Jacksonville; Henry Fabrizio, Brooklyn, and Harry T. Givan, Seattle, who had 150's each.

Quigley's par breaking round was the first so far in the tournament. He chalked up a 34, two under par, going out, but slipped on the home journey and went to 37, one over perfect figures.

Many Forest Fires Are Caused by Careless Smokers

BY BOB BECKER.

Carlos Avery, president of the American Game Protective association, calls 'em "Ten cent fools with half cent smokes." At this time of the year they start fires that cost the United States millions of dollars, the loss of countless birds and furred game and some human lives. Forest fires still take a heavy toll in this country.

This season, with the country dry as tinder, the call has gone out to every outdoor fan to be careful of fire. Uncle Sam and most of the states are pleading with forest travelers to have a heart, because once a fire is started it will travel like the wind. The plea is especially directed to the careless smokers.

Last year those careless with their stogies and cigarets started more than one-fifth of the forest fires in Wisconsin. Campers who stalked out of their camps without dousing the remains of their campfires started more than 11 per cent of big blazes which destroyed timber. Landowners in the north country who are still busy clearing tracts for agriculture purposes were bad actors, because they started 34 per cent of the forest fires, whereas destructive blazes caused by lightning totaled only one per cent.

Along the Minnesota boundary, in the Superior national forest, there are so few roads over which fire fighting apparatus and men can be transported that E. W. Tinker, chief forester of the lakes district, has turned to airplanes for help. When he was in the office the other day discussing methods of fighting forest blazes he told us how he used a hydroplane to carry small pumps and men far into the forest to get the jump on fires.

Jolley's homer, which put the Sox in front in the sixth, was a bit more dramatic than the every day kind that sail into the seats. He sent a rakish liner to center and Metzler, instead of playing it for a single, tried for a diving catch. Dutchie dived in the wrong place, and when he picked himself up, he discovered the ball was hopping on its way to the fence. Meanwhile, Jolley was raising clouds of dust and shaking the ground as he raced toward the plate. He arrived just before the return throw.

Tate Starts Three Run Attack.

Tate's triple to right center with one out in the seventh was the inception of the three run rally that put Faber in comfortable circumstances. Tate hugged third while Faber popped out. Mulleavy walked and stole second. Watwood also was rewarded with free passage. Fothergill then drove a double to the wall in left, Tate and Mulleavy going home. Blaeholder relieved Collins and was greeted by Jolley's single, which scored Watwood.

Faber was frisked for a run that did no harm in the ninth. This happened because of singles by O'Rourke and Blue.

Man Style In and On the Air

Robt. Burns Panatela for Smoking
Guy Lombardo's Orchestra for Rhythm

Radio reviewers call Guy Lombardo's Royal Canadians a man's orchestra. They are right. Like the Robt. Burns Panatela, its appeal is direct to masculine taste. It has MAN STYLE.

Listen in next Monday evening to radio's tuneful story of MAN STYLE in smoking. Light a Robt. Burns Panatela, and translate Lombardo's captivating airs into the fragrant mildness of the style cigar.

MOON MULLINS—CUPID'S AT WORK AGAIN

Blackwood's Stretch Gallop Brings Victory

BY FRENCH LANE.

Blackwood is a horse that will reach great heights every now and then.

Branded strictly as a mudder, he often performs in a most brilliant way over a fast track.

At Lincoln Fields last fall he surprised the whole turf world by winning the $25,000 Lincoln handicap. He beat the best stake horses that could be mustered against him, and the track was fast.

Since that big two minutes Blackwood's life was just one defeat after another until he went to the post in the Calumet purse at Hawthorne yesterday.

This time he was in a six furlong sprint. His rivals included the flyers T. S. Jordan, Double Heart, Morsel, Old Flat Iron, Silver Cord, and others, and when Blackwood hit the lower bend running last in the field of eight those holding tickets on him were ready to rip them into shreds.

Moves to Outside.

But at the head of the stretch Jockey Ayraud went to work on Blackwood, and the son of Black Toney-Rosewood started moving like he did in the Lincoln handicap, running on the outside. He mowed down the opposition. T. S. Jordan, which had been leading from the start, was the last to wilt before Blackwood's powerful drive, but Blackwood headed him at the sixteenth pole, and T. S. Jordan was so surprised he let Double Heart run on past him in the final strides to take second money. Jordan was third, and Flat Iron, apparently aware that his stable mate, T. S. Jordan, was getting whipped, moved up with one of his old time rushes, but all it got him was fourth place.

The deep cushioned Hawthorne track apparently was just to the liking of Blackwood. He ran the three quarters in the rather slow time of 1:12, which indicated he might have won on his class rather than his speed, for earlier in the afternoon Taddywawa, a selling plater, had run the same distance in better time.

Neal in Bad Spill.

The other two allowance events went to Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney's Chuckling and to the Warm stable's Laughing Laura. Chuckling, the favorite, beat a band of 12 two year olds in the Maywood purse, getting up in the last stride to beat Dewet by a head, with Otto W. Lehmann's Inheritor third.

At the half mile pole Apple Brandy fell, knocking Jockey Paul Neal unconscious for 20 minutes during which time it was believed the jockey had been seriously injured. Neal regained consciousness later in the afternoon, but was unable to fill any of his other riding engagements.

TILDEN BEATS 2 AT SOUTHAMPTON LOTT WINS AGAIN

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden, making an unexpected start in the singles play of the Meadow club's invitation tournament less than 24 hours after his return from Europe, took the spotlight from the remainder of the field as he won two matches in the space of two hours today to earn himself a quarter-final berth.

Tilden, playing in place of Berkeley Bell, the intercollegiate champion who had been defaulted by the tournament committee, drew a bye in the first round and then defeated Frank Bonneau, New York southpaw, 6-4, 6-1, in the second round and followed with a triumph over J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., the country's thirteenth ranking player, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

RESERVE BUREAU REPORTS LOANS ON SECURITIES

Total $12,050,000,000 on June 30.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Aggregate loans on securities in this country on June 30 of this year were placed today by the federal reserve bureau at $12,050,000,000.

In a statement preliminary to the monthly review of business and financial conditions, the board set the figure at $4,925,000,000 less than last October's total of $16,974,000,000.

The board arrived at the figures by combining the statistics from the member bank call report and the monthly report of the New York Stock Exchange. This, it is said, would give a more comprehensive figure than has heretofore been available for aggregate loans secured by stocks and bonds.

Other Lenders.

The board's compilation showed that on June 30 member banks had loaned a total of $10,680,000,000 on securities while other lenders had advanced $1,370,000,000 on stocks and bonds. Of the total loans by the member banks $230,000,000 was to banks, $2,357,000,000 to brokers in New York, $823,000,000 to brokers elsewhere, and $7,270,000,000 to other borrowers.

The board said loans and investments of member banks had increased $577,000,000 from March 27 to June 20, when they totaled $35,633,000 and that the loans on securities in that time had shown an increase of $346,000,000.

From the end of July until in October the principal factor in the banking situation, the board continued, usually is the autumn increase in the demand for currency. At the present time, it said, member banks were indebted to the reserve banks in smaller amounts than at any similar season since 1924 and therefore would enter the season of greater currency demand in an exceptionally easy position.

Banking Situation.

The banking situation during July was characterized in general by a continuance of pronounced ease, the board said. While there was a temporary increase in demand for currency over the Fourth of July holiday as usual the subsequent return of currency from circulation was of even larger proportions.

About $170,000,000 additional currency was called out between the last Wednesday in June and the first Saturday in July, but by the last Wednesday in July the amount had come back with about $30,000,000 more.

The board said the net inflow of $30,000,000 from circulation came at about the same time as the net outflow of gold to France and Canada and fully compensated for the transfer of the gold to the foreign countries, so that the loss was without immediate influence on money markets in this country.

SWIFT & CO. TO FLOAT ISSUE OF $30,000,000

Announcement was made yesterday of an issue of $30,000,000 ten year 5 per cent gold notes by Swift & Co., of which $25,000,000 is being offered to the public.

The money is to be used in retiring the outstanding portion of a $50,000,000 similar issue due Oct. 15, 1932, which is to be called for payment Oct. 15, 1930. Financing is through a syndicate headed by the Continental Bank and Trust company. Other members are the First Union Trust and Savings bank and the Harris Trust and Savings bank.

The notes issued mature Sept. 1, 1940, and are redeemable on any interest date at thirty days' notice.

YOUNGSTOWN SHEET & TUBE SHOWS INCOME

Earns $4.09 a Share for Six Months.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—The Youngstown Sheet & Tube company today reported net income of $2,810,345 after charges and taxes for the quarter ended June 30.

FRANK PURNELL.

This was equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to $2.17 a share on the common, compared with $2,516,706, or $1.92 a share, in the corresponding quarter last year. The per share earnings are based on 1,160,000 shares this year and 1,000,000 shares last year.

Net income for six months ended June 30 amounted to $5,327,051 after above charges, equal to $4.09 a share, on 1,260,000 common shares, comparing with $10,527,373, or $10.12 a share on 1,000,000 shares in first half of previous year.

Pipe Business Helps.

Helped by a sharp upturn in the pipe business in the last half of the second quarter, Youngstown's net earnings for the period were in excess of those for the first three months and the results for the half year were within 90 cents a share of covering the common dividends for the entire year.

Frank Purnell, president of the company, stated that the volume of business in July was slightly above that of June and this improvement is expected to continue through August, with fourth quarter business probably at the highest level of the year.

Denies Proxy Purchase.

Youngstown, O., Aug. 6.—(AP)—W. J. Morris, financial vice president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, denied flatly in Common Pleas court today that he had bought proxies on 1,400 shares of Sheet and Tube stock from Nathan Kaercher to be voted on the merger of the Youngstown company with Bethlehem Steel corporation.

Kaercher, called as a witness for the plaintiffs in the hearing of the suit to enjoin the merger, testified last week that Morris had paid him $152.50 a share in purchasing 1,000 shares of stock, with the understanding that $150 a share was being paid for proxy privileges on 1,400 unsold shares which Kaercher held.

Morris said he was aware that it is illegal to buy proxies and that he specifically told Kaercher so.

It was the duty of the Sheet and Tube vice president to take charge of the proxies procured by the merger forces during the spirited battle that preceded the April 8 meeting when sufficient stock was voted to sustain the Youngstown directors in approving the merger.

DIAMOND MATCH SHOWS GAIN IN NET EARNINGS

A consolidated income of $1,426,137 after depreciation, federal income taxes, etc.—was reported yesterday by the Diamond Match company and subsidiaries for the first six months of 1930. The consolidated net income for the June quarter was $716,001 and $710,136 for the preceding quarter.

The parent company showed a net income for the first six months of this year of $890,695, in comparison with $826,004 for the same period in 1929. The parent company's June quarter net was $544,844, against $413,500 for the same period last year.

BY SCRUTATOR.

The Chicago area is seldom considered as a mining region, yet millions of dollars annually are taken from the earth in Cook county and the remainder of the region that comes under the head of the metropolitan district.

Most of this nearby mining is for building materials. It would be difficult to find anywhere in the country another section so favored with abundant supplies of limestone, lime, cement, all forms of clay products, from the raw clay itself to face brick, sand and gravel. All are available at low transportation costs. Steel and other metals used in building operations likewise are manufactured extensively in Chicago, as every one knows.

Of the important construction materials only lumber must come a long way. Iron ore comes from the Lake Superior region, but it must be put in consumable form and it probably is true that South Chicago and Gary make steel cheaper than any other city in the world.

Sees Labor Deterrent.

Building materials in plenty go a considerable way to offset high building trades wages. Prices of most of these have come down in the last year, some moderately and others sharply. Yet the preponderant weight of the skilled labor charge in building has acted as a deterrent to many who otherwise might have started work. It is apparent that 100,000 building workers in the metropolitan area cannot hope to work many days a year unless adjustments are made to meet today's conditions.

If a building boom should develop in the near future, the capacity to produce all the necessary materials exists. As an instance, of eight million dollars' worth of crushed stone produced in Illinois in 1928, all but 22 per cent came from northern counties, of which one is Cook.

Clay products form the basis for the second largest ground of mineral industries in the state, ranking next to coal. Bricks, tile, sewer pipe, wall coping and other useful things of strictly structural use were valued by the census at more than twenty-six million dollars. Although pottery and brick are made in most parts of the state, the great concentration is in Cook and La Salle counties.

Lime, Cement Production.

Lime is made in extensive quantities near Chicago. The so-called "Athens marble," quarried near Joliet, is widely shipped for building purposes. The cement production, most of it in the La Salle area, runs to many millions of dollars and Dr. M. M. Leighton of the state geological survey believes that many other places where the natural materials for making exist can be found within 150 miles of Chicago.

Silica sand, almost pure quartz, has important uses in glass making, steel molding and as paint filler. Its production, around two and a half million dollars, is centered in the Fox river valley near Ottawa and Utica. Important deposits of building sand are found along the rivers of northern Illinois and huge quantities are dredged from Lake Michigan.

To such needed materials may be added the copper and brass manufactures in Chicago, with a twenty-two million dollar output; the sixty-eight million dollars' worth of paint and varnish; the thirty-eight million dollars' worth of steam fitting and hot water apparatus, and the thirty-four millions' worth of structural iron and steel. There were three millions' worth of bathroom fixtures alone in 1928. Altogether, the stuff with which to build probably can be assembled in Chicago more quickly and more economically than in any other American city.

NAME COMMITTEE FOR HOLDERS OF EQUITABLE BONDS

Announcement was made yesterday of the formation of a committee for the protection of holders of certain bonds sold through the Equitable Bond and Mortgage company, 180 West Washington street.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against the company was filed June 29 in federal District court. Attorney Joseph Kamfner, representing the petitioning creditors, declared the liabilities would exceed $1,000,000.

When the complaint was filed the Investors' Protective bureau announced that the company was accused of failure to deliver 4,000 Corporate Trust shares and 500 shares of Inland Utility stock.

Members of the committee are Holman D. Pettibone, Walter J. McGuire, H. H. Devereaux, Harold M. O'Brien, Frederick J. Stebbins, Nicholas H. Dosker, C. A. Mueller, and Grant L. Hughes. Bondholders are urged to deposit their bonds with the committee's depositary, the Chicago Title and Trust company, 69 West Washington street.

GRAND UNION SALES.

Sales of the Grand Union company for the six months ended June 30, totaled $18,057,557, an increase of 14.59 per cent over sales of $15,758,769 for the corresponding period last year. There was no increase in the number of units.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Net sales of the General Motors corporation during the six months ended June 30 amounted to $614,313,789, compared with $879,149,987 during the corresponding period of 1929, it was announced today by Alfred P. Sloan, president. During the second quarter net sales totaled $324,764,336, compared with $494,020,087 in the second quarter of last year, and with $289,554,453 in the first quarter of this year.

The corporation's balance sheet as of June 30 showed total assets of $1,348,263,877, a new high level. At the end of 1929 total assets were $1,324,889,764. Current assets at the end of June were $396,915,484, compared with $368,960,945 at the end of 1929. Current liabilities were $106,338,250, compared with $117,673,163 at the end of 1929. The corporation's working capital was therefore $290,577,234 at the end of June, compared with $251,286,678 at the end of 1929.

TRANSFORMER SALES.

Transformer Corporation of America reports June sales of $220,000, as against $22,000 for June, 1929, an increase of $198,000. The company has just entered the radio set manufacturing field and production is running at the rate of 300 sets per day.

REPORT B. & O. RY. PLANS FIXED TO CONTROL ALTON

New York, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Baltimore and Ohio railroad, it was announced today, has consummated plans to obtain control of the 1,000 mile Chicago and Alton railroad, which has been in receivership since 1922, and is allocated to the Baltimore and Ohio in the consolidation program of the interstate commerce commission.

A statement was issued by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., bankers for the Baltimore and Ohio, saying that the company had entered an agreement with the protective committee for the Chicago and Alton 3½ per cent bonds, and other holders of large amounts of that issue, and also holders of the general mortgage 20 year 6 per cent bonds. Since the road is in receivership, control rests with the bondholders.

The statement said that "holders of a very large majority of the 3½ per cent bonds" have already signified their intention of accepting the offer. The Baltimore and Ohio will pay $800 for the 3½ per cent bonds, and while no announcement was made by Kuhn, Loeb as to the purchase price of the 6 per cent bonds which are being acquired privately, it was understood in financial circles that the price is approximately $230.

On the basis of paying $800 for the 3½ per cent bonds and $230 for the 6 per cent bonds, it was estimated that the Baltimore and Ohio would obtain control of the road, conservatively valued at $100,000,000, for approximately $21,500,000 plus the expense of foreclosure and reorganization. There is due to bondholders of the two issues for principal and interest as of Aug. 1, 1930, a total of $59,282,530.

Majestic Runs Counter to Easy Chicago Stock Trend

Majestic Household yesterday was again the star performer on the Chicago Stock Exchange, while its running mate, Grigsby-Grunow, also came in for marked attention. Otherwise trading on the local exchange was rather listless, with a tendency toward slightly lower prices in evidence.

A demand for the Grigsby-Grunow pair developed immediately with the opening, and when the close came the ice box shares had gained 3¾ points and the radio issue was up ⅝. Together the two issues accounted for 135,100 of the 206,300 shares traded in on the exchange during the day. Majestic's turnover was 74,000 shares.

Majestic opened at 48½ and reached a top price of 53½, in comparison with its previous high for the year of 74. During a good part of the session the stock held close to 53, but toward the close it eased off. Sales in lots of 100 shares and better kept the ticker tape quite active, in contrast to its usual sluggard pace.

Reason for Advance.

Today's action was attributed partially to support from interests backing the issue in preparation for the appearance of the new ice box on the market. Also shorts who had expected a reaction from yesterday's top were forced to cover, thereby strengthening the price. Grigsby-Grunow, which moved in sympathy with its affiliate, reached a top of 16¼ on 40,400 sales.

In no other section of the market was there any other action of a sensational nature. Bruce, which receives limited attention, was up 2½ points at 30, and Bastian Blessing at 40 was off 2. Marshall Field showed a fractional gain.

Scott Stores, Inc., a subsidiary of Butler Brothers, announced that it has opened seven new stores recently, which brings its total of five cents to $1 emporiums to 70.

The Muskegon Motor Specialties company reports net earnings for the six months ending June 30, 1930, of $201,567, which is equivalent, after dividends on class A stock, to 62 cents per share on 222,116 of no par common outstanding.

Utilities Decline.

In the utilities Commonwealth Edison was off 2⅞ on minor trading. Middle West declined ¼ on a (for it) light turnover. The electric output for subsidiaries in the southern territory of the Middle West system was reported as running 8.4 per cent ahead of last year. The report is for the week ending Aug. 2. The output for the entire system for the week ending Aug. 2 was 77,552,042 kilowatt hours, an increase of 1,408,653 hours over the corresponding week last year.

Auburn was off 1 point in the automotives and Bendix dropped fractionally. Radios saw small change with the exception of Raytheon, which dropped 2½ points. H. O. Stone closed at 4 on sales of 1,000 shares.

UNGERLEIDER CORP. REPORTS SIX MO. INCOME

Ungerleider Financial corporation reports net operating income for the six months ended June 30 of $614,896, equivalent to $2.45 a share on the 250,000 shares of capital stock outstanding.

The company's balance sheet showed total assets of $12,404,309 and total liabilities, excluding surplus and capital stock, of $23,133. According to the report, the book value of the capital stock has increased from $49.36 to $49.52.

Timken Co. to Give Back Jobs to 5,000 Workers

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 6.—(AP)—L. M. Klinedinst, vice president of the Timken Roller Bearing company, said today 5,000 men will be returned to work in the Canton, O., plant of the company Monday as an indication of improved business conditions. Here for an inspection of the local branches of his company and a tour of the steel district, Mr. Klinedinst expressed the opinion that business depression has reached its lowest point and is now taking an upward trend.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 6.—Wall street decided today that the drought in the farm belt was anything but bullish news on the stock market, but that it was too hot to really do anything about it. Consequently the stock market occupied about the same position as a wallflower at a dance. The traders stood around and gaped at the news of rousing business in the Chicago wheat pit and talked knowingly about the grain market, but there was not much doing in stocks. It was hard to make a dollar.

There were a lot of folks who had a vague idea that the stock market would follow the grain market skyward, but nothing like that happened. On the contrary stocks were under pressure most of the day and a lot of them finished with new low prices for the week.

Anything but Cheerful.

Such being the case, yesterday's boosters began to point out that the purchasing power of the country would be hard hit by the damage to crops; that railroads especially would feel the blow, as they would not have so much to carry. Matters were anything but cheerful in the street today.

Twenty-five leading common stocks in a single investment

DIVERSIFIED investment in high-grade common stocks is, in effect, a method of securing automatic participation in the country's growth and prosperity.

However, it is difficult or impossible for the average investor to buy a sufficiently diversified list of high-grade stocks to insure the best results.

To overcome this difficulty, Standard American Trust Shares (representing a fixed trust of the capital accumulation type) have been created. They provide a plan by which you can place your money, in amounts of about $100 and up, in twenty-five leading common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The results that would have been achieved if you had been able to buy these twenty-five stocks ten years ago are a demonstration of the possibilities of this plan. In that ten-year period, the man who held the twenty-five Standard American Trust Shares stocks—and who handled the dividends and other accruals in accordance with the Standard American Trust Shares plan—would have received an average annual income of more than 11%, and at the same time his original investment would have increased in value four times over.

Adding together the average annual return and the appreciation—the investor would have received an average annual gain of more than 42%.

Capitalizing the EUROPEAN UTILITY PICTURE

With European industrial progress dependent on power development; with growing prospects for international transmission of power across European political frontiers; and with the trend, especially in Germany, from public to semi-private utility control—distinct opportunities exist in the European utility picture for profitable employment of American capital.

The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America

The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America—in line with its policy of searching out public utility situations which offer unusual opportunities for profit, both at home and abroad—has recently announced three important European acquisitions:

1. A one-third interest in Union Electrique Rurale—a rapidly growing light and power company operating in many well diversified sectors of France and its Colonies.

2. A 30 per cent interest in the Cie. Grand Ducale d'Electricite du Luxembourg, a utility company which is undertaking the electrification of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

3. Jointly with Deutsche Bank und Disconto-Gesellschaft, securities convertible into a half interest in the voting stock of Westphalia United Electric Power Corporation, one of the leading light and power companies in Germany.

These holdings may be expected to prove profitable to the Corporation and to holders of its Common Stock. We recommend the Common Stock, with Warrants, of this Corporation, as an outstanding investment value. Send for Fiscal Report, period ended May 31, 1930.

GAIN IN FUTURES LEADS TO CASH WHEAT SELLING

Corn Volume Expands; Spot Oats Steady.

Materially higher prices for wheat futures led the country to sell cash grain to arrive on a larger scale, with purchases by local handlers estimated at 105,000 bu. The market, however, was decidedly strong, with the spot basis steady to ¼c higher. No. 1 red and No. 1 northern brought ¼@⅜c under September, with No. 1 hard ⅜@⅝c under, while No. 2 red and No. 2 northern were at ½@⅝c discount under the future, and No. 2 hard 1@1⅛c under, the relative difference being the best of the season.

According to reports from Duluth the coöps were selling part of their receipts of durum wheat on track rather than place it in store, while at St. Louis the farm board ordered out 220,000 bu for shipment to Baltimore and Norfolk.

Sells at $1 and Over.

Purchases of 238,000 bu corn were made to arrive by Chicago handlers from the country as the result of the drastic upturn in futures, the largest business in some time, but failed to have any effect on the market. Part of the No. 2 yellow secured from Illinois and Iowa sold at $1 and over for 10 day shipment. The east bought 60,000 bu during the day and charters were made for 100,000 bu to Buffalo.

As compared with the sales of Tuesday, prices in the sample market were up 5@8c, with the basis steady to ⅛c lower as compared with September. Premiums over the future follow: No. 2 mixed and yellow, 1@1¼c; white, 3⅛@4½c; No. 3 mixed, ¾c; yellow, ⅝@1c; white, 2½@3c. Sales of cash corn at $1 and over were made at Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, and Toledo. In the latter market No. 3 yellow was 11½c over No. 2 red winter wheat.

Official Grain Receipts.

SAYS FUTURE'S TREND IN STEEL STILL OBSCURE

What the trend of the iron and steel business in the immediate future will be is still obscure in the opinion of Iron Age. The increase in activity in the automobile industry thus far has given little impetus to demands on suppliers of materials, the journal says, but is counted on to bring some improvement later.

"Prices, particularly of finished steel products, still show marked irregularity and buying continues to be held back by excessive caution that characterizes periods of uncertainty," it says.

"Among the few sources of encouragement are continued stability in the scrap market, with a few price advances reported where the supply of certain grades has run low, increased tractor output under the stimulus of foreign orders, and a gain in pig iron shipments to foundries in the Chicago district. The opinion still prevails that iron and steel business will show at least a seasonal gain within the next month or two, but the current trend of steel ingot production is slightly downward, with the average for the country at large at 54 per cent, compared with the 56 per cent rate that prevailed in the four previous weeks."

Simonds Saw Co. Moves Chicago Branch East

Fitchburg, Mass., Aug. 6.—(AP)—The Simonds Saw and Steel company, with a plant here and branches in leading cities of the country, today announced removal to this city of the Chicago branch.

Receipts at Chicago today: 5,000 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep.

In spite of the fact that hog receipts at 15,000 were small for Wednesday, prices ruled steady to 15c lower yesterday, both the top and general average going down 5c at $9.95 and $8.95. Available supplies exceeded immediate requirements of the trade, and with eastern demand unusually narrow on recent sessions, buyers encountered little difficulty in filling their limited orders.

About 4,000 were estimated left at the close and 24,000 posted for today, against 20,627 the previous Thursday. There has been a marked decrease in hog receipts during the last few weeks. The eleven market total is 97,000 smaller than a year ago. The eleven market total for the year, in June, was running about 500,000 smaller than a year earlier.

December Hogs Advance.

A 25c rise in December contracts was the feature of yesterday's hog futures market. Mediums for that month opened at $8.30 and closed at $8.55, equaling the highest paid for December mediums since June 28. September mediums sold at $9.60 and heavy grades for the same month brought $9.40, both being steady with the previous day's close.

Bidding for feeding lambs for future delivery was steady at $6.50 on Wall face stock and $6.25 for white face lambs, averaging 57@65 lbs for August and September delivery.

While top light steers and yearlings held steady yesterday, medium and weighty beeves were forced down again, the latter kinds selling 50@75c below the close of last week. Fancy 911 lb yearlings sold at $11.00, the day's top. Prime 1,500 lb steers brought $10.50 and bulk of cattle sold at $8.25@10.00, the improvement in quality holding the average price above Tuesday.

Butcher stock ruled weak to lower, with the exception of top yearling heifers that sold upwards to $10.25, again. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were slow and steady.

Lambs Shade Lower.

Yesterday's increase in sheep receipts forced lamb prices slightly lower, top kinds sharing in the general decline of 10@15c. Bulk of ewe and wether natives sold at $9.25@9.50, with top westerns to city butchers and shippers at $9.60. This price is still 50c above the low spot the middle of last week.

Aged and yearling sheep sold generally steady, top ewes bringing $4.00 and fairly good yearlings $7.00. Demand for feeding lambs is still narrow and only best light weights sell upwards to $6.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 5,000 cattle, 24,000 hogs and 11,000 sheep, against 5,255 cattle, 20,627 hogs and 9,344 sheep on the previous Thursday and 6,000 cattle, 21,689 hogs and 13,315 sheep a year ago.

COTTON GAINS SMALL

The cotton market yesterday did not act well as compared with grains. Prices were lower early with a good rally and a reaction. Cables were lower than expected and there were reports of rains in Texas, but there were no rains in the greater part of the central and eastern belt and the crop is understood to be going backward.

The government weekly weather crop report was in the main unfavorable. There are many reports showing extensive deterioration and wilting, and shedding. The crop in the main has an unfavorable appearance. Average estimates of 85 members of the New York cotton exchange are for a crop of 14,045,000 bales, against 14,212,000 bales harvested last year. The crop report will be issued Friday.

At the close futures in Chicago were from 2 to 11 points higher with other markets up from 5 to 14 points. Spots gained 10 points, New York being 12.95c, New Orleans 12.60c, Galveston 12.60c, and Houston 12.55c. Liverpool closed 5 points lower with spot sales 4,000 bales. Prices follow:
